BOYS HIGH SCHOOL TO OPEN IN 1961

Editor's Column

STUART R. PADDOCK

We were interested in the reaction of Senator Paul H. Douglas at our press conference for him last week, when one of our editors asked his opinion of the Chicago police scandal and in particular of Mayor Daley.

He replied: "Lake and Du Page counties, both strongly Republican, are notorious for their disregard of gambling laws."

The senator added that the Democratic party is invading the suburbs in order to build therein a two-party system.

"Let them try!" was his quip when an editor suggested that Republicans should invade the city of Chicago with the same purpose in view.

Paddock Publications will gladly give "equal time" to Senator Everett M. Dirksen if he is interested in visiting northwest suburbs and meeting with our editors.

We have been interrupted twice since this column was started to drive squirrels out of a bird feeding station that we thought was "safe" for the birds. Evidently, the squirrels are smarter than last year. Any suggestion?

The mails bring us colorful literature about the wonderful climate down south. The press and suburbanites returning home, however, tell of snow storms and freezing temperatures.

We had just promised ourselves a winter vacation down south next year, but what's the use?

Oldtimers have been saying that recent storms in various parts of the country are nothing as compared with those of 40 years ago. Then there were no snow plows and huge tractors.

Those who read this week's "Way Back When" will understand travel difficulties of that generation when roads were realiy blocked.

Other interesting items in this week's column are (50 years ago): Dr. Starck buys a 20 h.p. Ford car; Anti Saloon League files a petition in Arlington Heights to ban saloons; (40 years ago): Two Mt. Prospect residents spend three days to drive two Buick 5-passenger cars from Pontiac, Mich.

A Palatine resident inquired this week if unplowed sidewalks in that municipality were saving the taxpayers any money. Our answer, "it is poor economy and we doubt if the taxes for this year will be a cent less because the village board eliminated that service from the 1960 budget."

Evidently members of the village board had forgotten the approval given them last winter for keeping all walks clear of snow.

Here's a statement from the Illinois Retail Merchants Association that should be considered by small businessmen who complain of competition from the new shopping districts.

"Littleness is doomed unless littleness makes itself heard."

A chain store operator recently told us that "an individual businessman has really nothing to fear from the chains if he adopts modern merchandising methods." Part of this modern approach is support for a strong and progressive chamber of commerce.

Several chambers of commerce in this area are facing membership problems. This may be due in part to a current slump in retail business. It's more important now than in "plush" times for merchants to "together stecken," as our old German settlers would have said.

After hearing the soloist Camilla Williams at Arlington high school, Sunday night, we are again glad that this area is a part of the Community Concert association, which brings such music to our local community.

We are not qualified to give a review of her program, but we can say those who did not attend, missed something.

Our Police Are Back In School

Arlington Heights police are going back to school.

One night a week, the officers attend classes at the north side fire station to learn and discuss such subjects as the criminal and traffic code, correct patrol procedures, first aid, gunnery, how to fill out reports, use of the drunkometer, and traffic control.

ORIGINATED BY Chief L. W. Calderwood and supervised by Lt. Oscar Johnson, the session will last seven weeks.

At their first class this week, the officers were addressed on Illinois' criminal code by Russel A. Behrens, a former assistant state's attorney.

Truck Driver Dies at Wheel

A three car collision was narrowly averted in Arlington Heights Tuesday when a Chicago truck driver slumped dead of a heart attack over the wheel of his moving vehicle.

George W. Fischer, 66, of 2122 N. Western ave., was driving east on Northwest hwy. After crossing Evergreen st. his truck swerved across the highway, barely missing a car and another truck, and plowed into a snow bank.

The fire department inhalator squad was summoned to no avail. A doctor pronounced the man dead at 2:10 p. m.

School Board Petitions Out

Nomination petitions for the April 9 regular school board election in district 24 will be available at Wilson school of Arlington Heights beginning February 24.

To be filled are two vacancies, each term being for three years.

Petitions can be filed in the principal's office or with William Gunnison, 1407 Clarendon. The deadline date for filing petitions is March 19, with March 27 being the last day that a petition can be withdrawn.

50-Star Flags

Fifty star United States flags will be offered for sale Monday, Feb. 22, at a special booth in Westgate shopping center by Arlington Heights' Lions club.

The 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. flag sale is part of a Washington's Birthday observance being held by Westgate merchants, who will offer bargain prices on merchandise.

Plane Contest

Entry blanks for the Balsa Butchers model airplane contest can be obtained at Arlington Heights Pioneer park. Complete details on the March 26 show are available there.

ST. VIATOR HIGH SCHOOL in Arlington Heights will open to freshman and sophomore Catholic boys in September, 1961. School will eventually serve 1800 students in grades nine through twelve. It will offer 52 classrooms and the latest in teaching facilities and devices.

Modern Plant for Catholics

(This is the first in a series of articles discussing the physical plant, curriculum, faculty, and extra-curricula activities planned for a Catholic high school for boys in Arlington Heights).

In September, 1961, the doors of St. Viator high school will open to admit area Catholic obys to a $3 million educational plant second to none in the northwest suburban area.

To be located on 20 acres between Euclid and Oakton sts. and east of Dryden st., the school will accomodate between 1600 and 1800 students in grades nine through twelve.

The school, to be administered by The Clerics of St. Viator, will feature a three-story main academic wing plus science and business education wings.

In addition to 52 classrooms, there will be eight science laboratories, two each for general science, biology, chemistry, and physics; a counseling and guidance suite with eight offices and waiting rooms; an electronic foreign language laboratory, and two electronic reading laboratories. Maximum classroom capacity has been set at 35.

A GYMNASIUM to seat 2600 persons will feature a swimming pool along with other athletic and recreational facilities. In another wing will be located a cafeteria, library and chapel, the latter to accommodate 200 persons.

The faculty will live on the third floor of the academic wing, and will have its own living, dining and cooking facilities.

Adjacent to a 900 seat auditorium, a music department will offer space for choral work and musical education.

The main entrance to the school will be off of Oakton. The student entrance will be from the 500 car parking lot at the rear of the school. Entrance to the parking lot will be from Dryden. There will be no access from Euclid.

Baseball diamonds, a football field and track, and other outdoor recreational facilities will be located south of the parking lot.

THE EXTERIOR of the building will be mainly Indiana limestone, with little brick used. Use of mosaic marble will enhance the building's appearance.

Corridor floors will be of quarry tile and ceilings of acoustical plaster. Classroom floors will be made of maple parquet wood, a departure from asphalt tile.

The school will have a forced air, hot water heating system, and the offices, cafeteria, chapel, language laboratory and library will be air conditioned. All rooms will have duct work to provide automatic ventilation.

ARCHITECT for the school is Stickle and Associates of Cleveland, Ohio. This is the first project the firm has had in the area. Bids for construction will be sought shortly and groundbreaking is scheduled for the middle of April, according to the Very Rev. John W. Stafford, C. S. V., Provincial of Chicago area Viatorians.

The school, under the supervision of Father Stafford, will serve 16 parishes from Arlington Heights, Palatine, Mt. Prospect, Rolling Meadows, Elk Grove Village, Prospect Heights, Buffalo Grove, Des Plaines and Barrington, Lake Zurich, Wheeling, Wauconda, and Hoffman Estates.

Bus transportation will be provided for students to and from school.

THE SCHOOL will take both freshmen and sophomore students in its first year of operation.

The school's acreage allows expansion to accommodate 3,000 students.

Teenage Auto Theft Suspects Arrested

Rolling Meadows police trapped the leader of a teen-age gang wanted for auto theft last week. He in turn implicated two companions.

The three boys were scheduled to come before Judge Pennington's court Wednesday night.

Ralph Bruns, 706 S. State rd., Arlington Heights, a partner in the real estate firm of Bruns and Payne, notified Rolling Meadows police February 8 that his black 1959 Cadillac had been taken from the driveway at 3403 Campbell while he was showing the house to a prospective customer. He admitted he had left the keys in the car.

COUNTY POLICE recovered the car on Maple st. in the unincorporated area north of Palatine, northwest of Quintens rd. and Northwest hwy., at 12:30 Tuesday afternoon, and had it towed into town. Rolling Meadows police got permission from Bruns to take the car back to Maple st., feeling sure the thieves would return to strip the car.

Their hunch paid off. They apprehended two Palatine high school students driving around the area as the car was towed into place. One whose home is in Palatine confessed he had stolen the car. His pal, whose home is in Rolling Meadows, intended to buy some parts.

Another Palatine boy was implicated in the original theft. He told police that they had walked from their homes in Palatine to Rolling Meadows and were on their way to the bowling alley when they spotted the Cadillac and found the keys were in it. He said he was afraid his pal would call him "chicken" if he didn't go along for the ride.

Election Year Coverage Begins

This is election year.

The political season was officially launched in northwest suburbs Thursday by U. S. Senator Paul H. Douglas, who was in Arlington Heights for a special press conference with editors of Paddock Publications 13 suburban newspapers.

This week's edition includes a full page of news and photos on the Douglas interview; a report on the senator's views on race relations in the suburbs; and editorial comment on our Page of Opinion.

The Douglas coverage initiates Paddock Publication's special depth coverage of the April primary and November general elections in the suburbs.

Big Blow Was Big Expense

Arlington Heights recent snow storm cost the village $4,472.

This figure includes 887 miles of streets plowed; 60 tons of rock salt used; 716 man hours expended, and three broken axles and other minor repairs to equipment.

FIREMEN BATTLE smoke in doorway of Den-Mars Juvenile Center in Elms shopping center. Though cause of fire is unknown, there is speculation it might have been started by static electricity generated by stored nylon and orlon clothing.

$70,000 Fire Razes Store

Upwards of $70,000 damages was caused by a fire of undetermined origin that swept Den-Mars Juvenile Center in the Elms shopping center last week.

The alarm was sounded for Arlington Heights firemen shortly after 9 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 11. Fifteen volunteers and five regulars fought flames and smoke for over two hours at the store at 530 W. Northwest hwy.

The fire started on the east side of the shop in a storage area and would likely have spread to other stores had not been for the solid construction of the walls, noted Fire Chief Harvey Carothers.

ESTIMATED damage is $45,000 to the store's merchandise and fixtures and $25,000 to the building.

The children's wear shop hopes to reopen with all new merchandise around March 15, said Dennis Taler, co-owner of the store.

TALER ALSO noted that Arlington Heights residents should "thank their lucky stars for an outstanding fire department."

"I've never heard of any firemen taking the pains with merchandise that these men did. They could have completely destroyed everything, but they went out of their way to be careful while working at top speed. They deserve all the praise in the world," said Taler.

Editor Injured In Auto Wreck

Bruce C. Ladd, 24, editor of the Wheeling Herald, is in Northwest Community hospital this week, following an automobile accident Monday night.

Ladd, who assumed his duties with the newspaper that same day, was returning to his home at 722 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, after attending a meeting of the Wheeling village board.

ACCORDING TO Arlington Heights police, Ladd fell asleep at th wheel and his car veered into the curb, pushing a truck into another automobile.

Drivers of the other vehicles received minor cuts and bruises, and were released following treatment at the hospital. Ladd suffered deep facial lacerations, a broken breast bone, and other injuries.

The accident occurred between Willow and Oakton sts. on N. State rd. at about 11:30 p. m. Police reported Ladd's car was a total wreck. No estimates of damage were available on the other vehicles.

THE YOUNG editor's condition was reported "good and improving" Wednesday by a hospital spokesman, who said Ladd would probably be hospitalized for a week or 10 days "providing there are no complications."

Ladd comes to Paddock Publications after three years of newspaper work, the last 18 months of which he served as editor of the Mount Morris (Ill.) Index, an award-winning weekly.

Closed Monday

A&P Announces New Store Plans

The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company is the first store to sign a lease for space in the proposed $600,000 Market Basket shopping center at the southwest corner of State and Palatine rds., Arlington Heights.

The A & P has leased 21,000 square feet on a long term basis. Negotiations are proceeding for a hardware, variety, bakery, and drugstore in the planned 10-store center.

EARLY AMERICAN architecture is planned for the food store. Steel framing in the interior will elminate columns and open up the store with uninterrupted areas for display and shopping.

The center will front on State rd. for a length of 276 feet. It will extend 880 feet in depth west of State rd. Space will be provided for 250 cars.

Construction is scheduled to begin May 1, with Decmeber 1, 1960 set as completion date.

Cancelled Socials Tangle Shovel-Weary Population

There's not much left to say about either of last week's two main events, the blizzard and the Paar storm, and that's just dandy with the major portion of our shovel-weary population, some of whom are not quite up to Paar anyhow. Reflecting a general trend throughout the area, Arlington Heights' social calendar is a tangle of cancellations and postponments; this is of course due solely to the blizzard. Many weekend trips were postponed, some parties were called off and a few events survived the snow only to be sneezed out. Saddest of all was the reaction to the snow of local folks returning from vacations in various lands of sunshine and warm breezes.

Fortunately the younger citizens kept the social ball bouncing, and at the Hess house, 206 S. Walnut, there was a just-for-the-fun-of-it slumber party last Wednesday night and a Valentine party Saturday evening. Miss Mary was the hostess Wednesday night and Thursday morning to nine teen-age girl friends, and a greater concentration of happy insomnia would not be easy to find. If roosters still crow they were just about to at the time the slumber party got around to slumbering.

Illness whittled down the guest list but did not completely negate the valentine party of Miss Barbara Saturday evening and the 12 guests who could make it tried to have as much fun as the 18 who were invited. They're pretty sure they succeeded. Co-hostesses at the heart-y party were Miss Pam Baker and Miss Kathy Lynch.

TWO YOUNG LADIES who turned 12 last week, wanted the celebration on the no-school day Thursday and had the same guest list neatly solve their social dilemma with a combination party. Joyce Gulbrandson, 907 S. Vail, entertained the group in the a.m. hours of her birthday, then assumed the role of guest at the afternoon party of one of her guests, Jeanne Swanson, 901 S. Highland. Jeanne's birthday was the day before and although a foot of snow could not defer her party, school could and did.

The younger Walter Oetzell at 901 S. Dunton was 11 February 12 but this left the honor of the day solely to Mr. Lincoln. Wally celebrated the previous Saturday because "Journey to the Center of the Earth" came before his birthday did and he wanted a theatre party. His luncheon and theater party for 10 generously included his brothers and sisters. One was brother, Steven, who had his seventh birthday January 25 and celebrated two days early on a Saturday, too.

He had a party for a dozen young friends who won a dozen prizes at almost a dozen games. The next day a family party in his honor included his aunt, Miss Edith Oetzell of Villa Park and his grandmothers, Mrs. Edith Oetzell, also of Villa Park and Mrs. Eleanor Goven of Chicago.

PATTY HOFFMAN, 1038 S. Dunton, had a valentine party Saturday afternoon with a festive luncheon, valentine-y decorations and games and six girl friends from the neighborhood.

The valentine motif also prevailed at a luncheon party Saturday that celebrated two birthdays and doubled as a farewell for one of the birthday girls. The hostess, Jackie Prasnikar, was 10 and so was the guest of honor, Patty Parnell, whose family moves this week to a new home in Washington, D.C. Fourteen young ladies were guests at the Prasnikar home, 10 S. Salem, where the valentine-birthday fun was dimmed just a little by the sadness of farewells.

Mrs. Leander Gatewood, 1303 N. Walnut, and her godchild, Lori Lynn Hausknecht, 1306 N. Walnut, celebrated their almost-valentine birthdays February 13 and February 15, and exchanged greetings Saturday afternoon at the Hausknecht home. Mr. and Mrs. Gatewood went on to Antioch after the mutual happy birthdays and celebrated with dinner at George Diamond's steak house.

A family party at home honored Mrs. Gatewood Friday night and her almost-twin received Hausknecht family congratulations Monday when she became a whole year old.

NEITHER SLEET nor snow, etc., etc. deflects the regular get-together for an evening of cards of far S. Dunton housewives and in the midst of it last Tuesday night, 11 neighborhood ladies mushed to the Thomas Boyle home, 1042 S. Dunton. There was fun as usual to the unusual accompaniment of thunder and lightning mixed up with a howling nor'wester.

The Valentine motif of decorations and refreshments helped everyone forget the weather, at least until it was time to mush back home again. Mrs. John Dralle was co-hostess to the group.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sandy, 515 S. Chestnut, returned Sunday from two weeks in Arizona and report a strong impulse to turn right around and go back when they saw the snow here. parties, complete with birthday cakes. The first one was Wednesday, at a supper for a large gathering of friends and relatives, and the second celebration was Friday, when he was host to six guests at a luncheon, followed by bowling.

The J. Brown Hardisons and the Horace Brunners, neighbors in Scarsdale's Burton pl., entertained at a farewell dinner party for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hilarides, who will soon be moving to Detroit. Guests presented Mrs. Hilarides with a gift, after which they spent an evening playing bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard N. Lilleberg, 314 E. Rockwell, and their daughter, Victoria, enjoyed four days of winter sports while vacationing at the Northernaire ski lodge in Three Lakes, Wis.

MRS. AMY HUNT of Kansas City, Mo., is visiting here with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Daisy Bosch, 604 E. Rockwell.

Deborah Jo Conley, daughter of the Donald Conleys, 417 S. Lincoln lane, travelled alone by train to Freeport for a 4-day visit with her former Scarsdale neighbor, Peggy Swanson, and to attend Peggy's 11th birthday celebration.

Deborah returned home Sunday with her parents, who had flown to Portage, Wis. for the weekend and then to Freeport for her.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kieth Yhouse, 102 S. Brighton pl., were her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Steven Mulder, and her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. McIntyre, who were here from their home They had ideal weather throughout their visit in Mesa with Mr. Sandy's sister and her husband, the Ross Montgomerys.

They also spent a summery weekend in Tucson with the father of local friends and a day in Mexico that was all sunshine and warmth too. Mr. Sandy attended the Pro-Am golf tournament in Phoenix on the only less-than-perfect day of the two weeks, watched the tournament of professionals the next day and played the course himself two days later.

From Phoenix the Sandys bring greetings for local friends of the Clarence Wickstroms who moved from Rolling Meadows last fall. The Sandys also bring back a pair of tanned complexions that paled abruptly Sunday at first sight of the snowdrifts. During their absence their daughter Margaret was the guest of neighbors, the Owen Sellers.

ALMOST AT THE same time Sunday night the same snow caused the same shock at 506 S. Chestnut as Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Roberts and Karen returned from a 15-day vacation down where the trade winds blow and they don't blow snow. The Roberts family calls their activity in the Caribbean "island-hopping," an apt term for their brief visits to the many islands there.

Their last stop was in Montego Bay, Jamaica and they jetted home from there. Jet flight is wonderful but it doesn't allow much time for the adjustment from tropical climate to arctic weather. During the family's absence, Tom Jr. "batched" it at home for his brief vacation between terms at Purdue.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Black, 701 S. Chestnut, returned from a convention week in New York in time to beat the blizzard and at a time when New York was enjoying an almost-spring climate. Mrs. Black's mother, Mrs. E. E. Kline of Baxter, Iowa, is now here for a visit that was scheduled to be for several weeks even before she was snowed in here.

THE CHARLES Kleinofen family and Mrs. Kleinofen's mother, Mrs. Frances Boeger, 627 S. Chestnut, were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Axen in Chicago. The occasion was extra-ordinary for Mrs. Boeger who met her great-grandchild, the Axens' new-born baby, for the first time.

Miss Laurie Riley and her fiance, Tom Gore, spent the weekend here with Miss Riley's parents, 738 S. Chestnut, returning Sunday evening to Kansas City where they attend Kansas university. Saturday, Miss Riley sang at the wedding of Miss Joy Bauer of Mt. Prospect and Leonard Birck of Chicago in the Immanuel Lutheran church of Palatine, and also served as a bridesmaid to Miss Bauer. Over the weekend, the Rileys announced Laurie's engagement to Mr. Gore, son of the Harold Gores, former Arlington Heights residents now of Menlo Park, Cal.

Congregational Church Holds 1st Annual Meeting

The first annual church meeting of the Congregational Church of Arlington Heights was held in Pioneer Park field house, Arlington Heights, February 9. In spite of the storm more than half the church members were present to elect and install officers and members of various boards and committees of the new church. Rev. W. Rowland Koch, minister, presided at the meeting.

Church officers elected were: financial secretary, Mrs. Roy Zylstra; financial secretary of the building fund, Miss Gretta Pulley; director, every-member-canvass, Howard Styron; church clerk, Mrs. John Taylor; church treasurer, Walter Huff, superintendent of the church school, Lloyd Dobricka. Forty-six others of the congregation accepted membership on boards and committees.

REV. KOCH reported he had made 1500 initial calls to homes plus many pastoral calls. There have been two charter membership Sundays, with a third and final group of charter members to be accepted before Easter. Membership preparation classes have been fully attended. Bible study groups are being planned for the Lenten season. The constitution of the church was approved January 24, 1960.

Mrs. John Taylor, reporting on the church school, said that there has been an increase of 350 percent in enrollment. There are now, not including the nursery group, seven church school classes with children from 3 years through junior high. Intraining for the 11 teachers is held at the parsonage once a month.

OTHER PROGRESS reports were given by members, and the steering committee, which guided the activities of the church during its first year, was dismissed with many thanks for the services rendered.

Rev. Koch was formerly called by an unanimous vote by the congregation to serve as pastor.

The meeting was followed by a social hour. (A

Banker to Head Local Heart Fund

W. C. WOLF

Newly-appointed chairman for the Arlington Heights Heart Fund commitee is W. C. Wolf, president of the Bank of Arlington Heights, 900 E. Kensington, reports Cook County North co-chairman Carl Hammerl, vice-president, Mt. Prospect State bank, 2 W. Busse, Mt. Prospect.

At the same time Hammerl announced the appointment of Dr. Andrew J. Oberlander, 420 E. Park, Arlington Heights, as co-chairman of the committee. Dr. Oberlander is medical director of Mid-America Home office, Prudential Insurance Company of America. He is also chairman of the Chicago Heart association's industrial medicine committee.

THE ANNUAL HEART Fund campaign, with a goal of $1,212,800 for 1960 is currently in progress and will continue throughout the month. February 28, officially proclaimed Heart Sunday, will see 56,000 volunteers throughout Cook, Lake and DuPage counties calling on neighbors for contributions to the fight against Heart disease. Research, service and education are the three principal avenues through which the Chicago Heart association attacks the major health problem in the nation.

Slogan for the campaign is "Heart Disease Your #1 Enemy — Heart Fund Your #1 Defense." (A

Hard Drinking Teen Collapses in Snow

Consumption of nearly a pint of gin in less than two hours proved near fatal to a 14-year-old Arlington Heights boy last Friday night.

Two employees of the Chicago and North Western railway were climbing the incline to the tracks at Douglas st. and the Northwest hwy. at 1 a.m. Saturday to make repairs on the underpass when they spied a boy lying in the snow.

They notifed police, who sped to the scene and found the unconscious boy lying on his back, partially covered by snow. He was rushed to Noorthwest Community hospital where a doctor found him suffering from exposure. The doctor also noted that the boy was intoxicated.

LEARNING the youngster's identity from his wallet, police contacted his parents who related that the last time they saw their son was early Friday evening when he departed with a friend to attend the donkey basketball game at Arlington high school.

Police next checked with the lad's friend and found that he had sneaked a fifth of his father's gin out of the house. The two boys visited another friend who was baby sitting, and mixed a few drinks. They then wandered about Scarsdale drinking the gin out of the bottle.

The two boys parted company at Foundry rd. and Northwest hwy. around 11 p.m. The rest of the story was gotten from the boy found in the snow when he was able to talk with police Saturday afternoon.

HE TOLD OFFICERS he started home, but became ill, and then dizzy. He walked about 100 feet before staggering up the incline and collapsing in the snow.

The boy suffered no permanent damage. His body temperature, however, was falling when he was taken to the hospital, and had he gone undetected through the night he might not have survived.

Study Class In Language

At least some Arlington Heights grade school children will probably be required to take a foreign language next year.

District 25's board of education gave the subject a pretty full hearing Wednesday night, but tabled the matter without a definite decision. A committee of teachers, administrators, and board members will further consider the requiring of French or Spanish at a meeting next week.

Superintendent R. E. Clabaugh had introduced a plan by which eighth graders would spend four half hour sessions each week learning conversational French or Spanish. The time would be taken from the students' language arts classes.

While the board was practically unanimously enthusiastic about the teaching of foreign language at the elementary level, some members questioned whether the eighth grade would be the best place to start.

Clabaugh explained that it was felt that the eighth grade would be just the beginning, and that the language requirement would then proceed to seventh and eighth; sixth, seventh, and eighth; etc. "That way none of the present students would be left out, except this year's graduates, of course," he added.

WHEN ASKED why the program couldn't be offered to more than one grade the first year, Clabaugh explained that there is a shortage of teachers who can teach foreign language at the grade school level. Then, too, he preferred the one year experimental basis to the full fledged program.

The board seemed to agree that the introduction of foreign language would stimulate interest which would be carried into high school.

Behind the Byline—A New Series

Tom McShane Likes People, And His Stories Show It!

(This is the first in a series on Paddock Publications' staffers. "Behind the Byline" will offer readers an intimate portrait of the men and women of the editorial staff who weekly record events in the 13 communities served by Paddock Publications.)

"Yes, he's married and has two children," the woman responded to a young, wide-eyed hostess' unspoken inquiry at an open house held by the Mount Prospect State bank recently.

The woman had instinctively sensed the question, according to her husband, a Paddock Publications' executive. "That seems to be the first thing women want to know about Tom," he chuckled.

"Tom" is Thomas K. (for Kiley) McShane, editor of the Mount Prospect Herald and general assignment writer for the Paddock chain's 13 suburban newspapers.

McSHANE'S handsomely-chiseled features and awesome size (6 ft. 5 in., 240 lbs.) has caused considerable eye-fluttering among teen-agers and matrons alike; but an outgoing personality and sincerity of purpose have contributed to his popularity among males as well.

And it is a mutual admiration society, by McShane's own admission. "I like people," he exclaims. His stories show it. They usually include descriptive passages which point to the fact that he approaches his subjects with something more than the cold incisions of logic.

"McShane has made many friends for Paddock Publications," was the verdict of Professor Jerry Werthimer, Northwestern University journalism instructor who is preparing a study on the suburban press.

The hulking McShane, however, will not sacrifice principle for popularity. When first assigned the responsibility of editing the Mount Prospect paper he was barred from a meeting of village officials. McShane indicated his displeasure by running the story of the "star chamber" session in an eight-column banner, explained the action with a front page editorial which quoted Illinois legislation that stated "official deliberations shall be conducted openly."

THE 26-YEAR-OLD graduate of Holy Cross college (B.A. in English) has also provoked some vocal violence before community groups which he has lectured on "The Deerfield Situation." But he insists: "There has to be orderly preparation for the move of the Negro to the suburbs."

McShane covered the explosive Deerfield situation for the papers, discovered the fact that work was being halted on Progress Development company models for "building code violations." His story, however, quoted village officials, ministers and residents, in adhering to the journalistic counsel of objectivity.

McShane could be described as one of Sociologist David Reisman's "inner-directed" men. He will not pass judgment until he is convinced in his own mind of the rightness of that opinion.

One contemporary recalled that McShane would not accept his view of a particular official with whom they were both acquainted. "He had to find out for himself and he did," the co-worker said with some admiration.

ASSIGNED one week to cover an address by Republican William H. Rentschler, running for the U.S. Senate, McShane admitted he had been impressed by the "young man with ideas."

The following week, however, he wrote a lucid portrait of Vice-President Richard Nixon at a Chicago GOP $100 plate dinner, observing: "He is a man of many faces, one kind and friendly, cross-hatched with the push-button smile of the perennial politician; another strong and forceful, as when he speaks of his country's position of leadership; still another harsh and coldly analytic, as when he counts out friend and foe in those he meets."

His profile of the vice-president, however, was not without some praise just as his account of Rentschler's speech was not packed with any platitudes. (In fact, his most demanding critic, his wife, Mary, a small, dark, pretty girl, reproached him for painting so vivid and detailed a physical description of Nixon.) McShane, like other Paddock editors, also took his own photographs of the event, using a hand-sized reflex camera.

HIS STORIES, which have a warmth suggesting the extrovert's nature, occasionally extend beyond reportorial resourcefulness. When Mount Prospect suffered the worst train wreck in its history on a Wednesday morning, McShane, fighting a noon deadline for Thursday's edition, could still lend dramatic impact to his story, e.g., "Twenty-two freight cars were strewn down the three-block area at grotesque angles, indicating the force with which the huge carriers plowed the earth after jumping the rails. Long strips of track and jagged chunks of ties lay twisted and crushed under the huge goliaths."

"His strongest point is reporting," said an associate. "He's not satisfied until he has dug into every angle of a story."

Observed an editor who supervises McShane's work: "I think of all the members of the staff, Tom fits the mold of the classical conception of the newspaper man in temperament and disposition."

McShane will conceed to being "lazy." He expanded this exercise in self-analysis to "being able to work better and faster under pressure."

TOM AND MARY McShane and their two children, Thomas, Jr., 15 months, and Kathleen Ann, four months, reside at 38 S. Mitchell st., Arlington Heights. The couple were school sweethearts from Grand Rapids, Mich., where McShane's father is senior partner in a law firm (his mother won her degree from the University of Michigan law school but never practiced). The McShanes are members of Our Lady of the Wayside church, Arlington Heights.

The Mount Prospect editor, who did graduate study at Northwestern's Medill school of journalism, also covers Prospect high school athletic events for the papers and has won the supreme compliment from the sports department of being "always punctual."

He served on a Pacific fleet destroyer as gunnery and anti-submarine officer for two years, and still holds the rank of lieutenant junior grade in the inactive reserve.

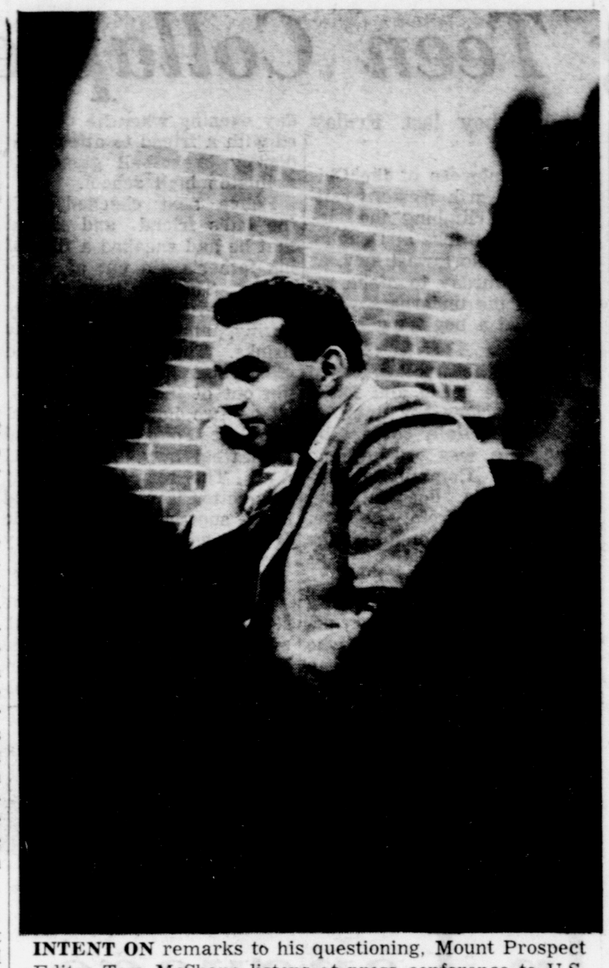
EXPOSED TO every conceivable type of suburban community in covering Wheeling, Prospect Heights, Roselle and Hoffman Estates before being assigned to Mount Prospect, McShane sees the primary need of the area to be planning to avoid duplication in government, and to prepare for a development which he predicts will "be solid from Chicago to Fox river in the next 50 years."

With the Paddock organization since October 1958, McShane says: "I'm grateful for the freedom of expression granted by the Paddocks; I think it's a rarity in the newspaper business. But I also realize, as the rest of the staff does, that there is a lot of responsibility involved with the granting of such freedom."



INTENT ON remarks to his questioning, Mount Prospect Editor Tom McShane listens at press conference to U.S. Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois, framed by heads of two contemporaries. (B13

Young Patients Are Entertained by Show

Patients from the younger set were entertained at Northwest Community hospital, Monday, by Curt Kenyon and two puppets, Tiny and Sandy Safety.

Actually the puppets did the talking as they learned that they were not the only ones who could raise their eyebrows. Patients Linda Warnock, and Thomas Lutsch, both of Arlington Heights and future patient James Zaccaria, Palatine, were good in the eyebrow lifting department, too. Only Robert Dabbert, Arlington Heights, declined to enter the competition.

THE PUPPETS, worked by Kenyon, are used to entertain in old peoples' homes and other civic institutions besides hospitals.

They are also making the rounds of schools in the Northwest suburban area, initiating youngsters into Sandy's Safety club. Object of the club is to prevent what put Robert in the hospital: he was hit while riding a reflectorless bicycle. He has been in the hospital for two months while a broken leg mends.

At school safety meetings, Kenyon shows a movie and Sandy or another puppet, Woody, gives a talk. Bikes are displayed with and without reflector equipment, to show the difference it makes at night.

Children are sent home with a short test they are to take on bike safety with their parents. Part of the test is a horn, light, reflector check. If a child passes, he is awarded a badge admitting him to membership in the safety club.

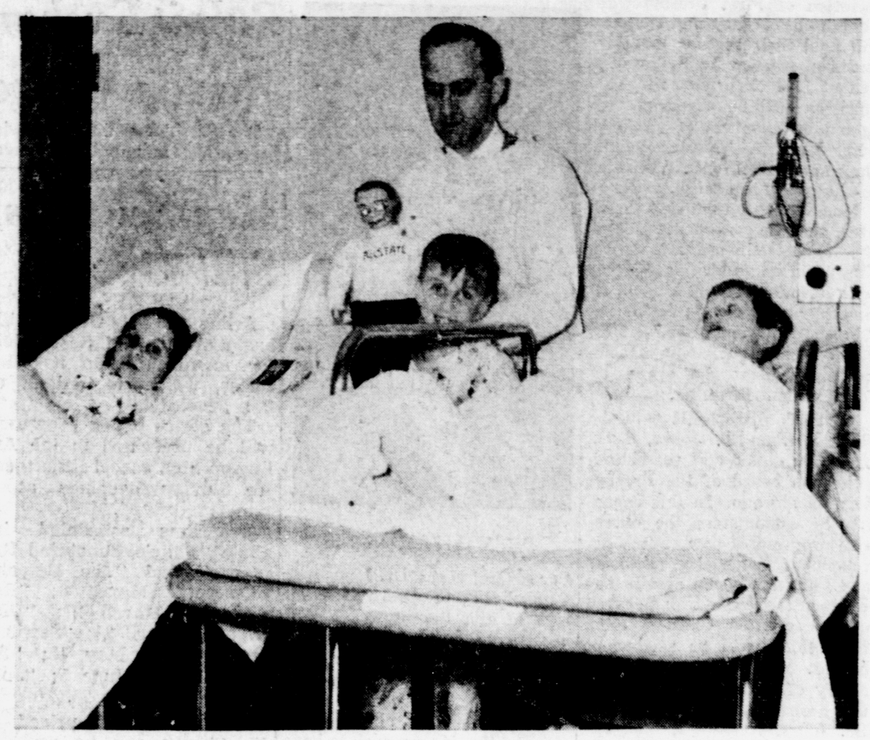
THE PUPPETS, made by Frank Marshall, who also made famed Charlie McCarthy, are part of the Kenyon family. Kenyon has developed the hobby of ventriloquism since high school days. Now in the insurance field, Kenyon holds B.S. and M.S. degrees in agricultural economics.

The puppets, considered quite active for dummies, can wink, smile, move eyes, eyebrows, and mouth.



CHILDREN WHO WERE entertained by Curt Kenyon and his friend, Tiny, are shown here at Northwest Community hospital. Linda Warnock, 7½, of Arlington Heights was still shaky from an emergency appendectemy, performed Sunday. In the center is Thomas Lutsch, 7, also from Arlington, who was in for a false alarm appendix. At the right is Robert Dabbert, 10, who has been at the hospital for two months with a broken leg. A car hit him while he was riding his bike at night with no reflectors. (B8

Professional Engineers Enjoy Historic Tradition

The profession of engineering is as old as the Pyramids, as ancient as the Mesopotamian irrigation works, reports Joseph F. Koenen. Four thousand years ago, professional engineers practiced their art, bound by a code of ethics substantially the same as that binding engineers today, said Koenen, vice president, Northwest Suburban chapter, Illinois Society of Professional Engineers.

The preamble of the Engineers' Creed, "I dedicate my professional knowledge and skill to the advancement and betterment of human welfare," he added, encompasses succinctly the role of the engineer when he designed drainage works for the Egyptian Pharoahs or promoted a construction project of his own.

The engineers of ancient Greece and Rome understood the meaning of this phrase as well as a modern engineer designing skyscrapers or vast public works. This creed of the Engineer, not dissimilar to the Hippocratic oath, is not only a matter of conscience but a way of life.

"TO GIVE the utmost of performance," reads the Creed. In our enlightened age the engineer does not face the loss of his life if his performance is less than the utmost. The rigorous discipline of his education, the Canons of EEthics he lives by, and the admonition of State laws compels the engineer to do nothing but his utmost.

What constitutes a professional engineer? Legally a professional engineer is one who has graduated from an accredited Engineering technical experience, and has successfully completed the two day examination given by the state.

The Creed says, "To participate in none but honest enterprise; To live and work according to the laws of man and the highest standards of Professional conduct."

Clearly a professional engineer is more than a mere technician. He is a man who combines theoretical knowledge of the sciences with the intangible dedication to society to never abandon the quest for a better way of life.

"To place service before profit, the honor and standing of the professional before personal advantage, and the public welfare above all other considerations" is the last Article of the Creed, and summarizes, we believe, the heritage and goals of today's professional engineer.

THE WORK of the professional engineer is evident in every aspect of human life. His work makes possible the highways and railroads; skyscrapers and hospitals; water supply and sewerage; electricity and telephone; airliners and space missiles; and thousands of other things some of which we take for granted such as bathing beaches and ski slopes.

The work the engineer accomplishes does not only benefit the present generation but generations to come. Major works of the past such as the pyramids, Roman roads and aqueducts, Persian sewers, Buddhist temples and others have out-lived their designers by thousands of years but are still in everyday use. Many of our present day necessities are monuments to engineers long dead.

The professional engineer then, concluded Koenen, is a servant of the people. His knowledge, imagination and foresight ease our work and play and at the same time make possible the exploration of outer space. Engineering is one of the oldest and most honorable of the professions.

As a doctor diagnoses and treats a patient, so the engineer diagnoses a problem and creates a solution both economical and lasting; beautiful but practical.

Sweet Adelines Appoint Helen Keefer President

Mt. Prospect chapter of Sweet Adelines which includes members from all the northwest suburban area, held a combined dinner and board of directors' meeting February 9 at Gunnell's restaurant.

The meeting was attended by 10 board members as well as three guests: Miss Phyllis Haeger, newly elected director of the chorus, Miss Gladys Wolff, regent of the Chicago district; Miss Jean Bischmann from West Suburban chapter of the women's singing organization.

Announcements of four new appointments were made at the meeting. Mrs. Jack Keefer of Mt. Prospect replaced Mrs. Robert Davis as president of the chapter; Mrs. Douglas Francisco of Palatine was made vice president; Mrs. Harold Jensen of Mt. Prospect was named parliamentarian; Mrs. Thomas Hamilton of Arlington Heights was appointed ways and means chairman. (B9

PDQ IS COMING!

A DREAM CAME TRUE last week for an Arlington Heights sixth grade pupil who had never met a "real" United States Senator. Robin Mills, 12, of 402 W. Campbell st., realized her ambition when Sen. Paul H. Douglas visited Paddock Publications offices. He assured Robin, who hopes to become a newspaper reporter some day, that "United States Senators are just like everybody else. They eat and sleep and live in houses." Robin, who confessed she was a Republican in sympathy, nevertheless was thrilled at meeting Democrat Douglas. The Senator held a press conference with editors of Paddock's 13 suburban newspapers and met with local business leaders and village and school officials.

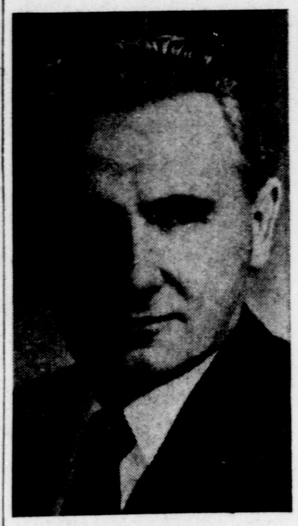
Presbyterian Women to Hear Extension Board Director

Members of the Women's association of First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights will hold their regular monthly luncheon meeting in Fellowship hall at 12:30 February 24. The luncheon will be prepared and served by members of circle 5, with Mrs. H. Vander Koogh, chairman, and Mrs. P. Williams, co-chairman, in charge.

Members are reminded, however, that they need not attend the luncheon in order to enjoy the program, which will open with devotions led by Mrs. L. R. Smeltzer. Her subject will be, "Faith is Contagious." Mrs. Raab Sechrist will sing a solo, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Wilbur Downing.

GUEST SPEAKER will be Rev. William T. Jones, D.D., executive director of the church extension board of the Presbytery of Chicago. In this capacity, he administers the extensive program of new church development, inner-city missions, and Christian social service agencies of the Presbyterian church in the greater Chicago area. His subject will be settlement houses. Mrs. Robert Vanek, secretary of national missions for the association, will introduce Dr. Jones.

Dr. Jones is a graduate of Carroll college and of McCormick theological seminary and has served as pastor in Ohio for six years and at the Emerald Avenue Presbyterian church, Chicago, from 1942 until 1955. In 1953 he was the moderator of the Presbytery of Chicago.



DR. WILLIAM JONES

For several years, Dr. Jones was a member of the board of directors of the Southtown YMCA in Chicago, and he has been active in many other civic affairs.

Visitors are invited to the meeting but are asked to make a reservation by phoning the church office if they wish to have lunch. (A

Pulpit Exchange Day Brings Morton Grove Pastor Here

The Presbytery of Chicago is sponsoring a pulpit exchange day Sunday, Feb. 21, and Arlington Heights Presbyterian church will have as guest preacher, Rev. Maldwyn Davies of Morton Grove, whose subject will be "What Are We Afraid Of?"

Rev. Davies was born in Prestatyn, Wales and was educated at the University of Wales. He received his B.A. degree there, magna cum laude, in 1930; his B.D. in 1933 and his M.A. in 1935. He served in four parishes before coming to Morton Grove last November: two in England, one in Granville, N.Y. and one in Washington, D.C.

President Eisenhower's pastor, Rev. Dr. Edward Elson of Washington, D.C., preached the sermon when Rev. Davies was installed last November as pastor of the Morton Grove Presbyterian church. (A

Annual Dinner Dance Slated

Scarsdale Estates association set April 23 as the date for its annual dinner dance at a recent meeting in the home of Mrs. William Pailey, chairman of the dance committee.

The dance will take place at the Rolling Greens Country club, beginning at 6:30 p.m. An all-girl orchestra, the Melo-Dears, has been secured for the dance.

RESERVATIONS CAN be made with the members of the reservation committee, Catherine Malcolm, Marianne Tomei, Charlie Geane, and Eleanor Skinner. The ticket price per person is $7.50.

Mrs. Skinner will take reservations from Beverly Lane residents, who are again invited to the dance, since they border on the Estates. (A

'The Test . . . Is How You Behave'

Senator Blasts Race Barriers of Suburbs

"I think Negroes are human beings with immortal souls just like the rest of us. They should be treated with dignity. They should not be segregated.

"The test of membership in society is how you behave and not the color of your skin. I understand that in the project at Deerfield only qualified Negroes were to come there after close scrutiny of their characters. I personally would be willing to live in such a community."

These were the words of United States Senator Paul H. Douglas (D., Ill.) as he answered questions on the vital civil rights issue during a press conference with Paddock Publications editors last Thursday.

The senior senator from Illinois, doing some suburban campaigning over the Lincoln birthday holiday, took a great deal of time to discuss the civil rights problem, concerning both the Negro and the Mexican-American.

DOUGLAS, who has fought for liberal legislation on civil rights, told his audience he sincerely believed in his principles.

"This is not just an academic belief on my part," he said. "I live in Hyde Park. Negroes have moved in. They represent 50-60 per cent of the population today. I won't deny that we have problems, but we are beginning to work things out.

"There was no bombing or threatening of those Negroes that came in. They were encouraged to maintain their property. Some did. Some didn't.

"There are 20 million Negroes in this country. Sixty to 70 per cent of the world population could be called 'colored.' And their death rate is diminishing.

"In 15 years three-quarters of the world population will be colored, and by the end of the century five-sixths of the world population will be colored.

"THE WHITE race will be a fringe on the colored world. We must realize that we are going to have to get along with them on the basis of friendship. If we try force we're in for magnified trouble."

On the problem of the Mexican-American migrant workers, Douglas said:

"I did not realize there were so many migrants coming into Cook county until I read your newspaper's series of articles on it last year.

"If the state of Illinois does not make provisions for providing for these people, I think there is a national responsibility since they move across state lines, and I would favor national cooperation on living quarters for them, and a national grant for the children of migrants.

"I DO NOT, want the national government to do everything for the individual localities. I am not for national control of education. I still think that should rest with the state and local governing bodies. But I would favor national financial assistance in cases like this."

Douglas said he was planning to visit extensively in the suburbs during his campaign, stopping to speak in all of the villages surrounding Chicago. (A13 INTEGRATION AND OTHER human problems confronting the rapidly-growing suburbs were discussed last week by Sen. Paul H. Douglas and William L. Dulaney, assistant managing editor of Paddock Publications. (A13

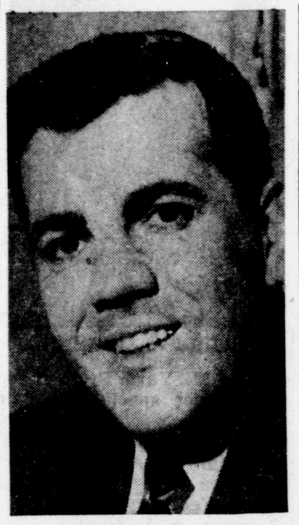
Big Ten Football Coach at 'Y' Meet



ARA PARSEGHIAN

Ara Parseghian, head football coach of Northwestern university, will be the guest speaker at the seventh annual meeting of Northwest Suburban YMCA, to be held Thursday March 3, in Prospect high school Little Theater. Five hundred Northwest Suburban 'Y' members and boosters will assemble at 8 o'cock for the annual event, at which new officers and board of irectors will be elected for the coming year. The Irving Park 'Y' chorus is also scheduled to entertain on the program.

Highlight of the meeting is a talk by Parseghian, the young personable Big Ten football coach whose spirited leadership led Northwestern's Wildcats in the short space of four years to a position as a contender for the conference championship.

AT A YOUTHFUL 36 years of age, Parseghian has been a 'Y' member and booster for many years.

He took over the Northwestern football helm in 1956, inheriting a team that had been a tail-ender in the Big Ten for years, and transformed the Wildcats into an aggressive team that by 1959 ranked as one of the nation's top eleven.

His gridiron success follows a pattern he set at Miami university in Ohio, where his teams in a 5-year period won 39 games, lost 6 and tied one. A native of Akron, Ohio, he enlisted in the navy after high school and played football at Great Lakes. Following his discharge he entered Miami university, won halfback honors and received All-American mention in 1947.

MEMBERS AND friends of Northwest Suburban 'Y' are looking forward to the March 3 event to hear this fine athlete and leader of men, who has shown his ability to transplant his own degree of drive, good sportsmanship and competitive spirit into others.

To Address Businessmen

Wesley K. Mills, vice president and general merchandise manager of Spiegel, Inc., will be the guest speaker this Saturday morning at the monthly breakfast meeting of the Northwest Suburbs Christian Business Men's committee.

The meeting will be held at Rapp's restaurant, 602 Northwest hwy., at 8 a.m.

MILLS IS AN active layman-member of the CBMC, member of the board of Chicagoland Youth for Christ, member of the executive committee of the Young Life campaign, member of the Outdoor Boating club of America, and treasurer of Fernwood Gospel chapel.

He is also associated with the Admirals club and the Central Manufacturing district club.

Those wishing to attend Saturday's meeting are asked to phone R. W. Wyatt at TA-3-8984 or Herman Nelson at TA-3-7620. (B8

Suburban Cook County Had More Accidents During 1959

More highway traffic accidents occurred in suburban Cook county in 1959 than in 1958, but there were fewer fatalities.

Last year there were 34,843 crashes that injured 9,523 and killed 170 persons. The 1958 totals: 30,692 accidents; 9,070 injured, and 176 killed.

Suburbs with the highest traffic death tolls last year include: Des Plaines, 5; Markham, 5; Oak Lawn, 4; Skokie, 4; Cicero, 3; Berwyn, 3; Calumet City, 3, River Forest 3, and Lincolnwood 3.

Two persons were killed in each of the following suburbs: Wilmette, Riverside, Dolton, River Grove, Robbins, Niles, Hillside, Posen, Wheeling, and Harwood Heights.

SUBURBS WHOSE traffic records were marred by one death include: Oak Park, Maywood, Chicago Heights, Harvey, Blue Island, Winnetka, Summit, Bellwood, Lansing, Glenview, Homewood, Mount Prospect, Morton Grove, Midlothian, Calumet Park, Hazel Crest, East Chicago Heights, Northfield, Schiller Park, Willow Springs, Matteson, and Bedford Park.

Of 100 reporting suburbs, the following 59 were free of traffic deaths last year: Evanston, Elmwood Park, Park Ridge, Brookfield, Forest Park, Melrose Park, LaGrange, Evergreen Park, Franklin Park, Arlington Heights, Park Forest, Glencoe, Western Springs, LaGrange Park, Lyons, Riverdale, Broadview.

Northlake, Westchester, Palatine, Phoenix, Norridge, Stickney, South Holland, North Riverside, Kenilworth, Lemont, Tinley Park, South Chicago Heights, Berkeley, Oak Forest, Flossmoor, Worth, Stone Park, Bridgeview, Burnham, Dixmoor, Alsip, Merrionette Park, Orland Park, Palos Park, Chicago Ridge.

McCook, Forest View, Golf, Richton Park, Hometown, Rolling Meadows, Barrington, Steger, Hinsdale, Hickory Hills, Rosemont, Elgin, Elk Grove, Buffalo Grove, Hanover Park, and Streamwood.

IN THE CASE of communities extending into other counties, the statistics here cover only the section in Cook county.

The annual report is from the Cook County Traffic Safety Commission. It noted that 94 deaths, more than half of the 1959 total, occurred on highways in unincorporated territory.

The increase in total accidents was interpreted by Daniel Ryan, president of the commission and of the County Board, as "not dismaying" because all accidents in which a car or other property was damaged to the extent of $100 are counted.

"Current car models are so vulnerable to bumps that minor mishaps are reported which formerly would not have been counted," Ryan said. "To a considerable degree, the increase in reported accidents may be attributed also to the larger number of vehicles on the road."

The state commander, John A. Geiger, will also be presented. The public is invited. (B8

Discoverer of Orlon Speaks Sunday at Universalist Church

Dr. Ray C. Houtz, currently director of research laboratories, Toni Co. and formerly with Du Pont, will speak Sunday, Feb. 21, at the regular service of the Countryside Universalist - Unitarian Fellowship. Dr. Houtz's subject will be, "The Five False Images of Science," in which he will cover popular and erroneous attitudes of people toward science and scientists.

Dr. Houtz' career has been devoted to chemical research.

DR. RAY C. HOUTZ

He spent 21 years in the employ of the Du Pont Corp., during which time he discovered "Orlon." At the time he left Du Pont he was group manager on Synthesis of New Fibres. During his 21 years of research with Du Pont, Dr. Houtz worked entirely on synthetic fibres, including the first incorporation of a synthetic fibre, rayon, in automobile tires. The discovery of "Orlon" was particularly significant, since it was the first of a large family of acrylics, found today in everything from wearing apparel to fishing nets.

AS VICE CHAIRMAN of Countryside Universalist-Unitarian Fellowship, Dr. Houtz has been active in the growth of this religious group. Countryside holds services at the Parkside public school, Maple and Howard sts., Roselle.

People of all faiths, or those of no formal church affiliation, are always invited to attend the 10:45 service. There is a church school for all ages held at the same hour.

"The Five False Images" referred to in Dr. Houtz's presentation are: That scientists are peculiar, i.e., different from other people with a preoccupation for developing ways of destroying mankind; that science is synonymous with weaponary, larger and more fearsome bombs, more destructive missiles; that science is magic: scientists dream of some fantastic gadget and then make it; science is something that attempts to destroy religion, since it is its arch enemy; and science is not a part of culture, it is something unique and has no place alongside music, art or literature. Dr. Houtz will attempt to show how wrong these popular misconceptions are.

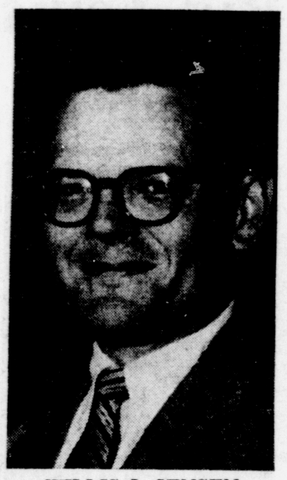
AFTER RECEIVING his B.S. in chemistry, Dr. Houtz took graduate work at the University of Wisconsin, where he received his Ph.D. in organic chemistry. He lives in Inverness Countryside with his wife, Clara; son, Kenneth; and grandson, Michael. Dr. Houtz has another son, Norman, living in Akron, and a daughter who is married to a naval officer, living in Norfolk.

Both sons followed in their father's footsteps with a scientific bent toward research. Both are mechanical engineers, Kenneth with International Harvester in Chicago and Norman with Goodyear Aviation in Akron. (A-13

Brotherhood Award Made to Attorney

The National Conference of Christians and Jews will confer its "good neighbor for brotherhood" award on Arlington Heights attorney Willis J. Jensen, 418 S. Lincoln lane, in a public ceremony today (Thursday) in the council chamber of the Chicago city hall.

Jensen and 15 other Chicago area men and women will receive NCCJ's annual



WILLIS J. JENSEN

James M. Yard Brotherhood awards for special effort to further the practice of brotherhood. The award presentations will serve to launch observance of Brotherhood Week, February 21-28.

JENSEN IS being honored for his assistance in formation of the Opportunity Council, Inc., which has provided new hope for northwest suburbanites of Latin descent and other minorities.

When the suburbs became aware of the "invisible wall" which barred some 800 Mexican-Americans from equal opportunities for jobs, housing and a decent way of life, Jensen stepped in and served as first president of the council, leading the fight for greater and equal opportunity.

Under his leadership, the Opportunity Council instituted a free night school for adults, a scholarship program for high school students, expanded health services, a study of housing needs, and cooperated with human relations agencies and varied educational and civic programs to acquaint the community with the problems and needs of Spanish-speaking residents.

JENSEN HAS visited Latin homes, spoken at numerous civic meetings, and worked diligently to break down barriers of discrimination in housing. Although he has stepped down as president, he is continuing his dedicated effort to make the principles of democracy meaningful for all people.

The traditional award presentation ceremony officially marks the beginning of activities for Brotherhood Week, sponsored by NCCJ.

Attending the presentation with Jensen today are Mrs. Jensen and Charles Hayes, managing editor of Paddock Publications and new president of the Opportunity Council. (B8

Suburban Cancer Goal Is $30,000

The Northwest Suburban chapter goal of the American Cancer society has been set at $30,000 by the board of directors at a recent meeting, as the group discussed means of combatting the trend of United Funds sprouting everywhere.

During reports given by the board, it was revealed that a United Drive by Prospect Heights had yielded $1047, which was offered to the chapter, but refused.

BARRINGTON, too, it was reported, also has had a United Drive, but the chapter directors hoped that they would be able to conduct their own drive in Barrington.

Following a discussion of the mounting United Fund drives being conducted in the Northwest Suburban area, Clifford R. Johnson felt that the Illinois division of the American Cancer society should "offer some concrete alternatives in combatting the United Fund-Community Chest trend."

He volunteered to contact the Illinois division and meet with Robert Krit, campaign director soon and report back to the board.

His proposal came on the heels of a suggestion by Mrs. Charles Kimball that an educational campaign should be carried on in Park Ridge, with a followup mail campaign.

A TREASURER'S report revealed a total of $9,339.96, which, broken down, consists of $7,026.20 balance in the chapter account, a campaign balance of $957.51 and a credit in the Illinois division of $1,356.25.

Reports told of two massage tables donated by Mrs. Arthur Harding, of Arlington Heights and of a "much-needed filing cabinet," as a result of an article in the newspaper.

Cancer Prevention studies have been completed in Palatine, Mt. Prospect, Wheeling and Barrington, and other communities are expected to complete studies and return forms soon.

A film, "Cancer — A Challenge" will be shown.

Council Shows Movie 3 Days

Holy Rosary council, Knights of Columbus, will sponsor the pre-Lenten presentation of the movie, "Miracle of Marcelino," at the Prospect theater in Mt. Prospect February 23, 24, and 25.

There will be matinees for school children Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 23 and 24. Free candy bars will be passed out at the door. The council will furnish free bus transportation for the school children attending the matinees.

Joseph Orgler, 733 N. Beverly, Arlington Heights, is chairman of the committee which made the arrangements for the showing of "Miracle of Marcelino." (ACM

Q. Is it considered proper for a girl and boy to exchange presents when they become engaged?

A. While this cannot be called improper, it is not customary.

Q. Is a girl supposed to return her ring when she breaks the engagement?

A. Good taste would seem to dictate that she return the ring, even though it is legally hers.

Two Youths Injured When Car Rolls Over

CRUMPLED CAR in which two Arlington Heights youths were injured Monday is studied by District 3 state patrolman. Seriously injured in the mishap was the driver, Gerald Pollard, 19. A passenger, Jack Hoffman, also 19, was treated at Northwest Community hospital and released. Car rolled over and righted itself on U. S. 12 a mile west of Illinois 83. (B-8

OVERTURNED OUTO is readied for towing on Northwest Tollway near Illinois 58. Driver of the car was identified by tollway state police as William Davis, 37, of Box 566, Bartlett. Davis, who was headed east at the time, was charged with driving too fast for conditions. He suffered a broken nose in the crash.

Two Arlington Heights youths were injured - one seriously - Monday when the car in which they were riding rolled over and landed upright again on U.S. 12 a mile west of Illinois 83.

Listed in serious condition at Northwest Community hospital this week is Gerald Pollard, 19, of 403 N. Dwyer, who was driving west at the time of the mishap.

A passenger in the auto, Jack Hoffman, also 19, of 1715 Clarence ave., was treated for lacerations of the face and hand and discharged.

DISTRICT 3 state police charged Pollard with driving too fast for conditions. Pollard was in a state of shock, had multiple abrasions, and lacerations of the face, and was given plasma for loss of blood.

Admitted to the hospital Sunday was Astrid Erickson, 54, R. 1, Palatine, who lost control of his car on Illinois 53, turning the vehicle over when it hit a snow bank. Erickson was treated for abrasions suffered in the crash and was released.

On Saturday, Joy Mess, 19, of 1112 S. Plum Grove rd., Palatine, was admitted for treatment following a two-car smash-up on U.S. 14 a half mile east of Illinois 53.

She was cited by police for driving too fast for conditions after her car slid out of control while headed southeast on the highway, colliding with a car proceeding in the opposite lane driven by Robert W. Anderson, 34, of 221 S. Main, Virginia, Ill.

ANDERSON, his wife, Rosemary, 30, and their daughter, Audrdey, 4, were also injured in the mishap.

On Friday, a two-car pileup occurred on Arlington Heights state rd. just south of Illinois 68.

Taken to Northwest Community hospital was Nancy Martin, 45, of 3475 Tamarind dr., Northbrook, who was treated for a back contusion and discharged.

Police said a car driven by Arthur F. Franzen, 66, of 504 S. Belmont, Arlington Heights, struck a snowbank while he was proceeding north on Arlington Heights state rd. The Martin vehicle headed south, collided with Franzen's car. Police charged Franzen with driving too fast for conditions.

Business Women Form Area Group

Business and professional women of the northwest suburban area are invited to attend a brief "get acquainted" meeting at 8 p.m,. February 25, at the Mount Prospect state bank, 15 E. Busse.

Miss A. Zola Groves, president of the Illinois Federation of B&PWC, Miss Helen A. Ewing, chairman of district one, and members of the Park Ridge, B&PWC, the sponsoring club, will discuss the possibility of chartering a Heights chapter.

THE NATIONAL Business and Professional Women's club was organized in 1919 at the close of World War I, and is the largest organization of its kind, with a membership of some 174,000 women.

The federation objectives are:

To elevate the standards of women in business and in the professions.

To promote the interests of business and professional women.

To stimulate local organizations.

To bring about a spirit of co-operation among business and professional women.

To extend opportunities to business and professional women through education along lines of industrial, scientific, and vocational activities.

Career girls, married or single, are urged to become charter members of this club. The minimum number for organizing a new club is 25, with diversification of businesses and professions.

The meeting will be followed by refreshments served by the sponsoring club.

Marriage Licenses

Following couples were issued marriage licenses last week by County Clerk Edward J. Barrett:

Michael Cantwell, Arlington Heights, and Nancy Belter, 1718 W. Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights.

Donald Earhart and Sandra Schwank, 733 W. Hillcrest rd., Palatine.

Carl Granneman, 207 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, and Ada Helt, 702 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights.

Larry Bacon, Rt. 2, Box 64, Palatine, and Barbara Throne, 2856 N. Meade, Chicago.

Emil Pasvogel, 1032 E. Algonquin, Arlington Heights, and Mrs. Bertie Stagg, 424 S. Knight, Park Ridge.

Gerald Parker, 6520 N. Sayre, Chicago, and Josephine Badalamenti, 1719 E. Foundry rd., Mt. Prospect.

John Daichendt Jr., 544 E. Pine st., Bensenville, and Amanda Reid, 9517 Davis ave., Franklin Park.

Donald Hellweg, 7113 Ottawa, Chicago, and Donna Verheeck, 4 Elaine Circle West, Prospect Heights.

Robert Jones, 3510 Fremont, Rolling Meadows, and Marlene Lueth, 2671 Craig dr., Des Plaines.

SNOW AND ICE didn't keep these card players from the annual PTA card party held last Thursday in South and Miner junior high schools, where homemade candy, sandwiches, soft drinks and coffee added to everyone's enjoyment. One group of bridge players included Mrs. Robert Isaacson, Mrs. James Yates, Mrs. Oliver Stern and Mrs. Morry Schalen.

Undaunted by the snow storm last Tuesday evening, Dorothy and Don Ballard, 1241 N. Race, and their neighbors, Margay and John Wilmot, 1240 N. Race, ventured into downtown Chicago to have dinner at the Porterhouse room of the Sherman hotel, after which they enjoyed a preview performance of the new stage play, "Showboat", starring Carol Channing, at the Erlanger theatre.

Weather and illness prevented some of Diane's friends from joining her in a fourth birthday celebration, but attending the Valentine luncheon party last Saturday were her sisters, Mary Kay, Patricia, Christine and Eileen, and brother, Michael, as well as Nancy Jo and Barbara Jean Geer and Barbara Brown. Diane is the daughter of Dorothy and Bill Henneman, 1200 N. Chicago.

Finally having recovered from the flu, Phyllis, daughter of June and Kilburn Visk, 1334 N. Chicago, was able to entertain several girl friends at a luncheon party last Friday, in honor of her 10th birthday. Also on hand for birthday cake and ice cream were her brothers, Billy and Lawrence.

Marcy and Ted Micek, 1325 N. Chicago, entertained at a dinner party last Sunday, with their daughter, Pamela, as guest of honor. Wishing her many happy returns of the day, on her 11th birthday were her aunts, Miss Rose Micek and Mrs. Josephine Swiderski, and cousin, Louise, all of Chicago, her brother, Michael, and sister, Wendy.

A VALENTINE birthday party was held Sunday at the home of Donna and Jack Garland, 1317 N. Chicago, for their daughter, Debbie, 3, February 16. A buffet supper was served to guests, among whom were her brother, John, sister, Karen, paternal grandfather, Ed Garland, and maternal grandmother, Mrs. Mable Anderson, both of Des Plaines, along with aunts, uncles and cousins.

Friends of Bunny and Bill Reinhardt, 1414 N. Illinois, will be happy to learn that their son, Jamie, is at home now, recovering from his recent bout with pneumonia, and chicken pox, as well.

A unique birthday party was given Leslie, daughter of Sandy and David Yates, 1522 W. Oakton, in honor of her seventh birthday, same being a happy affair staged in entirety at the Evanston theatre. The lobby was transformed to meet the occasion, and Leslie's guests were bestowed hats, balloons, birthday cake and ice cream, candy, with a children's record being each guest's favor. Sharing in the fun, which included the matinee performance, was her sister, Lisa, and Ann and Tom Frisbie, Kathleen Brown, Tim Trummer, Donald Derrick, Barbara Battaglia, Sheryl Smith, and Sally Jo and Kathleen Lennon. Sandy received assistance in handling the lively group from Barbara's mother, Evelyn Battaglia. Unfortunately, Peter Glatz, Mary Jo Burkhardt, Jill Turner and Bobby Lussier were unable to be with the birthday celebrant.

Dorothy and Chuck Catlin and Dorothy and Dick Chase were recently entertained at the home of Jo and Les Rozdalovsky, 1321 N. Race. The couples enjoyed conversation, card playing and a late buffet snack.

THE ROZDALOVSKYS, with their children, Shirley and Mary Jo, spent the past weekend in Milwaukee, to help celebrate the 38th wedding anniversary of Jo's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph LaPresti. An anniversary dinner was held Saturday evening at the home of LaPrestis' son, Ned, and his family. Upon their return home Sunday, Jo, Les and the grandchildren were accompanied by Mrs. LaPresti, who remained for a week's visit.

A family birthday dinner party was held at the home of Margaret and John Noon, 1221 N. Chicago, last Monday, the celebrant being their 2-year-old son, Jonathan. Lending him a helping hand in blowing out the candles were his brothers, John Patrick and James.

A luncheon party, bearing out the Lincolnian theme, complete with American flags for each child, was given for Bobby, son of Jean and Ed Lussier, 1216 N. Chicago, last Friday. Honoring him on his seventh birthday were his brothers, Tommy, Jimmy and Eddie, as well as Gordon Heise, Michael Henneman, Doug Brown, Don Derrick, Terry, Michael, Dennis and Jimmy Reichert and Edward Paul. After birthday cake and ice cream, Bobby and his guests adjourned to the Prospect theatre, where they viewed the antics of the "Three Stooges."

Saturday evening a buffet dinner party, with another birthday cake and ice cream in evidence, was held for Bobby, with not only his brothers being present, but paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Lussier, and uncle, Robert, all of Glenview, and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Behan, Evanston, as well.

THE PREVALENCE of the flu bug left only one table of the regular monthly bridge group complete, but Dorothy Henneman, Carolyn Parkin and Mary Ann Geer enjoyed getting together at the home of Mary Funk, 1401 Clarendon, anyway for card playing, catching up on the neighborhood news and topped off with dessert and coffee.

The fourth birthday of Guy, son of Alice and Guy Eisenhuth, 1321 N. Chicago, was celebrated last Saturday at an afternoon party attended by Debbie Garland, Wendy Micek, Kevin Weiderhold, Kevin Corley, Mary Ann and Danny Healy, Cathy Cocker, Lori Martin, John Formhals, Ricky and Donna Kirstein and Ross Alexander. The children enjoyed birthday cake and ice cream and played games, with the boys taking along yo-yos and the girls taking home doll make-up kits as favors.

Eileen and Raymond Brown, 1504 W. Oakton, and their children, Marianne, Kathleen, Jimmy, Barbara, Ray and Peggy Ann, recently enjoyed a pleasant visit from Ray's aunts and uncles, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Higgins, Madison, Wis., and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Sweeney, Oregon, Wis. The latter had been in Chicago for several days catching up on some shopping and stage plays, and, of course, made it a point to spend some time with their nephew and his family.

Marianne, daughter of Mary Lou and Ray Crouch, 1228 N. Chicago, made her debut on television last Friday, when she, as a performer with the Tots and Teens dance group from Delores Eiler's, Arlington Heights, appeared in the Dutch dance act on Lunchtime Little Theatre program. At the studio with her were her mother, grandmother, Mrs. James Douglass, Rolling Meadows, and Marianne's weekend guest, former neighbor and playmate, Jean Crouch, Barrington. Upon conclusion of her guest appearance, Marianne and Jean were treated to lunch and the premier showing of the Walt Disney creation, "Toby Tyler".

KAREN LYNN, daughter of Joyce and Robert Anderson, 1234 N. Yale, was baptized Sunday at St. James Catholic church. Reverend John Lane officiated. Godparents are Joyce's cousin, Miss Judy Losch, Chicago, and her brother-in-law, Robert Mahaney, Miami, Fla., who was stood for by proxy by Judy's father, Ernest Losch of Chicago. A dinner party was held later in the day in honor of the occasion and present were Karen Lynn's sister, Kris, brother, Mark, grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Streich of Mt. Prospect, Mrs. Ebba Anderson, Schiller Park, and great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Streich, Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Losch and children, Judy, Patricia and Ernest Jr.

Donald, son of Alice and Richard Brown, 1413 N. Chicago, celebrated his eighth birthday Saturday afternoon. Wishing him many happy returns of the day were his sisters, Linda and Susan, Bruce Leckie, Linda Donath, Jack Hult, Thomas Ruprecht and David Leone. Billy Ross was unable to attend.

Jerri and Bill Rix, 1244 N. Chicago, and Betty and Bob Gumz, 1248 N. Chicago, enjoyed a performance of "Picnic" Saturday evening, ably presented by the Arlington Heights Village Theatre group at Prospect high school. An "after-the-theatre" snack was enjoyed at the Rixes' afterwards.

Pat and Bill Ross, 1252 N. Chicago, and their children, Billy and Cindy, braved the storm and travelled to St. Louis, Mo., to spend a long weekend with long-time friends, the Jack Cobb family. Highlight of a wonderfull time was attending a Valentine's dance Friday evening sponsored by the drama group to which the Cobbs belong.

The William Browns, 1211 N. Race, the Herbert Hommes, 1264 N. Race, and the Charles Dillmans, 1256 N. Chicago, enjoyed a formal Valentine's dance at the VFW Friday evening for the officers of the 45th brigade and their wives. The above-mentioned gentlemen are all stationed at the nearby nike base. The dance, which all agreed was a splendid affair, was concluded with the serving of an early morning breakfast.

A long week-end at hand, plus the fact that they had not yet visited Don's parents since the new year began, prompted Dorothy and Don Ballard, 1241 N. Race, to venture forth to Weyauwega, Wis., last Friday for a pleasant visit with his folks, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Ballard.

Illness and bad weather precluded grandparents, aunts and uncles from attending the family birthday party held Sunday for Susan, daughter of Pauline and John Noerenberg, 1235 N. Race. On hand, however, for the dinner party, complete with cake and ice cream, were her brothers, Johnny and Tommy, and aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Christy, Milwaukee, and Pauline's godfather, Thomas Fisekis, Chicago. Swingin' Squares

Swingin' Squares of Arlington Heights topped their own previous Jamboree attendance record January 30 when 310 couples tourned out for the fifth annual Jamboree of the club. Three halls had been provided for the expected crowd and they were filled to capacity. Six callers had been booked to rotate through the three halls and Don Finfrock, Bob and Zella Lewis, Bing Bengson, Clarence Preusen and Frank Green rotated like mad. The weather was fine and guests came from everywhere in the Chicago area. The Jamboree was a success.

A guest from Lima, Peru, Felix Bereglund was fascinated in seeing for the first time, modern American folk dancing at its best. He was especially impressed with the fact that people of all ages mixed so well as he watched teenagers and grandparents respond alike to the spirited calls. There were many high school couples in attendance and Mr. Bergelund now knows that American teenagers are not solely rock 'n' rollers.

He is associated with Sears, Roebuck and Co. and in our country to observe American life and customs. The Jamboree committee is pleased that he could be their guest and get still another view to the total picture of America he will carry with him.

CLUB OFFICERS thank all who helped make this dance such a tremendous success, with special thanks to the weatherman who saved the winter weather until February.

The next regular club dance will be held at the Recreation Park fieldhouse in Arlington Heights tomorrow night, starting at 8:30. As always, guests are welcome.

Yearlings

The Yearlings, a beginners square dance club, is holding a free dance Tuesday, Feb. 23, from 8 to 10:30 p.m. in Churchill school, Geneva rd., east of Bloomingdale rd., Glen Ellyn.

The event, being held for those who have never square danced, will feature Bill Shymkus, caller for the three clubs that sponsor the Yearlings, the Prairie Schooners of Wheaton, the Glen Ellyn Squares and the Downers Grove dance club.

Regular lessons will start in March on the second and fourth Tuesdays, to which the public is invited. Bob and Helen Johnson at MA 7-0223 or Bob and Vivian Kehoe at MO 8-8131 will supply further information.

FROM SHERWOOD

The Henry Moores, 1303 Watling, were in Cleveland over the weekend visiting friends. They also attended the initiation and installation of the Emblem club, which is affiliated with the Elks. Flying both ways, they were able to have a longer visit with their friends.

Now that the John Aulds, 1009 Watling, are back from their trip to Washington, D.C., they are reliving every mile of it. The VFW annual congressional dinner honoring the veterans in Congress brought them to Washington — John is very active in the VFW. They did a good deal of sightseeing while there, going to Mt. Vernon, Antietam and the battlegrounds and Harper's Ferry, where they lunched in an inn that dated back to 1843. Charlotte says the town hasn't changed much in 100 years and that the government has begun a 10-year restoration project called Mission 66 to restore many of the buildings to look as they did originally. Coming home they stopped overnight with his mother.

The N. R. Shumans, 1001 W. Clarendon, have had her mother, Mrs. Paul G. Johnson, with them for a week. Mrs. Johnson has been visiting her other daughter and family in Salinas, Cal., for six weeks and the Shumans were delighted to have her stop off here on her way home to Frederick, Wis.

FROM RIDGE PARK

Bill Frost, son of the William Frosts, 1225 W. Oakton, was home from Southern Illinois university, Carbondale, over the weekend. He took advantage of the mid-term to come up to see his folks.

The Dean Shumates, 717 N. Salem, had out-of-town guests from Janesville, Wis., over the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Dyer and thir son, Mitchell, came down to see them.

The weather didn't stop the Dick Bulinskis, 725 N. Kaspar, when they decided to drive down to Frankfort, Ky., over the weekend and see former Arlington Heighters, Florence and Casy Gordon. Dick had business in Lexington, so they drove to Frankfort first for a visit with the Gordons. Helen reports that their home is lovely and while they like it there, they still miss their friends here. The two families had brunch together Sunday before driving to the airport, where Helen and her children boarded a plane for home. Florence says they are half planning a trip up here in the spring.

MRS. WILBERT KEDROW, Mrs. Ray Thill, Mrs. Roy Martin and Mrs. James Shields made up a table of four for bridge at the PTA annual bridge recently. Their group went to Miner school for the evening and Mrs. Kedrow was lucky and came home with the plant that decorated their table.

Saturday the Kedrows joined the Newcomers Couples Pinochle club. An offshoot of the Newcomers club, this is a round robin for couples and will give many of the fellows opportunity to become better acquainted in the neighborhood.

Valentine's day coincided with St. John church winter picnic this year. The potluck supper featured the best recipes of the ladies of the church and from all reports they have some gourmets there. Hazel Landmeier won the temperature guesing contest when she set the temperature at 29 degrees at 4:30 that afternoon. The Arnold Koriaths were there, along with the Curt Briscoes, George Lurtzes, Roy Winkelmans, Frank Raicas, Don Vogels and Louise Mirs and her family.

RIDGE PARK was also well represented at the Mardi Gras held at the Methodist church Thursday and Friday evenings.

There was a double celebration at the Bill Colgroves', 811 N. Fernandez, Monday. Donnie's fourth birthday was February 9 and his sister, Diana was 5 February 14, so thy pooled their friends and had one big party. Laura Stebbins came and so did Janet and Bobby Chaplin, Karen and Sharon Sundquist, Betty, Bonny and Carol Carlson.

When the Alumni Association of the University of Chicago had their tea dance at the Polynesian Room of the Edgewater Beach hotel, the Tom McGoughs, 906 N. Illinois, were there enjoying the dancing and buffet of cantonese food.

Scott Garrison, son of Shirley and Jim Garrison, 716 N. Kaspar, celebrated his fourth birthday in grand style last Thursday afternoon. Since cowboys are dear to his heart, his mother hit upon the idea of making this a cowboy party and began by sending out brown construction paper invitations shaped like guns and all the guests joined in the spirit of the party by coming with their guns and cowboy hats. The cake, shaped like a log cabin, was surrounded by cowboys and Indians and if it weren't against a 4-year-olds principles to eat cake, they wouldn't have wanted to cut into this one. Patty Myslo joined the roundup, as well as David Peterson, Scott's cousin's from Rolling Meadows, Nancy and Gary Cole and Grant and Mark Cihlar. Mary Busse came over from next door to help with the party, making a big hit with the children, and having fun herself.

BECAUSE IT was Shirley's birthday Saturday, there was another celebration. Shirley and Jim went to Prospect high school to see the Village Theater play "Picnic." Zee and Gene Myslo, Gloria and Don Vogel, Margaret and Earl Busse and Peggy and Bob Cole joined them for the evening and they all came back to the Busse house for pizzas afterward.

Marge Lurtz had an unusually nice weekend. She went to St. John's Military academy in Delafield, Wis., to attend the military ball with Allan Bonn of Arlington Heights. Mr. and Mrs. George Schaefer, whose son, Bill, is a student there, invited Marge to join them for the weekend, which was packed with outdoor fun besides the dance. Marge is the daughter of Lil and George Lurtz, 909 N. Patton.

Reports are coming back that the Ridge Park dance Saturday night at the VFW hall was just what everyone needed to perk up the winter lull. The hall was attractively decorated with a Valentine theme and besides good music the place abounded with good neighborliness. Patton ave. was well represented with a cocktail party beforehand to send everyone off to the dance in good spirits.

Many of those who went to the donkey basketball game at the high school Friday night are still laughing. Given by the Boosters club, several of the Ridge Parkers were real stars of the evening, including Dick Hosang, who won a race on the mechanical donkey and really starred in the basketball game on the back of a live donkey. Lil Lurtz says that her husband George's donkey must have been dead, but refused to lay down, but Ed Oja, led Elstee and Gene Wells accounted for themselves pretty well. Jerry Mockenhaupt was quite busy that evening, too, but it didn't seem to impair his dancing the following night.

LA VERNE AND DICK Lavers, 940 N. Fernandez, joined the Earle Auges and the Bob Bukowskis last Saturday night for the Fred Waring concert at th Opera house. They finished off the vening by going back to the Bukowskis for pizzas. Last Friday was LaVerne and Dick's 11th wdding anniversary and this was a nice way of celebrating.

Saturday Helen Polites, 914 N Salem, gave a bridal luncheon for her sister, Barbara Economou, at the home of her mother in Chicago. Helen will be matron of honor and her daughter will be flower girl at Barbara's wedding. Two Ridge Parkers were included in the 30 guests: Elsie Sornsen and Sophie Machas. Elsie made the bride cake for th table dcoration and from all the oohs and aahs that were heard that afternoon, Elsie could go in the business.

Barbara and Glen Rubenking, 948 N. Fernandez, had a nice visit with college friend, Col. Dan McClelland, and his son, Tom, when they spent the night with the Rubenkings recently. Col. McClelland is with the ROTC at the University of Illinois. Mrs. Charles Parvin and her children spent Sunday with them, too.

It was a busy weekend for Marge and Gene Schlickman, 712 N. Fernandez. Saturday evening they went with friends to see the Village Theater's production of "Picnic" and brought them back to their house for coffee and cake afterward. Sunday they went to Rockford to spend Valentine's day with the grandparents.

A note of sympathy is extended to the family of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin H. Guenther, 802 N. Kaspar, in the recent death of her father.

The Werner Beckers, 1004 N. Ridge, had a pleasant surprise Monday when his parents, the Albert Beckers of Northrop, Minn., dropped in on them unexpectedly.

VALENTINE'S DAY meant a party for the Fernandez ave. folks Saturday night at the home of Al Schmidt and his mother, Marie. It was also Al's birthday and after the crowd sang happy birthday they presented him with gifts for his new bar in the basement. There were drinks, food, games and movies of their New Year's eve party. Len and Lynn Sundquist, Bob and Dottie Chaplin, Sig Splitsberger, Gil and Fran Stebbins, Jim and Doris Kelly, Sam and Dorothy Ungaro and Ken and Joy Tollstam were there.

Sympathy is extended to the Dick Platts in the death of his grandmother.

The Ridge Parkers who went to the Community Concert at the high school Sunday night are still talking about the soloist for the evening: Camilla Williams. Not only did she have a beautiful voice, unusual control and a selection of music to please the most critical, she also had a delightful stage appeal.

Ann and Joe Pecoraro, 727 N. Kennicott, attended a dinner last Thursday evening given by the Village of Mt. Prospect for its employees. The Charles O'Dors were also there. Joe and Mrs. O'Dor are employed by the village of Mt. Prospect. Saturday evening Ann and Joe attended the dance given by the Foresters at Rand Park. Their son, Mickey, likes these affairs too, because it means movies and games for the children. (A

TIME OUT IS TAKEN from bridge game to purchase homemade candy from Mrs. Richard Brady, member of committee that served 925 card players February 11 at annual Arlington Heights PTA card party. Mrs. Irving Johnson and Mrs. James Mason were among players who couldn't resist the luscious candy sold throughout the evening. Local merchants donated hundreds of additional gifts for the affair.

Local Bus Service Slated in 2 Suburbs

An exclusive franchise for local bus service in Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows has been issued to United Motor Coach company by the Illinois Commerce Commission.

The operating certificate also calls for service linking the two towns and replaces a temporary authorization under which United took over three local routes abandoned without warning in March, 1959, by Harvel Motor Coach company.

United Motor Coach, established in 1927, has the "necessary equipment and facilities and personnel, and managerial ability, and is otherwise well qualified to conduct the operations proposed herein," the ICC order states.

SERVICE TO Rolling Meadows will include direct connections to United's suburban bus service between Arlington Hts., Des Plaines, and Chicago on one hand and Evanston on the other hand, and intermediate points.

The routes covered in the order issued last week are Scarsdale, Arlington Park, and Rolling Meadows runs.

Average daily gross revenue is $20.80 on the operations and average daily operating cost is $14.18, according to company records. Its systemwide operating costs are 45.75 cents per mile.

THE ROLLING Meadows run of United will not be competitive to Schaumburg Transportation company, the ICC said. Schaumburg Transportation, motor bus carrier between Roselle and Palatine, also provides service to a point within one-half mile east of Rolling Meadows shopping center via Kirchoff road from Illinois Highway 53.

Schaumburg Transportation is restricted by terms of its state charter from transporting any passengers whose point of origin and destination both are within Rolling Meadows, the commission noted.

The ICC franchise order has no effect on any contract negotiated by school districts for transportation of students by bus. Such service is classified as chartered operations not subject to commission certificates of convenience and necessity.

United's application for the franchise was supported by the testimony of the village manager of Arlington Heights, the president of the Arlington Hts. chamber of commerce, and a member of the major's transit committee of the city of Rolling Meadows.

HIGHLIGHTS OF their testimony included statements that the service alleviates the parking problem and traffic congestion in the central business district of Arlington Heights and also provides the only public transportation service between the two municipalities and the Arlington Heights depot of the Chicago and North Western railway.

Expansion of the Rolling Meadows route to bring bus service closer to about 300 persons in the Owl lane area of the city also was approved in the commission order. This route will run via Campbell street, Cardinal and Owl lanes, Kirchoff road, Flicker lane, and return in Campbell street to the North Western station. It formerly operated via Campbell, Cardinal lane, and Sigwalt street.

CHANGES IN local routes later may be changed without commission approval. Streets on which buses travel on three routes follow, all starting from the intersection of Campbell street, Evergreen avenue, and Davis street in Arlington Hts.:

ROLLING MEADOWS run: West on Campbell street to Cardinal lane in Rolling Meadows, south on Cardinal lane to Owl lane, southwest on Owl lane to Kirchoff road, northwest on Kirchoff road to Flicker lane, north on Flicker lane to Campbell street, east on Campbell street to Wilke road, north on Wilke road to Northwest highway, southeast on Northwest highway to Illinois street in Arlington Heights, north on Illinois street to Oakton street, east on Oakton street to Patton avenue, south on Patton avenue to Northwest highway, southeast on Northwest highway to Evergreen avenue and south on Evergreen avenue to the place of beginning.

ARLINGTON PARK run: North on Evergreen avenue to Northwest highway, northwest on Northwest highway to Patton avenue, north on Patton avenue to Oakton street, west on Oakton street to Illinois street, south on Illinois street to Northwest highway, northwest on Northwest highway to Wilke road in Rolling Meadows, south on Wilke road to Campbell street, west on Campbell street to Cardinal lane, south on Cardinal lane to Owl lane, southwest on Owl lane to Kirchoff road, northwest on Kirchoff road to Flicker lane, north on Flicker lane to Campbell street, east on Campbell street to the place of beginning.

SCARSDALE run: South on Evergreen avenue to Sigwalt street, east on Sigwalt street to State road, south on State road to Rockwell street, east on Rockwell street to Lincoln lane, north on Lincoln lane to Park street, west on Park street to State road, north on State road to Davis street, northwest on Davis street to the place of beginning.

A ZANY REVUE will be presented Thursday, Feb. 18 at 8 p. m. by 32 women starring in a musical skit entitled "Program Madness." The revue is a feature of annual "Men's Night" program of St. James Catholic Women's guild, Arlington Heights. Max Loick, staff member of Arlington Music school, 10 W. Campbell, and Mrs. Mary McCormack Best, of Arlington Heights, are accompanist and director, respectively, of the show. Among featured performers are Ellen Janda, Barbara Kiesa, Betty Yochem, Norma Barnes, Lorraine Stefanick, Mary Jane Miller, Pat Haney, Maureen May, Joan Schaeffer, Mary McGough, Florence Gregg, and Margo Grosspietsch.

State Auditor Issues Manual

State Auditor Elbert S. Smith announced this week his office has begun distribution of an accounting manual which is designed to aid Illinois communities in fulfilling their obligations under the Illinois Municipal Auditing Law.

The manual, "Suggested Accounts and Accounting Procedures for Municipalities," outlines a standardized minimum chart of accounts and supplies instructions with specimen accounting forms.

Smith said the manual "is directed basically toward an attempt to meet the needs of small municipalities whose officials may not have an extensive knowledge of municipal accounting requirements, or of maintaining the bookkeeping or accounting records of a municipality."

"THIS MANUAL," he said, "applies the basic principles of accounting procedures set up by the National Committee on Governmental Accounting. Basic accounting records, maintained in conformity with generally accepted municipal accounting principles, are the first requisite in meeting the requirements of the Municipal Auditing Law."

Smith credited the nine-member Municipal Audit Advisory Board with designing and compiling the publication. The board members, who serve without pay, are: Lawrence W. Rotz, Decatur, chairman; Cecil D. Rigg, Peoria; Fred P. Jones, Sterling; Wayne Pollard, Rockford; Clayton J. Schlosser, Alton; Rolland E. Craig, Danville; John Glenn, Beardstown; Harris Rowe, Jacksonville, and Lee R. Fleming, Zion.

The manual is another in a series of publications issued by Smith's office aimed at assisting officials in preparing audits and reports required by the Municipal Auditing Law.

THIS LAW requires municipalities operating a public utility to have their records audited annually. Those not operating a public utility must have the audit made in each odd-numbered year, covering a two-year period. Communities with less than 500 population and not operating a public utility may, in lieu of an audit, submit a simplified, uniform financial report to the Auditor which does not require professional accounting services in its preparation.

During Smith's term the municipal auditing program has been materially strengthened and improved. In each of the last two years required reports of fiscal condition were received from every incorporated municipality in the State. Prior to that time this had never been accomplished.

Metro Planner to Address Engineers

Paul Oppermann, executive director of the Northeast Illinois Metropolitan Area Plan commission, will be the featured speaker at the Friday, Feb. 18 meeting of the Northwest Suburban chapter, Illinois Society of Professional Engineers.

"Metropolitan Planning" as related to suburbs will be the title of his talk at the Old Orchard country club. A cocktail hour and dinner at 6:30 p.m. will precede the talk, announces William L. Berk, Mt. Prospect, suburban chapter president.

THE EVENT helps mark National Engineers' Week, proclaimed by President Dwight D. Eisenhower Feb. 21-27, and will be accentuated by displays of posters in high schools, book displays in five libraries and other means.

A total of 90 members from the Northwest Suburban chapter include a majority from Palatine, Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Des Plaines, and others from Itasca, Roselle and Barrington.

Reservations for the dinner can be made by calling Ken Cook at VA 4-6427.

All professional engineers of the Northwest suburban area were invited to participate.

PURPOSE OF the National Engineers Week is to salute the contributions made by the engineering profession to America's technological development.

"Theme for this week," wrote President Eisenhower, " 'Engineering's Great Challenge—The 1960's' points to the demands of the coming decade.

"The unprecedented requirements for excellence, for high performance, and for public service must be met if we are to continue to grow in scientific achievement. In encouraging our young people to prepare for careers in science and engineering, we strengthen the base for further advances." (A13

Soloist Charms Concert Crowds

by MARJORIE BEU
Arlington High Music Dept.

Community Concert members were given a treat Sunday evening when they assembled for the third of the season's concerts and one discovered that this was a concert by a truly superb artist, with a natural, beautiful voice possessing finesse of interpretation and graciousness of personality.

Miss Williams' first group of Handel's "O Had I Jubal's Lyre" from Joshua, Haydn's Rect. and Air from "The Creation," and Purcell's "Hark! the Ech'ing Air" showed an unusual flexibility with a preciseness of notation. These were especially well suited to her voice.

Her second group of German Lieder by Brahms displayed her skill in the interpretation of music that demands finesse and subtlety and an ability to understand and interpret well.

CAMMILLA Williams concluded the first half of the program with "Un Bel Di" from "Madame Butterfly" by Puccini, giving a superb rendition of this beautiful aria. One thrilled to her virtuosity, and was amazed at her generosity in encores. At the end of this half, she delighted her audience with the very gay "Hi Ho, Hi Hi" by Benjamin Britten.

Mr. Mallory, the accompanist for the evening, played the "First Arabesque" of Debussy. His rendition was the dreamy impressionistic color that one expects in Debussy's music. "Toccata" Khachaturian, the second of his solos lacked brilliance and fire that one might expect.

OUR SOLOIST displayed her excellence in languages when she sang her French group of songs equally as well as her German and English. The "Jewel Song" from Faust by Gounod was excellent, was followed by an encore: this time, "Cher mon Laime Toi," a Louisiana folk tune.

Her sensitive interpretation of "Nancy Hanks" by K. K. Davis left one in a mood, unfortunately the difficult accompaniment of "Miranda" by Hageman was not played in a manner that helped. The conclusion of the concert with spirituals was satisfying. (B8

Hospitals Facing Nurse Shortage

Opening of two new hospitals in the northwest suburbs, Northwest Community at Arlington Heights and Lutheran General at Park Ridge, has thrown a spotlight on the desperate shortage of nurses which threatens to strangle the whole program of health care. This shortage exists everywhere, but it is especially acute in places where new hospital beds are being created.

Fine, new hospital facilities which were built at great cost and effort are actually standing idle in the Chicago area because of this bottleneck.

THE GREAT need has led to a steady improvement in nurses' salaries, which is all to the good. However, salary increases are necessarily slow in coming because hospitals are non-profit institutions where increased payroll is immediately reflected in cost to the patient.

The greatest reserve of nursing skills is among married women who have retired from active duty to care for their own families. At present refresher courses are being organized by hospitals in order to draw back into service women who have been absent from their profession for some time. The Women's Service league of Lutheran General hospital is undertaking what amounts to a house-to-house canvass to find nurses to meet the emergency.

PRESENT SCHOOLS of nursing cannot meet the great responsibility of training new nurses. Lutheran General will soon be opening the first school of nursing to be established in the northwest suburbs. A new building is being readied on the hospital grounds on Dempster st. This school will be accredited from the first because it is an extension of the Lutheran Deaconess school of nursing at present operating in Chicago at 1138 N. Leavitt st. Hospital leaders say that development of suburban schools is important in drawing new people into the nursing profession because many girls hesitate to go into the blighted areas of the city where most of our present schools are located.

However, the Lutheran General school can accommodate only 100 students, and the enrollment is already at the maximum figure. The board of trustees is seeking the funds to double the size of this school as quickly as possible. The graduates would serve all hospitals in the northwest area. Enlarging the school would be a solid move in filling a need which will become increasingly acute as more hospitals are built.

Local Fives Cop Walther Loop Games

Local teams each won their games in last Sunday's Walther league basketball.

In the first contest St. Paul of Mt. Prospect defeated Immanuel of Des Plaines, 61-46. St. Paul again spread its scoring among Cosman with 18, Freitag with 16, and Koester with 11.

In the second game of the afternoon St. Peter of Arlington Heights regained second place by dumping Our Savior of Norwood Park, 44-38. High scorers for St. Peter were Beckman with 18 and Hartman with 8.

Lady Chess Player Faces Fifty Males

One woman against 50 men. This is the situation in the new Northwest Chess club, where the first woman chessplayer joined the club at its fifth weekly session Feb. 12. Ten more men also joined, raising the total to 50.

MRS. PEARL Klotzin, 228 James st., Barrington, immediately was caught up in a round-robin club tournament that will pit her, at least once, against each of the men.

The tournament was introduced as a means of rating the strength of the chessplayers. This enables duffers, for example, to know who to avoid if they want to win a game.

Whether a game is to be a tournament or a social game is decided by two players when they sit down at a board. Twenty-four tournament games were played at the last club meeting.

Mrs. Kletzin won at least one social game, but in the single tournament game she lost to Willard Peterson, 8540 Roseview dr., Niles, a member of the club's organizing committee.

PETERSON's sons, John and William, also are accomplished players in the club.

Women chessplayers who are willing to join Mrs. Kletzin in an attempt to checkmate the men are invited to attend club sessions, as are any other persons of the Northwest area who are interested in the game.

The club has a membership representing 11 Northwest communities. It is meeting Friday evenings, from 7 o'clock, in the Park Ridge YMCA, 1515 Touhy. Further information may be obtained from Emery Hutchison, TAlcott 3-0273. (B8

Park District Adds Two New Judo Classes

Two new Judo classes have been arranged on Tuesday nights by the Arlington Heights park district. One class for boys in the 5th through 8th grades will meet at 7 p.m. and the class for high school boys and adults will meet at 8:30 p.m.

Both classes will be held at Pioneer park beginning March 1. Marlin Toffel, a black belt judo society member, will instruct the groups in falls, throws and parries.

The classes were set up to handle the overflow from the Monday and Wednesday classes taught by Mits Shioji. Although they are partly filled registration is open, so boys and men may sign up until the classes reach the maximum of twenty students. There is a $4.00 instruction fee for the eight-week course. Interested students may sign up by visiting the Pioneer park office or by phoning CL 3-0620.

Along the Camp Fire Trail

by Dorothy Schomburg — CLearbrook 3-7017

Scouting's 50th

Saturday brought to a close the local observance of Boy Scout week, but it also marked the beginning of a year-long program to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America. On this special occasion, the Camp Fire Girls and Blue Birds extend congratulations to the Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorer Scouts.

Pioneers

Every girl, every group and every district is invited to join the treasure hunt for the "Pioneer of the Golden Trail." An all out effort is being made to locate women who were Camp Fire Girls when the program was young, between 1910 and 1935. These women will be honored at the district Golden Jubilee celebration in January of 1961.

Also needed for exhibits in the districts, and council-wide, are pieces of original costumes, bloomers or blouses. Perhaps some of the "Pioneers" will have costumes and Camp Fire books they are willing to share.

NAMES OF the "Pioneers" and any articles of apparel they are willing to lend should be turned in to district Jubilee chairmen. Chairmen for the northwest districts are: Mrs. George Sidor, 1504 S. Belmont, Arlington Heights; Mrs. E. Matys, 200 Berkshire, Mt. Prospect; Mrs. Merritt Giles, rt. 3, Box 326, Palatine; and Mrs. Robert Wills, 288 Washington blvd., Hoffman Estates, Roselle.

Hoffman Estates

Newest of the new groups in Hoffman Estates, Roselle, is the Sundrops, a second grade Blue Bird group from Hoffman school. Meeting every Monday in the all-purpose room of the school, the 12 girls, under the leadership of Mrs. William Ricker, have been active in the junior program of Camp Fire since mid-November.

Their Blue Bird pinning ceremony was held February 1 at the school in the presence of the mothers. During the candle-lighting ceremony, the moms pinned their daughters, as the Blue Bird Wish was spoken in unison. Blue Bird songs and a sock puppet show completed the day's program.

THE BLUE BIRDS are now looking forward to the PTA Fun Fair to be held Sunday, March 20, when the Sundrops will share a display booth with the Aowakiya and Ocowasin Camp Fire Girls.

Six new Trail Seekers from the Aowakiya and Ocowasin Camp Fire groups passed rank at the January 30 council of awards in Arlington Heights. They are: Janet Balogh, Gail Behnke, Geraldine Doretti, Claudette Schutte, Janice Slahor, and Nancy Zimmerman. Each girl received her certificate of rank, the Trail Seeker's charm and five purple beads at the groups' February 5 council fire.

Thirteen other members, who had completed Trail Seeker requirements at an earlier awards council, received their rank at the groups' first ceremonial. Focal point of the council fire was the lighting of the Golden Jubilee candle, theme candle for the 50th anniversary of Camp Fire Girls. In this, the Golden Jubilee year, the symbolic torch will burn brightly and serve as a constant reminder of the Jubilee project, "The World Around Her — She Cares, Do You?"

Serving as flag bearers, the Aowakiya and Ocowasin Camp Fire Girls took part in the presentation of the colors during Wednesday evening's PTA meeting at Hoffman school.

Mt. Prospect

Mrs. Jack Walter's Bright Blue Birds, third grade group from Fairview school entertained the Jolly Blue Birds, another third grade group, at a valentine party February 9 in Mrs. Walter's home. Mrs. G. H. Carlson, former co-leader and now sponsor of the Jolly Blue Birds, was a guest as was Mrs. Ralph Perkins and Mrs. G. Wallies, present leaders. The Bright Blue Birds made heart-shaped baskets for table favors and place cards were in the form of pipe cleaner dolls with heart-shaped bodies and heads. Mrs. Walters and co-leader, Mrs. George Schaefer supervised the twenty girls during the playing of two games.

RECENT activities of the Bright Blue Birds have included a trip to the Lutheran Home for the Aged in Arlington Heights where the group presented the home with 140 napkin rings and napkins they had made in numerous meeting hours. The Blue Birds also made and sent a huge Santa Claus card to their adopted "Grandmas and Grandpas" at Christmas time. At present the group is planning a tour of the Salerno Biscuit Co.

Arlington Heights

Dividing into two groups, members of the Bonnie Blues Blue Birds enjoyed a baking session February 1 in the homes of Mrs. E. W. Johnson and Mrs. Robert Agnes. Each group made cupcakes for its February 8 valentine party. The special occasion held at Mrs. Agnes' home was a tea party to which the mothers were invited. The girls surprised their moms with valentine gifts they had made at a previous meeting.

Home Building Is Brisk in Suburbs

Arlington Heights was among top leaders in home building during the month of January this year, ranking 10th with 15 homes, valued at $319,500, a Bell Savings survey reveals.

The survey also indicates a comparison of the northwest suburban area in building of all types during January, 1960, as opposed to January, 1959 and December, 1959.

FOR EXAMPLE, Addison building was valued at $215,500 this January, compared with $254,000 during January of last year and $39,500 in December of last year.

How did others fare? Arlington Heights notes $736,775 opposed to $452,550 and $555,360; Barrington totaled $20,830, $116,450 and $318,485; Bensenville, $112,000, $54,500 and $191,800; Elk Grove, none, $95,000 and $43,350.

Mt. Prospect, $201,900, $84,700 and $281,346; Palatine, $2,490, $383,171 and $539,847; Rolling Meadows, $112,390, $156,194 and $89,366; Roselle, $84,000, $134,000 and $236,700 and Wheeling $22,950, $146,100 and $208,250.

Building of homes in January of this year as compared with January of last year revealed Addison with 13 homes valued at $214,000, as opposed to last year's six homes valued at $83,000.

ELSEWHERE, this is how it looked: Arlington Heights, 15 homes valued at $319,500, compared with 19 valued at $393,050; Barrington, one at $17,000, compared with six at $114,500; Bensenville, two at $26,000, compared with five at $54,500.

Elk Grove, none both years; Mt. Prospect, eight at $196,500, compared with five at $83,500; Palatine, none, compared with five at $73,000; Rolling Meadows, seven at $112,390, compared with nine at $145,000; Roselle, four at $84,000, compared with five at $89,000, and Wheeling, one at $19,900, compared with 10 at $143,000.

During January, 1960, 40 apartment unit permits were issued in Arlington Heights, and were valued at $218,900.

Wayside Five Falls in Title Contest, 27-25

In a very closely contested game Sunday for the championship of Notre Dame High School's grade school basketball tourney, Our Lady of the Wayside's quintet was defeated 27-25 by Queen of All Saints of Chicago. Wayside was undefeated in regular tourney play.

In games played earlier that day at Crystal Lake, Wayside's varsity team defeated St. Thomas varsity 42-24 while St Thomas' junior varsity defeated Wayside's juniors 29-20.

Joe Mueller led his varsity team in the scoring column at Crystal Lake and also at Notre Dame while Bob Connors and Charlie Heinrich led the junior varsity against St.

Parents to Learn Of Junior High

Ways to meet the challenge confronting parents and educators serving today's junior highs will be discussed Thursday, Feb. 25, at 8 p.m. at the Algonquin junior high school, Des Plaines.

Donald Grote will set the stage by presenting long range goals for consideration by the parents, teachers and administrators present. Principal of the new Skiles Junior High school in Evanston, he was previously principal of the South Junior High school, in Arlington Heights for four years. Before this assignment, he was principal of a junior-senior high school in St. Louis suburban area.

GROTE RECEIVED his bachelor's degree from Eastern State university and his masters degree from the University of Illinois and is presently a part time instructor at the Roosevelt university, teaching a course in school administration.

Well qualified to speak to the parents and educators of the junior high student, for he is presently serving a second three year term as a member of the Curriculum Committee of the Illinois Association of Secondary School Principals. Also he is past president of the Illinois Junior High School Principals association.

A participant in a number of national educational conferences, he will give a presentation on "New Developments in the Educational Program of Junior High Schools" in the national convention of the Secondary School Principals association in Portland, Ore. on Feb. 29.

This meeting will be in the charge of Mrs. Arnold LoMar, Evanston, Junior High and High School Service Ass't., PTA Dist. 21. (B8

Prospect JV's Dump Lake Park Quintet, 73-55

Four players hit double figures with Tom Polzin netting 23 Monday afternoon as Prospect's junior-varsity quintet humbled Lake Park, 73-55.

Both clubs experienced some hot shooting in the opening two period with the Knights holding a 35-31 lead.

Prospect gradually pulled away in the final half, outscoring the Lancers, 38-24.

John Stevenson and Larry Wheelright sparked the losers with 18 and 16 points respectively.

In a game Saturday morning Prospect dropped a 55-47 decision to East Leyden's unbeaten JVs, but Bob Hoese's Knights gained the victory when it was later discovered that the Eagles had used an ineligible player.

'Universal Magnetism'

Palatine Mayor Sits On Political Hotspot

Mayor, Howard S. Olsen

(Third of A Series)

by NATALIE MEYER

A "rugged individualist" and a "mild-mannered music teacher" have been described in the first two parts of this series on our suburban mayors.

Palatine's village president, Howard I. Olsen, is perhaps a blend of the two. Although his tone of voice is mild, he often is keeping superb control of his temper in one of the toughest political hotspots in the northwest suburbs.

His village board, now lacking one trustee, moves at a slow pace, as three members of the People's Economy party can be counted upon to gang up on Olsen's two cohorts in the Good Government party.

The result during the past year of Olsen's term has been inaction, or action slowed to a snail's pace. Economy is admittedly an appealing word to the voter and taxpayer, but a stunning blow it was in April, 1959, when every candidate on Olsen's ticket went down. He was left with a board split three-three which became a 3-2 with one trustee's resignation in December.

IN FACE OF these odds, Olsen maintains a calm tone of voice at his Monday night semi-monthly board meetings. When things don't move as fast as he would like, his voice registers disappointment. He chews his gum more vehemently. Seldom does he fly off the handle.

Olsen admits that moderating the board is not as much fun as it used to be during his first years as village president -- an office he has held since 1955.

Though the campaign of the Good Government party didn't have appeal last April, Olsen himself seems to have a universal magnetism. He was the first president of the Northwest Municipal conference, a group of village presidents and managers that serves eight towns from Barrington to Park Ridge. He served on three important committees at the Illinois Municipal league annual meeting last November. From this meeting, he emerged as a League vice president. He is an ardent supporter of the "DAMP" Water commission.

These activities are silent, but time-consuming testimony that Palatine's president is vitally interested in his town's position in a bigger picture -- that of the whole Northwest suburban community.

OLSEN FORESEES grand things for Municipal conference towns as an organized group -- such things as exchange and/or common ownership of equipment and long range plans. His concept of the Conference is something like the United Nations of the Northwest suburbs.

For Palatine, he said he thought the greatest step taken during his term was the creation of a master plan and the adoption of a subdivision control ordinance related to the plan. This gives village officials a concrete place to look for areas that have the greatest need for municipal services and what the future growth pattern of the village should be.

For Palatine, Olsen said the biggest problem was meeting the needs for municipal services that increase every day with the growth of the village. Most pressing roadblock now is lack of industry, causing an insufficient and inequitable tax base, causing a deepening village debt, causing the rise of the Economy party.

To help raise the tax base of Palatine, Olsen has worked through the board to appoint an Industrial committee as a board advisor. It is this committee that is trying to coordinate the services Palatine can offer industry; then go out and sell industry on the advantages of the town.

THUS THE LEADER of Palatine continues working, trying to nudge his trustees to action, trying to keep up with the growth of the once quiet farming community. He also puts in many hours representing the village at ceremonial functions.

He proudly says he has never turned down a request to open a new store, pin on a scout award, or similar civic activity.

His Saturdays are usually devoted to village business. Often he schedules two meetings, Saturday morning, with a board committee, a citizen group, county, or state officials.

This doesn't leave much time for leisure or recreation. But if a moment is present, Olsen enjoys bowling and painting. He has just started working in oils. He also does w a tercolors. Landscapes are his favorite subject.

EVERY DAY he leaves his wife, Dorothy, and four children, Brian, 17, Barbara, 13, Bradley, 11, and Beverly, 9, to go to the Loop. His position is assistant personnel director for the William Wrigley, Jr., company. Olsen has lived in Palatine about 12 years.

That leadership is a natural in the Olsen family can be seen from the fact that Brian is president of Palatine high school's student council, this year. Bradley is president of the Pleasant Hill school student council, and Barbara is treasurer of that group.

What the election year, 1961, holds for President Olsen is a silent subject. Most think that six years will have been enough; that Olsen will pass his gavel on to another.

Study of the Church For Women's Guild

A study of the Lutheran church is this year's educational topic for the monthly meetings of the five circles of Our Saviour's Women's guild. Mrs. John Petersen and Mrs. Edgar Neas, guild educational co-chairmen, have formulated the year's program, which will include the Lutheran church's history in Europe, the Reformation, development in America, theological concepts and conflicts, and the future Lutheran merger.

Topic for the February circle meetings next week will be the historical and religious basis of the Reformation. Circle I, meeting Monday, Feb. 22, at 8 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Robert Chaney, will have Mrs. Larry Anderson as program leader Circle III meets Tuesday, Feb. 23, at 8 p.m., with Mrs. William Granell, hostess, and Mrs. Eugene Baker, program leader.

CIRCLE IV will meet Wednesday, Feb. 24, at 1 p.m., with Mrs. Albert Roggenbuck as program leader, and Mrs. Richard Glantz, hostess. Circle V, which has been added this year will meet Wednesday, Feb. 24, at 9:30 a.m., with Mrs. Anne Snyder as both hostess and program leader. Circle II met earlier this month at the home of Mrs. Richard Roeing, with Mrs. Henry Kastens as program leader.

Mrs. Earl Snodgrass, Christian service chairman for the guild, has scheduled two sewing and baking days in February at the church. Projects completed at these sessions will be given to area rest homes, Lutheran charities and needy community residents. (A

Jury Finds Youth Guilty of Charge

A 19-year-old youth was found guilty of indecent exposure and fined $50 in Wheeling Police court Saturday.

The six-man jury heard prosecution witnesses charge that Nicky Kotsonaros exposed himself to two Arlington Heights high school girls last October 16. Witnesses for the state included the girls, the mother of one girl, and two police officers, who said the offense was committed near State rd. and Oakton st. in Arlington Heights.

KOTSONAROS, with a record of other sex offenses, was represented by Attorney Peter Tatooles of Chicago. Defense witnesses included the boy's mother and a neighbor.

Jurymen included Foreman Joseph McGrath, Deerfield; Peter Belpulsi, Walter Berandlein, and Richard Gurney, Wheeling; Clevard Diggs, Deerfield; and William Masters, Chicago.

The trial, which lasted over four hours, was heard in Police Magistrate Ted C. Scanlon's courtroom.

Round 'n About Westgate

Robert Howard of New York spent last weekend visiting friends, Gianna and Gordon Riefstahl, 204 S. Yale.

Gordon Riefstahl, a major in the Army Reserve, acted as an usher at a luncheon at the 5th Army headquarters in Chicago last week. The luncheon was for 26 generals from all parts of the United States. Sen. Douglas was one of the main speakers.

John Albert, infant son of Helen and Albert Bak, 1618 Johanna terr., was christened last Sunday at Our Lady of the Wayside church. Al's cousin and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Dombrowski acted as godparents. After the ceremony a turkey dinner was served at the Bak residence. Al's aunts, Mrs. Helen Dombrowski and Mrs. Clara Kostecki, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Scott and their twin daughters, Clara and Leslie, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ewanic and children, Michael and Cindy, and the Irvin Dombrowskis' daughter, Jandy, were invited for the day.

A party for the immediate family, including a birthday cake, was held last Friday for Janie, daughter of Phyllis and Jim Fitzpatrick, 501 N. Yale, who was one. Sharing the fun were her sister, Judy, and brothers, Jim, Jack and David.

STEVE CONZETT, 5 last Sunday, shared his birthday cake with his sisters, Susan and Lynn, brother, Larry, and his grandmother, Mrs. Cora Kaska, whose birthday also was Sunday. Steve is the son of Betty and Bud Conzett, 303 S. Yale.

Arlene Hauth, 512 N. Yale, had a farewell kaffee-klatsch last Tuesday morning for Lillian Holby. Bidding good-bye to their neighbor of one year were Elsie Johnson, Joanne Miller and Helen Backus. Phyllis Wrobel was unable to attend due to illness in the family. John and Lillian Holby and their children, Karen, John and Michael, have moved back to Evanston, where they resided before moving to 511 N. Yale.

Jackie and George Rudolphy, 1507 St. James, and their children, Chuckie and Patricia Ann, dined at Wellers, Morton Grove, Sunday to celebrate Patricia Ann's first birthday.

EVELYN AND Harry Wood, 307 N. Wilke, and their sons, Terry and Denny, spent last weekend visiting Evelyn's mother, Mrs. Eugene Chapman, Portage, Wis. Also present for the weekend were her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Chapman, Citrus Heights, Cal.

Rose and Joe Conroy, 32 N. Reuter, were among nine couples who attended a Valentine party last Saturday at the home of Rose's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dohn in Park Ridge.

Richard, 16-month-old son of Jean and Joe Bellina, 123 N. Reuter, spent five days last week in St. Joseph, hospital, Elgin, suffering from a severe case of the flu. He is now home and well on the road to recovery.

Ann and James Wroe, 206 S. Yale, have just returned from a 10-day trip to California, where they stayed with Ann's aunt, Mrs. Arthur Rush, Lakeside, N. Hollywood. While James attended to business, Ann visited Disneyland and the Dinah Shore and Steve Allen TV shows. Their children, Sandy, Amy, Beth and Jamie were left in the capable care of Jim's mother, Mrs. Thomas Wroe of Fairmont, Va.

Eastwood Events

The heavy snows of last week, besides causing great inconveniences to most of us, also brought winter sports into the fore again. Taking advantage of the splendid skiing conditions were the Ellertson family of 908 E. Euclid ave. On Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Wally Ellertson and Denny, Karen and Kevin had a great day of skiing and sledding at the Cary Country club hills.

A group of women who were originally all from the Eastwood section continue to meet regularly for bridge and conversation. Last Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 9, Mrs. Matt Cockrell entertained the group in her home, 905 E. Euclid ave. Catching up on neighborhood happenings were Val Hartmann, Esther Ellertson, Natalie Wallace, Winnie Wittenburg, Shirley Schneberger, Polly Hall and Louise Bowen.

Although the ground was knee-deep in snow many Eastwooders were "Picnic" minded over the weekend when Village Theatre presented the William Inge play of that name in the Little Theatre of Prospect High school on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings. Appearing in one of the leads was Mrs .Wilbur Pownall of 722 E. Euclid ave., who did a fine characterization in the role of 'Mrs. Potts."

SINCE THE birth of her second son, William Charles, on February 7, Mrs. Robert Glader, 202 N. Brighton pl. has re-entered Northwest Community hospital. Her neighbors will be happy to hear that Mrs. Glader is once again convalescing at home.

The first birthday of Jeannie Scully was celebrated on February 6. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Scully, 212 N. Brighton pl., honored the occasion with a family party for grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Scully of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. John Hodel of Brookfield. Jeannie's older sisters are Claudia 6 and Celine 5.

Mrs. John Haslam entertained at a luncheon on Tuesday afternoon in her home at 406 N. Beverly lane. Mrs. Virginia Heitz and her mother, Mrs. Beauchamp, Mrs. Ingebord Johnson, Mrs. Nan Meyer and Mrs. Mae Peterson were Mrs. Haslam's guests.

Fourteen schoolmates from her eighth grade class at Miner school were Suzanne Anderson's guests last Saturday evening at a valentine party in her home at 614 N. Beverley ave. The youngsters arrived for a 6:30 chicken dinner after which they spent the evening dancing and playing games.

Get well wishes are sent to Mrs. Toft, mother of Mrs. Gordon Moseby of N. Hickory ave. Mrs. Toft is in Resurrection hospital since suffering a heart attack.

Wishes for a speedy recovery are also extended to Mrs. Jones, mother of George Moore, 202 N. Dryden. Mrs. Jones, who underwent minor surgery at St. Elizabeth's hospital last week, is convalescing at the home of her son and his family. (A

Toastmasters In Joint Fete

Arlington Heights Toastmasters club has arranged a joint dinner meeting with the Aetna Toastmaster club in Park Ridge February 24.

Al Hawkes won the speech contest at the February 10 meeting and will represent the club in the area speech contest March 12. Bob Mongrain was chosen as the alternate.

The club meets the second and fourth Wednesday of each month in the community room of the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan association. Guests are welcome. For further information call Bob Mongrain at Cl 5-3252. (A

Floral Lesson For Mom's Club

A floral demonstration by Walter Bender of Arlington Florist and Green Houses will be the highlight of the March 4 meeting of St. Peter Mother's club, Arlington Heights. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the school basement, Arlington Heights.

Club members heard Mr. Bender speak at Christmas and are anxious to get ideas for Easter arrangements. (A Pay $1.25 for a quart of milk?

Of course you wouldn't pay $1.25 for a 25¢ quart of milk. What about clothes drying? Would you pay 5 times what it's worth, load after load? Actually there's no need to! A GAS dryer will dry your clothes perfectly—so soft, so fresh—yet it costs only 1/5 as much as any other kind to operate. You'll find economical GAS makes it practical to use your dryer as much as you like, as often as you like. And, with GAS you save enough to pay for your dryer in just 6 years.

...only GAS dries clothes so well for so little!

Slimnastics Is Popular Pastime of Local Ladies

by JOEL CARTER

Slimnastics is the fancy name of one of the Arlington Heights park district's popular winter recreation activities. Nearly 50 local ladies participate in the Tuesday night gym classes which feature all sorts of athletic fun with a feminine touch.

The name makes the activity sound like a cross between weight reducing and gymnastics but it's nothing so formidable. Sometimes the girls play volleyball, sometimes there are basketball type games and occasionally the trampoline is broken out for a bouncing session. All this is mixed thoroughly with generous portions of exercises, relays, drills, and simple games to make an exciting recipe for active fun.

THE COOK for this sports dish is Mrs. Don Paluch, a physical education instructor at South junior high school. Alice has found that the gym tastes of her slimnastics students are not too different from their daughters' likes on the school playground. She directs many of the same activities she teaches at school and finds the matrons eager participants compared with her adolescent students taking required "PE."

This is the second year the park district has offered the popular activity and it seems to have gained a permanent place in our winter program.

RECREATION park fieldhouse is open every afternoon for an indoor sports center and the boys (and occasionally a few girls) in the neighborhood have found it a good playing place to the extent that the building is jammed everyday.

The basketball court, a game room, a ping-pong area, and a weight lifting room are used without any directed activity just as are playgrounds in the summer. The kids just come in, play whatever they like, and leave whenever they desire.

The district could use many more such centers because there isn't as much for the kids to do outside in the season of ice and snow as in the summer. If the building were twice as big, there would be double the number of players. The capacity of the building is limited by floor space and undoubtedly many kids are crowded out and discouraged by the mass of elbows, flying balls, and shoving players. Nevertheless, we should be thankful for what we have and this recreation director is glad to see the facility being used to capacity.

Trapped Taxpayers Seek Help

Property owners of Arlington Heights who are trapped between two village park boards and paying taxes to both are trying to get out from under by asking the County board's aid in loosening the bonds of the Mt. Prospect park board.

A brief report at a Greenview Estates Civic association meeting revealed that petitions were to be presented to the county administrators. The petitions were filed with the Mt. Prospect park board to disassociate itself from its jurisdiction of the Arlington Heights residents.

IN OTHER discussion, one of association members stated that a fire hydrant at Gregory and Waterman was in danger of being "mowed down" as a hazard directly in line with turning traffic.

Also reported was the traffic lights installed at Euclid and Northwest highway and the prospect of a second one at Kensington and Northwest highway, which waited upon the possible construction of an overpass at that point.

A meeting of planners of a United Community Fund for the Greenview Estates area was scheduled for today (Thursday), announced Russell Conklin, association board executive chairman.

He asked members for and received assurance that they wanted what he called a "one-shot drive" for both local and national agencies, so that collections would take place only once a year for worthy causes.

CONKLIN explained that the United Fund would not be ready for operation until 1961, and that, therefore other agencies would probably be soliciting funds this year. Meanwhile, a steering committee was being organized.

Warren Petersen, association president, reported that Carl Klehm would be the featured speaker at the next meeting in April. (A

"OF ALL DANGERS THE GREATEST IS TO THINK LIGHTLY OF THE FOE"

Ever present, constantly about us, are countless numbers of germs and virus awaiting the opportunity of attacking our body. Some unknown blind instinct urges them to multiple their numbers and if this increase is not stopped life is endangered.

Fortunately we now have potent antibiotics and sulfa compounds. If taken before these germs and virus have had sufficient time to weaken the body's resistance, a cure usually results. Therefore, it is extremely important, that at the very first symptoms of any recurring ailment, a physician be consulted. It is dangerous to treat any sickness carelessly.

Hasbrook Report

Why Do Homes Cost So Much?

How much would a loaf of bread cost you if the baker had to make it the old-fashioned way, without benefit of modern machinery? How much would a pair of shoes cost if they had to be hand-made? Or an automobile?

The answer is "plenty." Fortunately, none of these familiar and necessary products has to be hand-made. Technological progress has simplified the making of each of them, and has brought the cost down to where we can afford to buy.

Home-building is one of the few industries—perhaps the only industry—which is still backwards as far as technological progress goes. By and large, homes are being built the same way today as they were 40 years ago.

This isn't because the builders choose to build this way. If you want to blame something, you can blame the "system." This is a composite of factors which operates to keep Chicago area home prices high.

For example, a house in Dayton, O., very much like the house we're building at Hasbrook, costs $16,000. In the Chicago area, the cost is $21,000. Why should this be?

RILEY

One reason is that local building codes here are much more rigid than they have to be. Rigid electrical conduit, without wires, costs $6.25 per hundred feet in this area. In Dayton, armored cable with wires costs $3.25 per hundred feet. Both types of wiring are Underwriters' Laboratory approved. The buyer gets the same protection, but pays more for it here.

Labor practices are another reason. Concrete block crawl spaces in Dayton cost 42 cents a block. The Chicago area doesn't use much concrete block; hence, labor here is higher when they are used, bringing the cost to 80 cents a block. It's cheaper to pour concrete walls at a 70 cent a block equivalent. That's still 28 cents more than Dayton pays.

A third reason is the materials available locally. Half-inch oak flooring, for example, is the standard in many parts of the country. But in the Chicago area, 25/32-inch flooring is the only type generally available. The lumber yards do not provide the half-inch flooring at any savings to the builder.

Then, of course, land is much more expensive in Chicagoland, and the cost of improving it with streets, sewers, and water is greater.

ALL OF THIS adds up to what might be called a basic minimum cost of home building which is higher in Chicago than any place else in the nation. Experts have reported that Chicago's building costs are 20 per cent higher than average.

But that isn't the whole story. The home buyer has a definite idea of what a home at a certain price should contain. When a home gets over the $15,000 mark, the buyer demands certain luxury features. Thus, the builder is compelled to add more to his home and to charge for it accordingly.

Now the home buyer is certainly entitled to as much value as he can get for his money. But value is hard to get in the Chicago area, unless he buys from a mass-production builder who can realize economies through mass purchasing.

Unfortunately, even in this area the cards are stacked against the builder, because few if any Chicago builders are big enough in this mass market to obtain direct factory buying advantages.

The fact that home building is thriving in Chicago is a testimonial to the dedication of home-builders who stick to their business in the face of restrictive practices and lower-than-average profit margins.

If the "system" as we call it were brought up to date with technological knowledge, everyone would benefit: the home buyer through lower prices; the builder through greater volume and profits; the unions through more work for their members; and the manufacturers through increased sales of their products.

SPRING WILL BE a little early this year — for us at Hasbrook, at least. Right now we're rushing to complete five new model homes in time for a Feb. 26 grand opening, well ahead of the conventional buying season.

If you're thinking of a new home, or know of someone who is, this early opening should prove of great interest to you.

For one thing, we don't expect great throngs of Sunday sightseers in late February and early March. Hence, you'll be able to shop our new models in comfort and at your leisure. Our sales people will have time to answer your questions thoroughly.

Second, the weather will still be cold enough to let you test the soundness of Hasbrook construction. Winter is an ideal time to check construction for drafts and heating plant adequacy.

Finally, the early opening will give prospects a chance to select the choicest homesites. Lots will become scarcer as the season wears on.

In coming columns, we would like to tell you more about the planning that went into these new homes. I think you'll be interested to know how the preferences of our prospects and buyers have helped shape all kinds of changes in these homes, from doors to room layout. This information may give you ideas for your home of the future.

Serve Your Beef Stroganoff With This Fried Rice Recipe

By LOIS SEILER

A personable woman who dishes up a sparkling wit along with her delicious dinners is Mrs. John V. Sunkel of Arlington Heights.

This good cook not only has a sense of humor but a sense of fine food. Because she enjoys cooking, she has fun in her own kitchen and has even devised some original recipes.

Many years ago, before quick-cooking rice appeared on the scene and before rice became so popular in the United States as a substitute for mashed potatoes, this capable homemaker concocted an excellent recipe for a rice casserole.

SHE CALLS IT Fried Rice because the rice (regular variety) is first sauteed in butter until golden brown, which gives it a delightful and different flavor. It is then combined with beef bouillon and seasonings and baked in a casserole for one hour.

"This dish will wait for you very well," says Mrs. Sunkel, "for it has waited in the oven as long as an hour after it was done and was always good."

Even left-over rice fixed in this fashion is delicious as it never gets gummy. Just re-heat in a pan with a few tablespoons of water and serve. It freezes well, too, but as it is so simple and quick to prepare there is little need to make it in advance.

MRS. SUNKEL likes to serve this appealing rice with beef stroganoff or stew. She prefers Morrison Wood's recipe for stroganoff which appeared in the Chicago Tribune more than 15 years ago.

Any type of lean beef may be used in this recipe. Round steak is the most popular preference, and though it must be cooked longer than fancier cuts such as beef tenderloin, it is just as tender and sometimes more flavorful. During the war Mrs. Sunkel used whatever meat she could get, and even pot roast worked well.

Cut in finger strips, the meat is browned with mushrooms and onions, then simmered in beef bouillon seasoned with tomato paste and dry mustard. The gravy is thickened and just before serving sour cream is blended in. Serve this tasty stroganoff over Mrs. Sunkel's fried rice and you will have a dish to please the most discriminating gourmet!

AS ACCOMPANIMENTS, Mrs. Sunkel suggests hot rolls and a green salad with grapefruit wedges. "The bitey flavor of the grapefruit wedges cuts the richness of the beef stroganoff and talks back to you," says this descriptive cook. For dessert, cakes are her favorite choice.

The Sunkels live at 612 N. Douglas in Arlington Heights. Mrs. Sunkel is a member of the Arlington Heights Woman's club and also belongs to a bridge group.

Fried Rice

4 tablespoons butter
1½ cups dry regular rice
3½ cups hot water
1 beef bouillon cube
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon garlic salt

Melt the butter in a heavy skillet. Add the rice. Do not wash it. Cook over moderate flame and stir until golden brown.

Dissolve the bouillon cube in the water and add to the rice with the seasonings.

Turn into a casserole of 1½ quart capacity, cover and bake one hour in a moderate oven, 350 degrees.

Serves six.

Beef Stroganoff

1½ lbs. lean beef, ½ in. thick
2 tablespoons butter
1 onion, thinly sliced
1 lb. mushrooms, sliced
2 cups water
2 beef bouillon cubes
2 tablespoons tomato paste
1 teaspoon dry mustard
2 tablespoons flour
½ cup water
½ cup sour cream

Remove all fat and gristle from meat and cut in finger strips 2½ by 3/4 inches. Dust with salt and pepper and set aside for two hours, but not in a cold place or refrigerator.

Melt the butter in a heavy skillet. Brown strips of meat, add the onions and mushrooms. Cook about five minutes or until onion is lightly-browned.

Heat the water and dissolve in it the bouillon cubes. Add to the meat with the tomato paste and dry mustard.

SIMMER, COVERED, until meat is tender. Time will depend on the type of meat used, about 1½ hours for round steak.

When meat is tender, blend the flour and water, making a smooth paste. Stir into the meat mixture and cook until gravy is smooth and thickened.

Just before serving add the sour cream and blend thoroughly.

Serves six.

Hospital Treats Emergency Cases

Anything that wasn't an ice or snow emergency accident at Northwest Community hospital last week was a rarity. But a few rarities there were, including two stomach pumpings.

Victims of the stomach operations are Jeffrey Froul, route 1, Roselle, and James Hauser, 204 E. Euclid, Arlington Heights, both are two-year-olds.

Jeffrey was attracted by a bottle of mosquito spray, though his parents couldn't be sure. James drank a bottle of liquid floor cleaner. Both are doing fine.

ANOTHER YOUNG man broke an arm from a fall from a swing at Prospect Heights school. Tommy Zasadny, 8, of 102 Elm st., Prospect Heights, went home, with a cast to show.

Another school playground accident and broken arm occurred at the Kimball Hill school, Rolling Meadows. Pamela Gerken, 6, of 2502 Kirchoff rd., was the victim. Both accidents occurred, Monday, Feb. 8.

By this time the thermometer had plunged, and snow covered the ground. That's when the winter accidents started coming in.

George Neurohr, 39, of 502 Gowanda, Mt. Prospect, fell while ice skating at Lions Park and broke his right leg.

JAMES RIORDAN, 11, of 441 Ayrshire ln., Palatine, was cut over the left eye by a skate blade, Saturday.

Four broken legs were set, Sunday. Victims are Florence Dieball, Rohlwing rd., Palatine, Toni Mikulan, 245 S. Rose, Palatine, Carl Stefanik, 801 N. Mitchell, Arlington Heights, and Laura Hilton, 436 S. Beverly, Arlington Heights.

William Heidt, 20, of 938 S. Benton, Palatine, was thrown off a toboggan, received a possible back injury, Sunday.

Modern Etiquette

Q. What are the duties of the bridegroom's parents before the wedding?

A. Nothing special, outside of paying a call on the bride's parents soon after the engagement has been announced, and to buy the bride as nice a wedding gift as possible. It's nice, too, for the man's family to invite the girl and her family to a gathering sometime before the wedding.

Q. I have been asked to pour the tea at an afternoon affair. Am I supposed also to put in the sugar, cream or lemon?

A. This is not generally done anymore. The person pours the tea, then hands the cup to the guest who helps himself to sugar, cream or lemon.

Sheriff Denies Vice Rampant in Suburbs

Sheriff Frank Sain, in a half-hour press conference last week, denied charges that vice and gambling are rampant in the county which were made by Paul D. Newey, chief investigator for State's Attorney Banjamin Adamowski.

He produced Capt. George Howlett, chief of his vice squad, to give facts concerning suppression in this field.

"We've really been on vice," said Sheriff Sain, at the outset. "We've gotten convictions and all on places which have been running for 18 and 14 years. I don't know of there being any vice in the county right now."

HE IDENTIFIED the 14-year operation as the Lynwood club, 2230 River rd., River Grove, which was raided March 10, 1959, resulting in eventual state tavern license revocation. He showed a letter from Virgil Peterson, operating director, Chicago Crime commission, dated Aug. 15, 1956, citing a 1952 complaint to the commission that the Lynwood club was "another key club for the sole purpose of prostitution, with expensive clientele, a minimum charge of $25, and no one welcome back unless they spend at least $100."

The 18-year place, Sain said, was 4311 Mannheim rd., now in Schiller Park, but unincorporated when Capt. Howlett and his partner, Capt. William McManigal, both former detectives with Chief Thomas Harrison of the County highway police at the 35th district in Chicago, succeeded in establishing a case on their third visit, Jan. 26, 1959. Mrs. Rosemary Borbus, fined $100 as operator, reportedly said the place was not arrested in the last 18 years, Sheriff Sain said.

A FORMER restaurant at 2326 N. Mannheim rd., in business for only a week with seven cubicles, was raided Dec. 5, 1959, and three girls fined $100 and costs as inmates and six customers $50 and costs. Last Jan. 7 one of the girls was arrested there again, but discharged.

A list of 13 purported handbooks, 10 in Cicero, and one each in Summit, Bedford Park, and Blue Island, was received from the Chicago Crime Commission January 25 and immediately checked, with the result that one "sneak operation" at 6540 S. Cicero, near one of the addresses given, was raided, the sheriff said. Letters were sent to Police Chief Ervin Konovsky of Cicero, listing also five Cicero raids made by the sheriff's office, Sain said. He admitted he had never talked with Chief Konovsky since taking office, but said he planned to do it sometime this week.

This announcement brought a rejoinder from State's Attorney Adamowski that "their first meeting in 15 months is an improvement right there."

CAPT. HOWLETT said the vice checks now included all motels in the county. A week earlier, on February 4, a sheriff's deputy on other duty at a car auction near Midway airport was approached by a girl for a motel date, and after obtaining approval from the office, secured the cooperation of a motel owner and made the arrest, Howlett said.

With a force of only 111 men, request for 147 more having been turned down in this year's budget, the sheriff during 1959 cleared up three out of four murders and non-negligent manslaughter, all 15 negligent manslaughter cases, seven of ten forcible rapes, nine of 65 robberies, 33 of 128 auto thefts, eight of 11 aggravated assaults, 58 of 461 burglaries, and 34 out of 523 larcenies, his report showed.

"Vice raids" were listed at 27, including 11 prostitutions, nine lewd acts, and four drink solicitations by "B"-girls. "Gambling raids" were placed at 52, including 34 handbooks, two "walking books," six slot machine operations, six card games, one policy runner, one possession of gambling equipment, one pinball machine, and one jar game. 4th Senatorial District

It is entirely likely that the whole system of numbering automobile license plates in Illinois will be changed.

Some time ago, Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier inaugurated a two-year study of the Illinois licensing procedure by the University of Illinois College of Engineering.

THE STUDY has now been completed and various recommendations have been made.

The most important one is that no license plates should have more than six characters. This can be accomplished by the use of both letters and numbers.

It has therefore been recommended that for Illinois passenger autos a straight numbering system as currently used be continued for the first one through 999,000 licenses.

For passenger autos beyond that number, it is proposed that a combination of two letters with one to four numbers be used.

Since fast, accurate perception is the goal, the new system would eliminate the letters I, O and Q, since it is felt these leters are easily confused.

SUCH A combination letter-number plan would provice approximately 6,250,000 combinations.

For buses, taxis and livery vehicles, the license plates would carry one letter, plus one to four numbers. Truck plates would carry up to four numbers, followed by a classification letter.

The engineers also recommend a discontinuance of plates with amateur radio station call letters and special plates for disabled veterans.

One of the basic conclutions is that license plates should have two functions: to identify the vehicle and to show that the owner has complied with motor vehicle registration laws.

ACCORDINGLY, advertising and publicizing the State by means of slogans or symbols should be eliminated, say the engineers.

All the foregoing can be put into effect by administrative action, except that if the slogan "Land of Lincoln" is to be eliminated, this will require legislative action.

The engineers also recommend that identification of the car owner's county or area of residence is not a proper function of license plates.

ANOTHER recommendation is that the license plate size be increased from its present 12 x 6" to 14 x 6" for better legibility. It is pointed out, however, that Illinois should not adopt the larger size until it is adopted for general use nationally.

The survey further suggests that the State adopt one, two or three-letter color combinations high in contrast, and use these alternately.

The researchers determined that application of special light-reflecting materials would increase night legibility of plates by 28 per cent. Because of certain other factors involved, however, they did not recommend adoption of such a program at this time. (ACM

Rules of Order Course Offered

Effective conduct of group meetings, based upon "Roberts' Rules of Order," will be the subject for the new Arlington high adult education course in parliamentary procedure, which is scheduled to begin Wednesday, Feb. 24.

The class will meet in Room 208 at Arlington high school at 7:30 p.m. each Wednesday for six two-hour sessions.

Don Thomas, instructor for the course, is also instructing the class in public speaking at the high school.

He has had wide experience in conducting meetings, as well as a varied teaching background working with adults. A past president and area parliamentarian of Toastmasters clubs in Mason City, Iowa, and Chicago Heights, he has also served as parliamentarian and president of the Calumet Valley division of the Illinois Education association.

"LEADERS IN community organizations usually recognize the need for instruction and practice in conducting business sessions according to established rules and will seek such instruction. A sound working knowledge of parliamentary procedure is quite as important to the interested member in educational, fraternal, church and citizen groups to assure effective participation in the affairs of the organization," says Mr. Thomas.

Registrations will be accepted at the adult education office at Arlington high school from 8 p.m. to 4:30 pm. daily, or after 7 p.m. on the evening of the class meeting Mail registrations are also welcomed. (ACM

Couple's Club Will Hear Village Manager

"Around Arlington Heights in 40 Minutes" is the title of a talk to be given by Village Manager L. A. Hanson Friday, Feb. 19, to members of the Couple's club of First Presbyterian church, Arlington Heights. The group will meet at 7 p.m. for a potluck supper with the Keith Curtises, Bill Simpsons and the John Keys as hosts.

Hanson's talk will be accompanied by pictures and will follow the potluck in Fellowship hall of the church. (A

Fifth Grade Class Tours Health Site

Members of the fifth grade of Westgate school, 301 W. South st., Arlington Heights, accompanied by their teacher, Joe Neynaber, were recent visitors at the Hinsdale Health museum, Hinsdale.

The children were given a tour of the exhibits by one of the museum staff biology instructors who gave them special talks on the brain and the structural systems of the body, such as bones and muscles.

They also heard the performance of Valeda, the Talking Glass Lady, and saw a special motion picture on the body senses from the museum film library.

THE ARLINGTON Heights visitors were among thousands of school children who have been flocking to the Health museum all fall and winter on science field trips.

The museum is open the year round, daily from nine to five and Saturday from one to five. Admission is free. For group reservations telephone Faculty 5-1900 or write Hinsdale Health Museum, Hinsdale, Illinois.

Some 100,000 persons have visited the museum since it was opened by The Kettering Family Foundation in May, 1958. (A

Champion Twirler Visits Baton School

Barbara Kurucz, featured twirling sensation of the famour Northwestern "Wildcat" band, visited Saturday's classes of "Miss Jennie's" School of Baton in Arlington Heights.

Barbara and her brother, Roger, have won virtually every twirling honor in the nation and now hold the distinct honor of being the first brother and sister twirling team at the "Big Ten" universities.

Traveling with the 170-piece Wildcat band this fall, the twirling Kuruczs have left spectators throughout the midwest speechless with their blazing speed and tricky technique.

WHILE IN ARLINGTON Heights, Barbara favored "Miss Jennie's" students with an exhibition of her twirling skill and instructed the youngsters in several twirling series.

Barbara is from Cudahy, Wis. and began her twirling career at the age of 3. She and Roger have studied under Don Sartell, famed exponent of the art of baton twirling. Barbara is in her freshman year at Northwestern where her brother is a junior.

Life-Size Lincoln Is Inspiring to Pupils

WISHING HE COULD talk are students at Winston school, Palatine, who admire the life-sized statue of Lincoln in wax. The statue, said to be perfect in every detail, was loaned to the school last week, by Lt. Rocco Matsie, a Winston resident. Matsie has a collection of Civil war information and souvenirs. (B8

Abraham Lincoln has come the closest to life that he ever will for students in the Winston Park school, Palatine.

A life-sized was model of the famed 16th president has been loaned to the school by Lt. Rocco M. Matsie, a Winston resident who is regimental historian for the 131st infantry.

The amazing thing about the Lincoln in wax, believed the only one in existence, is that he seems so real. "I wish he could talk to us," many students have said. And standing at a distance admiring the 6 foot 4 inch man, one gets the impression he could talk. Lincoln experts say the wax figure is perfect in every detail.

Lincoln is shown as he looked the night of his assassination. The suit of clothes is the last he wore. Shoes, a gigantic size 14, are made from the actual pattern, preserved by Lincoln's shoemaker. Unlike our shoes, they lace high at the tip and down the back.

THE SCULPTOR of the statue is Irwin C. Culver, who studied Lincoln for six years before attempting the wax model. He used photographs taken between 1861 and 1863 for his model. The actual inspiration for his work came from Carl Sandburg's, "Lincoln: The Prairie Years."

Lincoln's grey eyes, noted for their sad soulful look, are so realistic they seem to follow figures around the room. His hands are enormous; shown in relaxed position, one at his side, one at his chest. The gaunt frame actually supported a man weighing 180 pounds. Lincoln is shown standing in sort of slouched position on a piece of black cloth in the Winston library.

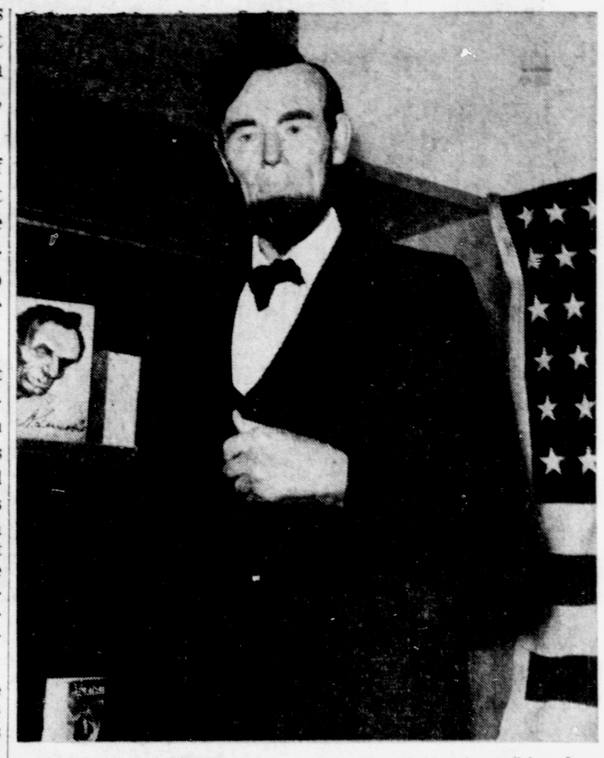
Though the statue is part of Lt. Matsie's collection on the Civil war, he loans it frequently for special Lincoln programs. His son, Tom, is a third grader in the Winston school. The school has had the statue about a week, and hopes to keep it until Carl Sandburg needs it for a future special Lincoln program. (B8



A CLOSE-UP SHOT of the wax statue of Abraham Lincoln shows his sad, penetrating eyes. His tie is rather droopy, idicative of the 16th president's unconcern with perfection in dress. One can also see Lincoln's high cheek bones, hollow cheeks, and unruly hair. (B8

Revoke Licenses Of Six Drivers

Six northwest suburban area motorists lost their licenses, five because of drunken driving, in recent action by the office of Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier.

Also handed out to area residents were 16 suspensions and two probationary permits.

Those who lost their licenses because of drunken driving were Alexander O. Bell, 629 N. Franklin, Palatine; Lloyd E. Hanson, 2 E. Sunset dr., Mt. Prospect; Joseph Rutkofski, 83 S. Milwaukee, Wheeling; Ross C. Turk, 836 Deerfield rd., Wheeling; and Darlene K. Fulkerson, 1017 David dr., Bensenville.

THE LICENSE OF Ronald A. Sehr, 1125 Irving Park dr., Bensenville, was revoked because of incorrect information on the application.

Suspensions were given to Palatine residents Ray D. Rorucki, 214 S. Greeby; Anthony L. Di Orio, 257 E. Briarwood; George L. Leluan, 133 S. Quinten rd.; and Robert C. Smith, 328 N. Bothwell.

Arlington Heights residents who received suspensions were Elmer Howard, 730 Mitchell; Calvin L. Karsner, 1310 N. Yale; John D. Patterson, 1710 W. Oakton; and George W. Rose, 1300 Mayfair rd.

Mt. Prospect citizens temporarily losing their licenses were John R. Mulder, 511 S. Seegwun; Jesse P. Ortiz, 1100 S. Elmhurst; and Robert A. Summer, 718 Busse ave.

Probationary permits were received by Luther N. Didrickson, 326 S. Gibbons st., Arlington Heights; and William D. Tinkle, 249 Milan ln., Roselle. (B8

Hong Kong Next Stop For Series

Members of the travel and adventure lecture series will be looking through a bamboo curtain for the next film-lecture in the Prospect high school theatre, February 23 at 8 p.m.

Phil Walker will narrate the story of Hong Kong. Walker studied for the theatre and was an actor and director as well as an announcer for NBC before he chose to become a lecturer.

A CROWDED, colorful area of critical importance, Hong Kong has meant mystery to those who have visited this British crown colony in the Orient.

The film, besides showing scenes from Hong Kong, will also visit Portuguese Macao and Communist China.

Season tickets for the remaining four lectures of the series will be available at the door along with single admissions. (ACM

Announcement Orders Taken

Orders for graduation announcements will be taken at Arlington high school Tuesday, Feb. 23.

To celebrate Lou Galizia's 18th birthday, February 7, more than 20 friends gathered in his home, 646 E. Clarendon ave., for the surprise party arranged by his sister, Pat. Arriving home from a movie date with Miss Carole Breust, Lou was greeted with shouts of surprise and joined his guests for an evening of dancing and refreshments.

A birthday luncheon was given for Kay Hedberg last week Tuesday by Frances Brosseit in her home at 408 E. Oakton. Guests included Evelyn Jahnke, Marge Riemann, Kay Warman, Mary Lou Wotruba, Dorothy Swoboda, June Holst, Ann Wolfmeyer and Bette Bunnelle.

Another birthday celebrant last week was 7-year-old Linda Mensch, 720 E. Oakton, who celebrated with an after-school party February 9. Her guest list included Bonnie Brown, Laurie Sage, Eddie Haldeman, Caryn Corts, Susan Williamson and her sister, Sandra. A supper party on Valentine's day was attended by aunts and uncles, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wrenn and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Van Horn of Rolling Meadows.

Still another birthday celebrant last week was 6-year-old Rayme Thorsen, 661 E. Clarendon ct., who observed the occasion with a luncheon party February 12. Enjoying the cake, which was decorated with hearts for Valentines day and a flag for Lincoln's birthday, were Steve Jurco, Glenn Schinke, Troy Slinkard, Ricky Zolp, Patty Hembd, Sally and Carol Walsh, Denise Braun and Tommy Gorey.

MR. AND MRS. Seymour Recht, 683 E. Clarendon, entertained at a buffet supper party on Valentine's day. Their guests were Miss Lenore Spetzler, Miss Grace Parker, Miss Elizabeth Rowley, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hawk of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lowe of Skokie. Mrs. Nellie Unger, mother of Mrs. Recht spent the weekend visiting friends, Mr. and Mrs. Truman Meyers of Naperville.

Cynthia Hendrina Lorenz, 1205 N. Hickory, observed her first birthday on Valentine's day. Helping celebrate the occasion was her cousin, Billy, and uncle, Fred Fischer, of Orland Park and grandmother, Mrs. Grace Fischer, who has been visiting with the Lorenz family for several weeks.

Kathy Ellann, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Buttstadt of 917 E. Olive, was christened in Faith Evangelical Lutheran church on S. State rd. on Sunday afternoon. Rev. Edgar H. Behrens officiated. Godparents were an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Stein of Niles. A dinner party later in the day was attended by the godparents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Feulner of Chicago and Mrs. Ella Buttstadt of the Olive st. address.

Miss Joan Coward of 1142 N. Dryden ave. celebrated her 13th birthday Monday. A dinner party given in honor of the occasion was attended by 14 friends and classmates. (A

Two Districts Study Merger

Arlington Heights grade school district 25's board of education Wednesday night indicated a willingness to study the consolidation of district 25, Wilson District 24, and Forest View District 56.

Arlington's board this week dispatched letters to officials of the other districts and proposed an April meeting at which County Superintendent Noble Puffer would be present.

The board also discussed possible studies which would indicate the immediate and future effects of consolidation.

A LETTER received from the Forest View board of education, which asked that consolidation proposals be re-evaluated, brought the topic to the Wednesday night agenda. However, a committee of homeowners in Hasbrook subdivision of Arlington Heights has approached the Wilson school board, who appointed a committee for investigation.

Arlington board members were doubtful that any action could be taken before next fall, even if such action were deemed desirable. The April meeting would follow school board elections affecting all three districts.

Cub Pack 130 Gets Charter

Cub Pack 130 of Arlington Heights received its charter at the annual Blue and Gold banquet at South Junior high February 10.

Robert Herigodt of the Northwest Suburban Boy Scout council presented the pack its charter. Achievement awards were given to a number of scouts, and each of the dens put on a skit.

Rev. Roland Kock, pastor of the Congregational church of Arlington Heights, gave the invocation. (A

Mrs. Knoeppel Died Wednesday

Mrs. L. J. Knoeppel, wife of the former superintendent of Arlington high school, died Wednesday morning while attending a convention with her husband in Atlantic City, N.J.

Mr. Knoeppel left Arlington high in 1954 to head Proviso high schools.

Young Violinist With Symphony

Sidney Harth, young violin virtuoso, will be soloist in Brahms' Concerto for Violin and Orchestra at a concert of the 84-piece Northwest Symphony orchestra at 3:30 p. m. Sunday, Feb. 18 at Maine Township high school, Dempster and Potter.

Harth, the new concertmaster of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, and 10 residents of Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect and Prospect Heights, will be among members of the orchestra to play Beethoven's Eighth Symphony; Barber's Adagio for Strings and "Sensemaya," by Revueltas.

THE SOLOIST began his studies of the violin when four years old, graduating from the Cleveland Institute of Music with the highest honors ever received.

Later studying with Joseph Knitzer, now heading the violin department at the Eastman School of Music, and with Georges Enesco in New York. In 1948, he won the Naumberg award, gave a recital in Town Hall and appeared on the Telephone Hour.

In 1950, he received the American Artists award of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, and two years ago, at 32, he missed winning, by only three points, the one of the most important violin prizes in the world, placing second to Rosa Fajn, a Russian in the finals of the Wieniawski competition in Poland.

HARTH MARRIED his childhood sweetheart, Teresa Testa, herself a well-known violinist, and they have appeared on a nation-wide tour as a duo violin team. They have two children.

Tickets for the performance will be available at the door. Children under 12 years of age will be admitted free when accompanied by an adult. (ACM

Given Probation

An Arlington Heights youth whose charges of police brutality were refuted in Police Magistrate's court two weeks ago was given a year's probation this week following an earlier plea of guilty to a larceny charge.

Judgment was rendered on John M. Hodor, 17, of 1411 W. Sigwalt, by Magistrate Robert Buckley after he heard a report by Cook county's probation department to the effect that Hodor had no record other than juvenile offenses.

FOLLOWING a plea by the boy's mother, Buckley noted that he would terminate the probation in order to allow the youth to enter military service. The boy earlier stated this to be his intention.

Hodor was also fined $45 on three traffic violations and ordered to make restitution for the 3¢ quarts of oil involved in the larceny charge.

When Mrs. Hodor accused the Herald of giving her son a "bad name," Buckley replied that "this is the cheapest lesson your son will ever get." (AF

Petersen Is New Greenview Prexy

Warren G. Petersen, 118 S. Prindle, Arlington Heights, now heads a slate of officers as president of the Greenview Estates Civic association.

Other officers are: Robert Gondek, vice-president; Mrs. Daniel Green, 416 S. Evanston, secretary; Glenn Roos, treasurer; Richard White, 532 S. Donald, financial secretary; Gilbert Stocum, sergeant-at-arms, and Russell G. Conklin, chairman of the executive board.

Committee chairmen are: Joan Van Denbusch, 408 S. Rammer, publicity; William Privratsky, 106 S. Phelps, social; John S. Haight, 107 S. Phelps, representation; Einar W. Stegemeyer, 214 S. Prindle, grievance, and Marty A. Matz, 202 S. Phelps, tax.

A letter complimenting Leonard Hansen was sent to the village manager, praising his cooperation with representative civic associations and a second letter was sent to Paddock Publications, also lauding cooperation.

Does Wendell Play Bongos in Woods?

Does Arlington Heights Trustee Wendell Prunty play the bongo drums? And if so, does he do it in the forest preserve?

This charming rumor arose this week at a village board meeting when Mayor Edward Carlisle noted that Palatine's Mayor Howard Olson was seeking permission for high chool students to sell tickets in the village to a Louis Armstrong concert scheduled for March 18 at Palatine high school.

DURING A discussion as to whether the students should be allowed to solicit at night, the mayor questioned Prunty as to whether or not he played the bongo drums. Trustee Melvin Kurtz added he thought Prunty practiced in the forest preserve.

While the dignified trustee neither confirmed nor denied the allegations, the idea is appealing. If he should possess this talent, we would be pleased to put him in contact with a friend of ours who does a rites of spring interpretative dance, also in the forest preserve.

Mayor Carlisle broke a tie vote to give the students permission to sell tickets in the village in the evening. (AF

Auditions Held

First auditions for the Talent Bank were held Sunday to give the Arlington Heights park district a list of available performers. Program chairmen may receive help in filling their bills by calling the Talent Bank office at Pioneer park, CL 3-0620. None of the performers charge a fee; they perform for their own enjoyment.

A number of pianists were heard including accompanists, classical pianists, popular song players, and a woman who provides good background music for banquets, fashion shows, etc. A couple who have a large repertoire of operas sang selections and one vocalist who sings show numbers performed.

INSTRUMENTALISTS heard included an accordionist and a harmonica player. Several dancers showed their skills.

The Talent Bank has a number of other performers with a variety of skills who have not auditioned but who are on record for referral. In addition, new artists are constantly registering and become available immediately. The park district invites other performers to register and perform at the next audition.

Lions Club Ham Dinner March 27

Mrs. Norma Woosley, assistant director of admissions, National College of Education, Evanston, will speak on "Preparing to Teach Elementary Grades from Second to Sixth" from 8:30 to 11 a.m. Wednesday, Feb. 24 at Arlington high school. (A

This Week with PTA

Book Fair Coming

Time once again to circle calendars for March 5 and March 12, dates of the annual PTA-sponsored book fairs in Arlington Heights. Time to buy a book is between 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Hundreds of books will be on sale, books of all sizes and prices of all ages.

Membership

Mrs. Robert Bukowski, membership chairman, reports that the end of the membership drive January 31 brought the PTA membership to 4,585 parents and teachers, with a total representation of 89 per cent.

Card Party Over

Icy weather didn't keep card players home as nearly 925 players attended the PTA card party last Thursday evening at the Junior high schools. Arlington merchants donated dozens of gifts which were given away that evening. Sandwiches and coffee were served at the close of the evening.

Thank you's go to Mrs. John Lindstrom, ways and means chairman, and to the working girls of this event. (A

Luxury Apartment Project Approved

Plans for a million dollar luxury apartment project between Kaspar and Salem sts. and south of St. James st. were approved by village trustees this week.

The project, in west central Arlington Heights, will consist of six buildings of 12 units each on 2.5 acres. The buildings will form a rectangle with a swimming pool, patio, and recreational area in the center.

ALL UNITS will consist of four and a half rooms with two bedrooms, air conditioning, gas heat, and automatic garbage disposal.

The developer, Joseph W. Bernstein of Chicago, was allowed to pay $1,000 in lieu of land dedication. He also agreed to pave St. James st. when it is extended past his project.

Construction is scheduled to begin April 1, and should be completed in six months.

Forest View School

In spite of the icy winter weather, the Forest View Mothers club bake sale Saturday was a great success. The many delicious and beautifully decorated baked goods donated by the members were quickly sold and late comers had to console themselves at the coffee bar with a donut and free cup of coffee. Copies of the recipe book containing 60 favorite recipes will again be available at the March meeting.

The photographer, E. R. Swanson, who represents Interstate studios, Sedalia, Mo., will be at school all day Friday, Feb. 19, taking pictures.

There are two new pupils in school as of February 8: David Garland, fifth grader from Monmouth, Ill., and Debra Rosin, fourth grader from Ravenswood school, Chicago.

School paper will be out Friday.

The Henry Rossbergs attended the wedding and reception of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rossbergs, Jacqueline Anne, who became Mrs. Charles John Sheehan Jr. Saturday morning in St. John Nepomucene Chicago. Reception was held at Bridgeport Community center, for 500 guests

DENNIS HERZOG took his brother, Wayne, (Tippy) and his guest, Michael Totten, to the Boat show at the Amphitheatre Sunday.

Weekend guests in the Frank May home were Mrs. May's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pedajas, and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Rusetos, all from Chicago.

All the John Olivers were flu victims this past week.

Bonnie Luczak spent Saturday night with her cousin, Kathy Luczak, in Chicago.

Mrs. Russell Anderson celebrated her birthday Friday afternoon with her family by visiting the Prudential building and having dinner downtown.

Sunday evening Dick Gorr attended a basketball game between Our Lady of the Wayside and Queen of All Saints at Notre Dame high in Niles with Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Bennett and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Lauing were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Faccenda in La Grange Saturday evening. (AME

'Weather' Film For Gardeners

In spite of the hazardous weather, the Scarsdale Estates Garden club met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Donald Strathearn, 720 Bristol lane.

A film on "Weather" was presented by Mr. Montgomery, through the courtesy of the Illinois Bell Telephone Co.

A food basket will be circulated among members and a luncheon meeting will be held in March to raise money to send a student to the Summer Conservation School in Springfield next July.

New Citizens Are Sworn In

An Arlington Heights oil company manager who came here in 1921 from Canada obtained his citizenship this week in a group of 162 before U. S. District Judge Edwin A. Robson.

He is Lorne Campbell Black, Jr., 436 S Belmont, Arlington Heights. Black served in the United States army from 1941 to 1946.

Another Arlington Heights resident in the group was Mrs. Iris Bruckbauer, 417 N. Wilshire Lane, who was born in England.

THERE'S BIG MONEY IN OIL!

If you're lighting your cigars with twenty dollar bills and watching your oil wells gush, all we can say is "How did you do it?"

But if you're like most people and have to squeeze the budget a bit, we'd like to tell you about a way to earn some extra money.

It's really very simple.

Just take a look around your house. We'll bet there are a number of things you never use or need any more... furniture or appliances you have replaced, toys the kids have outgrown, books, sporting equipment, toys the family doesn't use now. Those things can all be turned into cash quickly. Just advertise them for sale with a Paddock Publications Want Ad.

To place your ad, call CLearbrook 3-1520. Give your ad to the friendly ad taker, or ask her to help you write an ad that will get quick results.

That's all there is to it. Paddock Publications readers will pay you cash for your "don't needs" and you'll have funds for "do needs."

There's big money in oil... but there's lots of money in Want Ads, too... and some of it should be yours. Get your share today.

Fee Court Vicious, Declares Magistrate

"One of the most vicious practices," Police Magistrate Robert Buckley told an Arlington Heights Civic association Monday night, "is a court where if found guilty, he (the magistrate) gets paid; if found not guilty, he doesn't get paid."

Judge Buckley was talking before a large group of Greenview Estates Civic association members, and was answering a question of Warren Petersen, the association president.

The judge earlier explained that the court "was not a revenue office," and that he was interested in only one thing--traffic safety, since 90 per cent of the cases that came before him were of this nature.

SPEAKING OF improvements in the court under his jurisdiction, Buckley stated that the U. S. Navy recruiter and the drivers application bureau no longer operated when court was in session, which helped with the dignity of and respect for the administration of justice and law.

"I've been criticized for the manner," said the judge, "in which I've handled the traffic school for juvenile offenders. I feel there is a lot to be gained by our utilizing the Park Ridge traffic school, a one-evening affair.

"I send to this school only those for whom I think it will be of benefit. If any of your children have occasion to be brought before me and I send them to this school, you must realize it is not only a means of eliminating or minimizing the cash fine, it may save a life.

"Too many are apt to say: "Oh, just give him the fine. We don't want to be bothered.

"But the people who cry loudest at the bier are those who didn't want their children to take the drivers education.

"I need your support. I hope some day we'll have our own (Drivers) school. There are only 38 in the country. Join the traffic safety council. We try to get a reduction of the speed limits, slow signs or a raising of speed limits where they are necessary and justified."

HE SPOKE OF the new docket system he has installed, which dockets every arrest, names of accused witnesses, charges, amount of fines and disposition of cases, as well as transcripts, all of which was on file and open to the public.

During a question period, he admitted the law for 20-mile-per-hour speed limit in school areas was poorly written, but that it meant drivers were not to exceed this limit from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekdays whether children were on the street or within the school building.

A question arose as to whether drives were required to stop behind a school bus when the bus came to a stop, since no village ordinance applied to this. The judge replied that the state law would supersede village law and would uphold stopping behind the bus. However, he would have an opinion of the attorney general's on this for the next association meeting.

At another point, the judge stated: "I believe in voluntary respect for the law. I don't believe in trapping (motorists)." (A

96 Boys, 21 From Area, Enter Sectional Mat Tourney

E. Leyden, Palatine Picked 1-2

by BOB BUCHANAN

East Leyden and Palatine, 1-2 in the district, are expected to finish in the same order in this weekend's sectional wrestling tournament at DeKalb.

Though Elgin captured its own district and DeKalb was a close second, the Palatine district winners are expected to rule when 96 grapplers take the mat at Northern Illinois university field house Friday night.

The first round matches are scheduled to begin at 7 o'clock Friday evening. The semi-finals will get under way at 10:30 a.m. Saturday and the finals at 2:30 p.m.

LAST YEAR 20 of the 24 matmen who advanced to the state tournament came from the local district. This year Leyden and Palatine are stronger, Elgin is about the same and DeKalb is weaker.

Chances are the sectional competition will be slightly weaker than the Palatine district was in a good many cases. One item which makes the sectional tougher is that just two men advance to the state finals in each of 12 weight classes. Four advanced from each district.

Because of the intricate seeding process in which a wrestler will not meet anyone he faced in the district except in the finals, Coach Charles Farina's Leyden team and Coach John Ellis' Palatine boys should have good shots at state berths.

IN THE DISTRICT, Palatine's six top wrestlers faced Leyden men and will not meet them again until the finals. This may be most important since Leyden's Eagles are considered to be the toughest wrestling team in the state.

Leyden with 12 men entered, all of whom are good boys and three or four who are exceptional, is expected to win the tournament hands down. Palatine has eight entrants, the same as DeKalb but because of five champions is rated second.

Third place, team-wise, should be a real battle between Elgin, DeKalb and York. Yet, Arlington, with a pair of champions, could enter the picture since 19 schools have two or more boys entered.

IN LOOKING at the competition, an Elgin district boy is favored in only one weight. He is Elgin's Dick Santee who has beaten most every opponent at 180. However, he'll have one tough man in his bracket in East Maine's Leon Noe who was upset by Leyden's Joe Milek.

PROSPECT'S PHILLIPS AND LEYDEN'S KRUSE STRUGGLE AT THE MAT'S EDGE

The 120-pound division is expected to be the most highly contested. This division has five outstanding boys. In one bracket will be DeKalb's Ron Oleson, Elgin district champ, Tony Rende of Leyden, and George Shartle of Arlington. In the other bracket will be Palatine's Brad McCreery and Elgin's Ron Hurley.

At 154, it's a tossup as to who will come out on top. Arlington's Terry Harris is the Palatine winner and DeKalb's Robin Bosworth the Elgin winner. Also to be considered are East Maine's Bob Eaton, Leyden's Frank Rechar, Fenton's Dick Ulrich, and Elgin's Pete Wells. Take your pick. This weight is just that close.

IN THE OTHER seven weights it may well be a repeat of the Palatine district finals.

When the meet opens at 95 pounds, Palatine's Johnny Anderson and West Maine's Bob Jonas are expected to win their way to the finals over the opposition of Elgin's Ken Stettner and Dundee's Bill Langdon. Jonas may have a rough time since Leyden's Bob Foster is in the same bracket and could cause him plenty of trouble to determine which one goes to state.

Leyden's Sal Fuscone and Prospect's Joe Ortiz rate 1-2 at 103 though Pfeifer of St. Charles is reported to be a strong lad as well as Hudson of DeKalb. Pfeifer is in Oritz's bracket and Hudson in Fuscone's bracket.

BECAUSE of the pairings, Palatine Capt. Chuck Conley is favored to win his way to the finals to meet either Don Coffman of Leyden or Don Brown of Elgin who are expected to meet in the semi-finals. Prospect's Bob Trausch and Willowbrook's Bill Pitts both have the potential to spring possible upsets.

All four men from the Palatine district look rough at 127 as well as Dennis Kerchal of Elgin. Bob Gould of York will most likely meet Kerchal in a first round match with West Maine's tough Bill Henning in the same weight division. Palatine district champ Larry Baron of Leyden is favored in his bracket though Palatine's Joe Bellanca, if he has an "onday," could be rough.

Palatine's Karl Knowles and York's Bruce Strom, 1-2 in the district, are expected to finish that way in the sectional though the order of the two could be reversed. Tough opponents may be Leyden's Ron Zajac, Smith of Hononegah of Rockton and Bill Luhtala of DeKalb.

DENNIS Owens of East Leyden ranks head and shoulders above everyone else at 138. Trying for the second state position will be Palatine's George McCreery and Ed Rhynes of West Rockford, Elgin district champ.

The upper bracket at 145 is a rough one. Arlington's Jerry Greer, Palatine district champion, will be there to probably meet the winner of the Norm Schuettner of Palatine-Ziegler of St. Charles bout. In the other bracket are Roger Ackerman of York and Henning of West Rockford.

Nason Monroe of Leyden stands out about as much at 165 as anyone in the tournament. Trying to gain the other position from the opposite bracket will be Jim Becker of Willowbrook and Don Calkins of East Rockford.

HEAVYWEIGHT will be a ding-dong battle. The real battle will be between Prospect's Darryl Phillips, Palatine district champion, and West Maine's Bill Spyrison. The tow did not meet in the district but Spyrison won the latest meeting between the two. In the other bracket Leyden's Bob Kruse will face Elgin's Dave Russell.

Toughest matches of the year in wrestling competition will be held Saturday morning in the semi-finals. The winners will go on to state. The loser will return home to either graduate or plan for next year.

Cards' Cagers In Home Finale Friday

High-Scoring Wheaton To Host Prospect

Home Finale Saturday For Knights

The Interim association pace-setters in defense and offense will square off Friday evening when Prospect invades Wheaton in the loop finale for both clubs.

Coach Dick Kinneman's once-beaten Knights have held league opponents to an average of 47.3 points per game.

Coach Al Duhm's Tigers have been scoring at a 66.0 per game clip in Interim play.

WHEN THESE two clubs got together for their first meeting on Jan. 15, defense took a back-seat to two high-powered offensive attacks and the net result was 169 points, Prospect winning, 96-73.

Friday evening's clash at Wheaton will terminate the Interim association seasons for both teams. A victory would assure Prospect of at least a tie for the loop crown barring an unforeseen — to put it mildly — upset in the Proviso West at East Leyden battle.

Wheaton needs a win to assure itself of third place in the Interim. The Tigers are one game on top of Glenbrook, but the Spartans are favored to dump winless Willowbrook Friday.

KINNEMAN isn't taking the game with Wheaton lightly despite the Knights' success in the first meeting. He is aware of the offensive potential of Johnny Pfund, Al Harris, Jim Jones, and company.

Pfund sent home 20 points against Prospect and holds down sixth place in Interim scoring although he sat out last week's win over Willowbrook because of illness. Jones, the 6-5 pivotman, is two points behind Pfund in the loop point derby.

SATURDAY evening Prospect will host an Elmwood Park five which is 5-14 over the season and 1-3 in the Tri-County. Coach Jim Smith's Tigers have three boys who do a majority of the scoring with Bob Pfister, 6-0 forward,

KICKIN' IT AROUND

By BOB FRISK

IT WON'T BE LONG before high schools throughout the state of Illinois hook up in the post-season basketball tournaments . . . Our nomination for the mismatch of the year is the Proviso East, West Leyden affair . . . That first round contest of the East Leyden regional will match the Suburban league champs and state-ranked Pirates with a club of underclassmen which last week bowed to Lake Park's JVs, 46-33 . . . Looks like a first-class rout!

Area trackmen are turning in some impressive early season performances at their respective colleges . . . Bob Lockwood, an Arlington grad now competing for Northwestern, captured a third in the 70 yard high hurdles in a triangular between the Wildcats, Iowa, and Wisconsin . . . Lockwood competed in the relays and dashes for Russ Attis' Cardinals and holds the school's 120 yard high hurdle mark of :14.6 . . . Another AHS grad, Bill Palmer, copped a second place in the triangular competing for NU . . . State record holder in the high jump, Palmer finished behind Gene Holt of Wisconsin who cleared 6-0.

BOB LOCKWOOD

In the Illinois AAU meet in Champaign last weekend Al Eck of Palatine and Northern Illinois finished fifth in the 60 yard dash; Rich Bader of Arlington and Northern finished fourth in the 300 yard dash; and Bob Mors of Arlington and the University of Illinois ran on the host school's second place mile relay team.

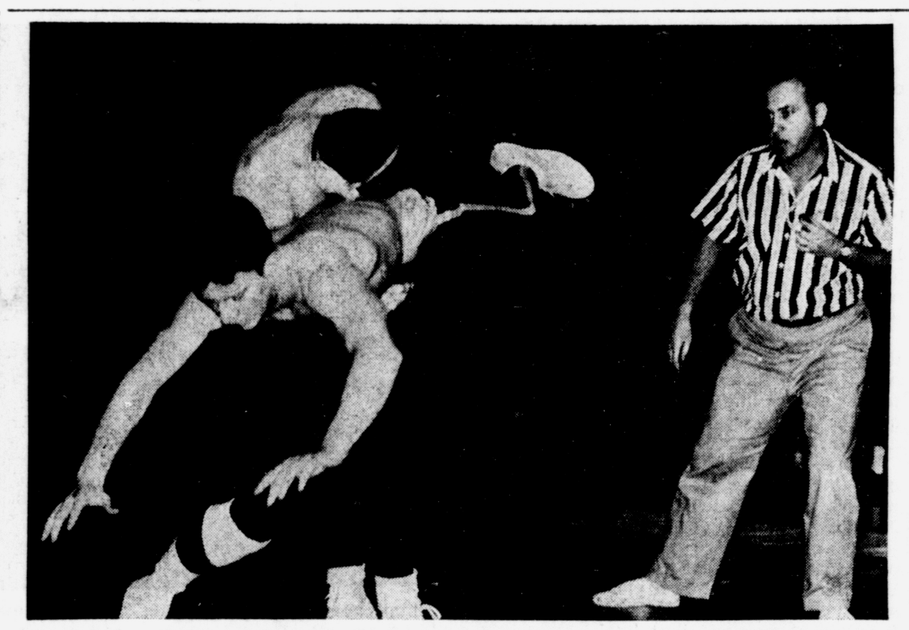
Glenbard West Coach Bob Metcalf was a Little All-American cager at Valparaiso University in Indiana and holds the school scoring record of 1200 points . . . Harvey Dickinson, head football coach at Hinsdale, will be a featured speaker at the annual Illinois high school football coaches clinic in Champaign April 1-2 . . . Arlington's Stan Norman, a junior at Grinnell College in Grinnell, Ia., is still unbeaten in dual swimming meets as a sprinter on the Pioneers' squad

Arlington and Prospect high schools have met head-on for the first time in athletic competition . . . It occurred in the Palatine district wrestling meet in a first round test when the Cards' Tim O'Gorman faced the Knights' Rog Owen at 133.

The match was exciting from the start with O'Gorman finally winning, 7-6 . . . In the first period O'Gorman scored a takedown but Owen escaped . . . In the second period Owen tied the match 2-2 when he escaped . . . O'Gorman got another takedown but Owen escaped . . . O'Gorman began the last period by escaping, but Owen took him down to tie the match at 5-all . . . O'Gorman then reversed Owen who later escaped . . . The reversal was what the Arlington junior needed and he won, 7-6.

In the 145 pound class Arlington's Jerry Greer decisioned Prospect's Don Buick, 7-1 . . . Although the two schools had participated in the same cross country and gymnastics meets, these were the first occasions when they had met head-on with winner take all . . . They may not be the last!

Why didn't Jerry Lucas, the Ohio State sensation, go to Cincinnati where he would have teamed with the fabulous Oscar Robertson this year? . . . Because Lucas was a home-state boy, Cincinnati was naturally hot on his trail . . . Lucas' father had the answer . . . "Let me see," he answered. Robertson will be a senior when Jerry is a sophomore, right? They hardly ever pick two All-Americans from one team, do they?" . . . Mr. Lucas had little doubt that his 6-8 son would make a majority of the 1960 All-American teams . . . Could you imagine Robertson and Lucas on the same team?



DISTRICT CHAMP Terry Harris of Arlington high isn't in too good a position here as he's about to hit the mat, but Harris recovered and went on to decision Maine East's Bob Eaton for the 154 pound championship, 5-3, in the Palatine meet.

Triangular to Open AHS Track Schedule

Evanston and Proviso East, two perennial prep track powers, will furnish Arlington high school with its initial track competition Friday evening in a triangular at the Evanston fieldhouse.

The opener will involve both varsity and frosh-soph squads with the events getting underway at 6:45 p.m.

Coach Russ Attis guided the Cardinals to three major relay titles and the West Suburban crown in the outdoor campaign last season, but the veteran AHS mentor is faced with a definite shortage of manpower at this spot in the indoor schedule.

FORTY-FOUR boys are out for track at Arlington with a breakdown showing 10 freshmen, 10 sophomores, 9 juniors, and 15 seniors.

Attis listed his probable lineup for the opener at the outset of the week with sophs John Latta and Gary Elste in the high hurdles and Latta and Al Westergaard in the lows.

Roger Hage, Mike Dundy, and Westergaard will compete in the 50 yard dash with Dundy and Stavros in the 440. Chuck Phelan and Ron Treabess will handle the 880 for Arlington.

DUNDY IS the individual standout on the varsity this year. A 5-10 senior, he holds the school's 880 yard record of 1:59.7 and was also a part of the mile relay team which holds the AHS standard of 3:28.8.

Three of the boys who ran on that mile relay unit are back this year. Joining Dundy will be Phelan and Stavros.

Arlington's frosh trackmen will run at Evanston Monday at 4:15 p.m.

Maine East Here For League Clash

by BOB FRISK

Arlington and Maine East will match basketball talents Friday evening in what may be the preview to a semi-final spectacle in the forthcoming Palatine regional tourney.

Both West Suburban schools are included in the same regional bracket and would meet in the semi-finals if they survive the first round encounters.

Friday evening's battle in the Arlington gym will be the second clash between the two arch-rivals this season with Bernie Brady's Demons copping the first tilt, 59-51.

ALTHOUGH there isn't much at stake insofar as the conference title picture is concerned, tomorrow's contest carries with it the usual elements of a Maine, Arlington battle.

In addition to the prestige angle which is always present in an athletic contest between the two schools, there is also the fact that the Cards will be playing their home finale of the 1959-60 campaign with nine seniors bowing out of hardwood competition on the AHS floor — tourney play excluded.

Seniors on the current Cardinal aggregation include George Bork, Bob Inman, Gene Dahlquist, Carl Massa, Rick Johnston, Howie Garrison, Ken Dougan, Mel Von Bergen, and Dick Passmore.

AND THEN there's the angle that Arlington has never beaten a Bernie Brady-coached Maine team.

Arlington's Frank Bohac reached into the freshman class to bring up the latest addition to the varsity with Chuck Close slated to suit up for the remaining contests.

"Close possesses a lot of basketball poise," Bohac commented, "and he reacts well under pressure. He looks like one of the boys we'll be counting on for next year's varsity."

CLOSE HAS been a valuable addition to the frosh-soph team this winter, hitting double figures in his last three games to help spark the cage uprising of the young Cards.

Maine has three juniors and a sophomore in its starting five with Ed Petrick, the squad's top scorer in conference play with 112 markers. Bud Hamilton has collected 110 from his guard slot.

The Blue Demons have dropped their last two games to Downers Grove and Glenbard West, but Brady hopes the squad will be able to bounce back in the AHS gym.

GRADE SCHOOL squads within the Arlington high school segment of the district will be special guests of the athletic department Friday evening at the home finale.

Riessen Gaining On Bork

George Bork didn't have one of his best nights offensively last week in West Suburban action but the Arlington senior still held on to his league scoring lead.

Bork was limited to 11 points against Hinsdale, but Downers Grove's Bill Miller, his closest competitor the previous week, was shackled with nine against LaGrange.

Thanks to a 24-point performance in the rout over Arlington, Hinsdale's Marty Riessen has moved into second place in the scoring derby, eight points behind Bork.

East Leyden Rambles To District Mat Title

MAC SAYS

by G. A. McELROY

(In the absence of G. A. McElroy, Bob Buchanan, associate sports editor, has come in off the bench to fill in the words in this week's column. Mac is presently attending a school administrator's convention in Atlantic City, N. J. However, before he left, Mac continued his 10 and 20 years ago.)

Snow Creates Weird Situations

SNOW PLAYED HAVOC with athletic events this past week. It's interesting to see how it affected Palatine high school and its opponents. With school being abruptly cancelled, no students were around to take their physical education equipment home to be washed over the weekend. As a result, coaches had to come to school on Lincoln's birthday to rid the cages of the clothes in order that wrestlers from 10 schools could use the cages during the weekend's district mat tournament. Athletic Director Earl Stutzman, planning to use several students in drawing up tournament pairing cards, had to change his plans and do them himself when snow cancelled out his students.

On the other side of the fence, look at Woodstock which played Palatine's cagers last Friday. Woodstock Coach Bob Nowaskey, former pro gridder, lives on a 10-acre farm outside Woodstock. He had to walk a mile over crusted snow to reach a plowable road to make the trip. The trip to Palatine, normally a 50 minute ride, turned out to be an hour and a half of ruts, bumps and bruises. Then too Palatine treated the Blue Streaks poorly, beating 'em, 62-57. One Woodstock player, 6-3 sopohomore center Russ Peterson, never made it to the game. At last reports he was still snowbound.

It's Orange Ball For Palatine

MAYBE PALATINE HAD BETTER stick with that new orange color basketball. Both Nowaskey and Palatine Coach Dick Kolze agreed to use it and so Palatine came away with a win. This is the first time this season Stutzman has been able to convince anyone to use the ball. It's the opinion in this corner that the ball was much more visible and the number of lost balls and bad passes was cut down considerably. Things aren't so good up Crystal Lake way. Alternating Center Dave Kruse is lost for the year following an appendectomy. Coach Bob Menke could have used the rugged rebounder, who has 77 conference points, come regional time.

Rumors were confirmed this week by school officials that Palatine next December will enter its first holiday basketball tournament in a number of years. The Pirates have accepted a bid to the Fenton tournament where Prospect's Knights ran roughshod this season.

Twenty Years Ago

PALATINE CLINCHED THE Northwest cage title by beating Barrington on its own court, 39-33. The Pirates trailed until midway of the third quarter when a free throw and two long shots by Roy DeBerge and a basket by Chuck Snyder tied the score. Snyder got another basket and Palatine stalled until the Broncho defense shifted out. Then Ray Hahnfeldt drove in for three baskets. Barrington was shut out from the field in the final quarter. A victory over Elk next week means Palatine's first undisputed cage title as four won previously in 1927, 1930, 1934 and 1935 were all shared. Bensenville won its second victory with a 40-25 defeat of Northbrook . . . Arlington lost 74-43 to a hot Crystal Lake team which made it 10 straight in the Northeast Conference. Etling scored 26 for the Lakers who hit an unbelievable 43 per cent from the field. Crystal Lake beat Hebron 28-27 for the first defeat in 23 games. Hebron had previously beaten Crystal Lake 31-30 in an overtime.

Ten Years Ago

BENSENVILLE MOVED INTO a 9-4 record tie for second place with Palatine on Saturday by beating the Pirates, 47-42, after both had won on Friday. Klein of Palatine had 20 and Anderson of Bensenville 13 as Klein took over the conference scoring lead with 196 points in 13 games. Palatine closes the season at home with Barrington next week and must win to retain second. The Bronchos, with 13 straight wins, are a heavy favorite. Bensenville should easily top Wauconda 1-12 to retain second place. Don Buenzow, Palatine's 6-6 soph, made all 11 free throw shots awarded him in the two games last weekend for some sort of a record. Bob Fasick held Harry Childress of Mooseheart to 13 points and Arlington beat the touted invaders 39-28. Childress had a 24 point a game average. Evans had 12 and Morrison 10 for the Arlington Cardinals.

Palatine Only Sore Spot for Winners

by BOB BUCHANAN

East Leyden's powerful Eagles rambled to an easy championship in the 1960 Palatine district wrestling tournament Saturday as all 12 of Coach Charles Farina's matmen advanced to the sectional.

Yet, it was a band of a half dozen Pirates from Palatine who took all the luster off the highly touted Leyden team as they hacked their way to four titles, one less than Leyden, and made life miserable for the champions.

The Eagles, besides taking five titles, had three seconds, three thirds and one fourth. Farina's team lost only eight of 45 matches wrestled.

THE TROUBLE was Palatine beat the Eagles five times. Arlington, Prospect and East Maine were able to do the trick once each. None of the other six schools was able to win a single match against Leyden.

After Leyden and Palatine finished plucking off titles, just three remained. Arlington snatched two and Prospect picked up the last one—the heavyweight title — on Darryl Phillips' referee's decision win over Leyden's Bob Kruse.

Leyden, rated as a powerhouse after 44 dual meet wins over several seasons, was just too strong. The Eagles put all 12 in the semi-finals. The best Palatine could do was eight and York was third with six.

COME THE FINALS and East Leyden still had eight going. Palatine was able to field five. No one else had more than two and two schools, Fenton and West Leyden, had none.

Of all the titles, the least expected was Karl Knowles' 133 pound championship for Palatine as he knocked York's Bruce Strom from the unbeaten class, 1-0.

West Maine's Bill Henning was dropped from the 127-pound unbeaten class in the finals when East Leyden's unbeaten Larry Baron bested him, 4-2, with a final period escape.

PALATINE faced East Leyden only six times and won all but one, that when Leyden's powerful Dennis Owens scored a decisive 11-2 triumph over Palatine Freshman George McCreery in the 138-pound finals.

Most championships went according to the way the coaches seeded the matmen. Only three boys won who were not top rated. The biggest upset was Phillips in the heavyweight bracket where he was seeded fourth. Phillips first upset top-seeded Roger Moos of York, 1-0, on a second period escape. He then came on to get the nod in the championship bout from Referee Bill Fox for his aggressiveness in going for takedowns.

Palatine's Johnny Anderson was seeded third, but he came through to revenge earlier losses. It was Anderson who excited the Palatine team when he turned on Leyden's Bob Foster in his semi-final match to pin him in the third period. Anderson then continued by stopping previously unbeaten Bob Jonas, of West Maine, 3-0, on a last period reversal.

ARLINGTON'S two top-seeded men, Jerry Greer at 145 and Terry Harris at 154, both came home with championships. Greer, held to a 1-0 win over East Leyden's Rick Kvistad in the semis, rammed home a decisive 8-2 triumph at the expense of York's Roger Ackerman.

Harris, winning his bouts by not getting in trouble and taking advantage when he could, clinched the 154 title with a 5-3 triumph at the expense of East Maine's Bob Eaton after Eaton had upset Leyden's Frank Rechar in the semi-finals on a referee's decision.

Palatine stopped Leyden twice in the finals. Pirate Capt. Chuck Conley, who last year lost to Leyden's Don Coffman, scored a 5-1 revenge win by scoring a second period takedown and last period reversal to gain the 112 championship.

BRAD McCREERY, Palatine junior, followed with a hard-earned 4-2 win over Leyden's Tony Rende for the 120 title. With the score tied in the last period, McCreery twice pulled Rende back on the mat before taking him down to score the clinching points before a howling crowd of slightly under 1,000.

Four top-seeded Leyden matmen won championships. Sal Fuscone, Eagle senior, took the 103-pound title when he wrestled cautiously after building up a 3-1 lead against Prospect's Joe Ortiz. Ortiz tried unsuccessfully several times to take Fuscone down as he scooted off the mat. After Baron's title win over enning at 127, Owens took the third Eagle championship.

Nason Monroe stood head and shoulders above the rest of the 165-pounders to win that division. Against him in the finals was Willowbrook's sole finalist, Jim Becker. Becker never could control Monroe as the Leyden matman won, 5-0.

FARINA'S TEAM took its fifth title when Joe Milek upset East Maine's Leon Noe, 3-2. Milek escaped in the last period and then took Noe down to win.

Fenton met with little success as Dick Ulrich at 154 and sophomore Jim Rucker at 180 were the only Bisons to win. Bison Ed Bryant, who had a 16-4 record, failed to make weight for the first time this season and was disqualified. Both Ulrich and Rucker finished second as hopes Jim Diomar and Joe Cuthbertson bowed out in first round competition.

Coach Clyde Dilley's Willowbrook team had only one man other than Becker make the sectionals. He was Bill Pitts who took fourth at 112 pounds after giving Palatine's Conley a rough-go in the semi-finals.

BESIDES GREER and Harris, George Shartle took third after a 3-0 loss to Brad McCreery in the semi-finals at 120. Denny Schneck, 1-0 loser to Milek in the semis returned to beat Rucker, 5-1, for third place at 180. Tim O'Gorman place fourth for Arlington at 133.

Prospect's two other semi-finalists besides Phillips and Ortiz were Bob Trausch who pinned Pitts for third at 112 and Dick Krause who finished fourth at 95 pounds.

In preliminary matches Friday there were no upsets though York's Bob Martin gave Palatine's Conley a real match before bowing, 6-4. A last period reversal saw Prospect's Mike Field lose to Rechar of Leyden 4-2. A last period reversal also gave Moos a 5-1 win over Palatine's Bill Smith, North Suburban champion, in a heavyweight match.

Prospect Wins The Big One! Handles East Leyden, 68-59

By TOM McSHANE

The Knights were magnificent.

Those are the only words you can use.

Prospect high school's basketball team charged into a tie for first place in the Interim association last Thursday night by whipping East Leyden's unbeaten Eagles 68-59 before a screaming crowd of 1700 in their sardine-packed Foundry rd. gymnasium.

The Knights did it the hard way, coming from behind twice in the first three quarters, and staving off a last quarter full-court press with a blistering fast-break attack.

THEY BEAT a fine ball club, led by one of the best players in the Chicago area, Jim Rodgers. Rodgers, a 6-2 junior, played every position on the floor, scored 25 points, 13 of 13 free throws, and personally staged a fantastic fourth quarter show that left the crowd breathless.

But the great one-man performance was not nearly enough to shake the determined Knights.

From the opening gun Coach Dick Kinneman's boys put together a marvelous team effort to capture their eighth win in nine conference starts, and mark themselves as the team to beat in the Palatine regionals in March.

PROSPECT opened the game with a new zone defense, calculated by Kinneman to throw the Eagles off guard. Prior to Thursday's encounter, the Knights had employed a man-to-man defense almost exlusively.

The Eagles were bothered for the first few minutes, and Prospect stepped off to a 4-1 lead. But, with 5:19 remaining in the quarter, Rodgers canned two free throws that gave Leyden a 5-4 advantage.

The Eagles held a lead ranging from one to five points through the first quarter. The scoreboard read 19-16 Leyden when the buzzer sounded.

Then the Knights moved.

GEORGE POMEY sank two free throws to open the second period. Fred Empkie traded two more charity tosses for a basket with Leyden's Jerry Fandel.

Then Dick Palmer hit a 10-footer, and Fred Lussow gave Prospect a 22-21 lead with a nifty follow-up at 4:43.

Pomey and Lussow hit again as the Prospect team scrapped and scrambled all over the floor breaking up passes and rushing the Eagles' shooters.

Rodgers was held scoreless in the vital second period, and his teammates could garner only two baskets and two free throws as the Knights outscored them 12-6 to leave the floor with a 28-25 lead.

A THIRD quarter opening rush by Leyden gave the Eagles a 31-30 lead with 4:43 remaining, and drove the partisan Prospect crowd into a near frenzy.

Heeding the wild cheers, Pomey put the Knights back in the lead 14 seconds later with a driving layup from the top of the key, followed by a free throw. Lussow added coals to the fire with a 30-foot push shot, and Keith Grams and Rich Bachhuber, who came off the bench to play a whale of a game in relief, hit layups to give the Knights a 39-32 lead with 2:40 left in the period.

From there on in it was a tension-packed drama, with the Prospect team fighting valiantly to hold off the eager Eagles.

The Knights opened their lead to 46-38 at the end of the period, then squared off for what they knew would be their biggest quarter of the year.

THERE WAS electricity in the din-filled air as the referee tossed the ball to open the fourth period. The players, coaches, benches, and the stands were in an uproar. It was necessary to call three jump balls before the play resumed.

And Leyden had the full-court press and the unstoppable Rodgers.

Prospect won the tap. With cool determination, the Knights weathered the press for 37 seconds before Bill Zadel drove the center for a layup and a 48-38 lead. Empkie followed a minute later with another basket to give Prospect a 12-point lead, its biggest lead of the game.

The teams swapped baskets, and with 5:46 left in the game it was 52-40 Prospect.

About this time Rodgers came to life.

PLAYING LIKE a man possessed, he shot from the corners, from outside, and drove the free throw lane and base line to score 13 points in five minutes. He was all over the floor, pressing, fighting, and jumping like a demon.

Rodgers led the Eagles on a surge that brought them within six points of the Knights twice, at 57-51, and 66-59 in the closing seconds.

But he was not enough. Nor was the press.

Prospect, led by Zadel and Lussow, who scored 16 between them in the quarter, at first stalled against the press to chew up the time, and then blew it apart with a sweeping fast break attack.

THE FAST BREAK came with a little more than a mile ute on the clock. The Knights held an eight-point, 59-51 lead, and Rodgers was working for a shot.

He missed, and Zadel grabbed off the rebound. With a quick motion he sent it sailing downcourt to the waiting Lussow who drove in for the layup. Seconds later the same play gave the Knights another basket and a 12-point spread with 55 seconds on the clock.

The Eagles were beaten, and Prospect had its tie for the conference lead.

Devils Pour It On, 74-57

by BOB FRISK

Hinsdale doesn't bring out the best in Arlington's Cardinals.

The league-leading Red Devils poured it on again last Thursday evening in burying the visiting Cards, 74-57.

A slim, weather-hampered AHS crowd watched the Hinsdale five collect its second victory of the season over Arlington in a fashion much more effortless than in the initial triumph.

IN THE FIRST meeting, the Cards battled Hinsdale on even terms for an entire half. Last Thursday it was no contest after the Red Devils gained the lead for the first time with 2:25 remaining in the opening period.

From then on, Larry Hoff's WSC leaders rolled along with ease, piling up 13 straight points in that two minutes and 25 seconds and gaining a 19-9 lead.

Arlington never got closer than eight points after the first period and trailed by 20 early in the third period and by 22 at the outset of the fourth stanza.

BOTH CLUBS had four boys tally in the double figures and Arlington only trailed in baskets by three. But the Red Devils had a decisive edge from the charity line with 20 of 27 finding the mark whereas the Cards could only send home nine of 22.

George Bork again had trouble with the Red Devils' defense and wound up with 11 points, six in the final quarter. In addition, only five of Bork's 11 free throws split the net.

A 15-point effort by Bob Inman and some impressive fourth period shooting by Gene Dahlquist were about the only bright spots in what was otherwise a long evening for the visitors.

DAHLQUIST PUMPED in five baskets in the final eight minutes with a onjg umpl minutes with a long jump shot working effectively. Gene teamed with Bork to score 16 of the squad's 22 fourth quarter points.

Marty Riessen once again was Arlington's chief nemesis as the Hinsdale senior tossed in 24 points, including a half-court two-pointer as the buzzer sounded ending the game.

But Riessen had some able support from teammates Hal Brandt, Bob Haarlow, and Steve Snyder. Brandt, a 6-3 Junior, collected 16 points, and Haarlow, a 6-1 Soph, chipped in with 13. Snyder contributed 12.

Overall, it was Hinsdale's evening.

And the Red Devils have had quite a few "evenings" in the 1959-60 basketball campaign.

Gerrard's 16 Paces Prospect Frosh to Win

Thanks to a 16-2 margin in the final period, Prospect's freshman basketball team rolled to a 44-32 victory over East Leyden last Saturday morning.

Coach Larry Wyllie's plebes trailed at halftime, 24-20, out closed the gap with an 8-6 third period.

Bob Gerrard and Ken Groh paced the young Knights with 16 and 11 points respectively.

the top threat.

Joining Pfister among the offensive leaders for Elmwood Park are Frank Caliendo and Tom Bednarz. Caliendo, a 5-6 guard, has 61 points in four Tri-County games, is fast, shifty, and an excellent dribbler. Bednarz is 6-2 and a fair rebounder.

The Mothers of Prospect's varsity cagers will be honored at a special ceremony prior to Saturday night's game, the final home encounter of the season for the Knights.

Little League Registration Set For Two Mornings

Registration of the Arlington Heights Little League for boys who wish to play baseball next summer will be held Saturday, Feb. 27, and Saturday, March 5.

Registration will take place at the Recreation park fieldhouse, located at Miner and Douglas sts., from 9 a.m. to noon.

The fee will be $5 for the first boy in each family and $2 each thereafter. Because of the size of the baseball program, if any boy's father does not participate in the program there will be an additional registration fee of $10.

REGISTRATION is open to any boy age 8 to 15 inclusive (born on or after August 1, 1944—born on or before July 31, 1951.) All boys must reside within the village limits of Arlington Heights unless previously registered in Arlington Heights Little League.

Boys registering for the first time must bring birth certificate or authentic proof of birth date, and all boys must be accompanied by their father.

There will be a Junior League for 8 and 9 year olds, an Intermediate and Major League for 10, 11 and 12 year olds, and a Varsity and Senior League for 13, 14 and 15 year olds.

HIGH SCHOOL athletics may register without affecting their school eligibility provided that they do not play or practice with the Little League until the high school program is completed.

The 1960 League officers are: Howard W. Jarvis, president; Frank DeRosa, vice president; Newell Crockett, treasurer; Leland McKay, secretary; Fred Jasper and Paul Splittorff, assistants to the president; Richard Glantz, finance; Joel Carter, field development; Mert Taylor, equipment; Tom Hamilton, recruitment.

Maine West's Soph Trackmen Rout Prospect

Maine West captured eleven undisputed first places and a tie in the other event as its frosh-soph trackmen rolled over Prospect high school Tuesday afternon, 83-11.

The visiting Warriors swept the top two slots in seven of the individual events with Prospect's Landstrom gaining a tie for first in the high jump.

Summary:

High hurdles — Won by Wolf (M); 2nd, Rowe (M); 3rd, Landstrom (P). Time :08.9.

50 yard dash — Won by Weil (M); 2nd, Robins (M); 3rd, Marks (P). Time :05.9.

IN COMMAND OF this bout is Arlington's Jerry Greer, Palatine district wrestling champ at 145 pounds. Greer (face to camera) is in the process of handing York's Rog Ackerman an 8-2 defeat in the title match.

Zadel's Field Goal Wins for Prospect

Fenton's Bisons came within three seconds of staging their biggest upset of the season. Instead the Bisons lost to Prospect Friday in the Fenton gym, 60-58.

With 10 seconds to play, the Bisons scored to take a 58-57 lead. Prospect called time out. When Prospect put the ball in play it again called time out, using only two seconds to get the ball to mid court.

WITH EIGHT seconds on the clock, the Knights put the ball in play. They passed the ball around, finally getting it to the center Bill Zadel. Zadel got around Larry Bostrom. He shot a hook shot. The ball soared up to the basket and through. The referee called a foul, the basket counted and the Knights were ahead 59-58. Zadel then sank the free throw to make the final score 60-58.

Instead of a sweet victory, the Bisons had a sour defeat. Some observers thought that Prospect might have been down after their victory over East Leyden the night before. But the Bisons really fought from behind. At one time the Bisons were down 17 points. However, they fought from behind and almost won.

During the first half the Bisons made just about all the mental errors in the book. They threw bad passes, didn't rebound, and generally looked poor. Then with about 1:24 remaining in the half, the Bisons seemed to jell. They began to narrow the margin and by the half they trailed 36-24. At the quarter Prospect led 19-9.

THE BISONS started the second half calmly. They made some easy layups. Then they seemed to get scared again and clutched. With about 3:30 remaining in the third period, the Bisons sank two quick buckets. This seemed to give the Fentonites courage to keep going.

With about 2:30 left in the period Fenton came out of the zone defense and went into a man to man. This had little effect in the remainder of the third period. At the end of the quarter Prospect led, 48-39.

Fenton scored on the opening play of the fourth period. Then they scored three points in 10 seconds to trail 48-42. Zadel, star Prospect center sat out much of the third period and part of the fourth with four personal fouls. With 5:26 left in the game he re-entered the lineup, and later went on to sink the winning basket.

Warriors' Trackmen Top PHS

Maine West's varsity trackmen spoiled Prospect's indoor track debut with a decisive, 74 1/3-25 2/3 victory Tuesday afternoon in the PHS fieldhouse.

The visiting Warriors from Des Plaines collected firsts in every individual event but the broad jump where Prospect's Jim Glidden sailed 18-11 for the victory.

Seconds for Bob Scott's Knights were collected by Tom Perosino in the high hurdles, Keith Voigt in the 50-yard dash and broad jump, Glidden in the high jump, and Tom Flynn in the pole vault.

Summary:

High hurdles — Won by Luzietti (M); 2nd, Petrossino (P); 3rd, Swanberg (M). Time :08.3.

50 yard dash — Won by Albertson (M); 2nd, Voigt (P); 3rd, Neumann (M). Time :05.8.

Hinsdale Tops Cards' Frosh Five

Arlington's frosh basketball team fell behind from the start and finally succumbed to a strong Hinsdale quintet last Saturday morning, 50-25.

Coach Rog Steingrabe r's first year team had only one boy tally more than one basket with Ken Seeger chipping in five from the field.

Hinsdale held a 24-13 halftime lead and a 37-19 margin after three periods.

Arlington's Soph Wrestlers Fifth In Invitational

Waukegan's frosh-soph wrestlers piled up 111 points to easily outdistance the rest of the field in the third annual sophomore wrestling tournament last Thursday and Friday.

The host school finished 45 points ahead of runnerup East Leyden with Proviso West a distant third with 53 markers.

Coach Julius Fliehler's Arlington Cardinals collected 36 points for a fifth place finish in the meet.

THE YOUNG Cards had one individual champion in Hal Selleck at 154. Selleck defeated matmen from Maine, North Chicago, and Waukegan on the way to the title.

Ken Adams gained a second place at 120, dropping a 3-1 championship match, and Roy Woodruff advanced to the finals at 138 before bowing, 3-2.

Heavyweight Bob Burm drew a bye in his first match, dropped a battle via a pin, then came back for a victory and defeat in the wrestlebacks.

HILTON SHIRT CO. bowlers won the match game from Paddock Classic league at Jeffery Lanes in Wheeling Saturday night, in spite of the locals winning the first two games. Members of the Hilton squad, which ranked fifth in the recent national team match game championships, include Gene Rhoda, Jim Stefanich, Capt. Mo Shiffman, Frank Huspen and Dick Rench.

Hilton Shirt Co. Keglers Top Paddock Classic Five

The city slickers, Hilton Shirt Co. keglers, found their country cousins, Paddock Classic bowlers, almost too much Saturday night, but hung on to come through with a 90-pin victory after all, with the March of Dimes picking up $50 in the process. It was the first of several match games for the Paddock bowlers with the next one slated for March.

Irv Hahnfeldt led the way with seven in a row and a 255 opener for the local aggregation with Casper Dewitz, Ed Duff and Tom Kouros also over 200, hitting 1053 for Paddock. The locals also copped the second affair with 999. Hilton Shirts, captained by Mo Shiffman, came through with 986 and 994 to go into the final tilt, 72 sticks down.

ED DUFF of Pentane Gas was the only man hitting his average that last game, notching a 202 as the others rested on their laurels. That "vacation" meant a 1024-862 loss, and the match, 3004-2914. Leading the shirt squad the final game was 17-year-old Jim Stefanich with 234.

High men for the night included Stefanich 653 and Dick Rench 626 for the Hiltons, and Ed Duff 607 and Irv Hahnfeldt 604 for the Paddock league. Mrs. Edward Klocke, Wheeling March of Dimes chairman, reported her collection at the match netted over $50 for the local paralysis fund.

Erlenbaugh's 45 Points Sink Dons In Loop Contest

by DAVE SCHLAVER

Notre Dame took an easy 72-55 exhibition victory over St. Thomas of Rockford Friday, but then traveled to Elmhurst and suffered their fourth Catholic Suburban conference loss Monday night at the hands of Immaculate Conception, 68-67.

This loss gave Notre Dame a 5-4 record in league competition and almost assured Joliet Catholic of the title. Notre Dame could be co-champions if they can beat Joliet tomorrow night at home and if Joliet loses next week.

IN THE GAME with St. Thomas, the Dons jumped to an early 9-8 lead and held it until the Tommies tied them at 14-14. The Dons led 21-20 just before the quarter but St. Thomas took the lead on a last second basket.

The Dons came back in the second period with 23 points to move to a 44-33 halftime advantage. The score at the end of three was 57-44. St. Thomas' high scorer, Frank DeCastris fouled out in the third period after scoring 19 points.

Notre Dame gradually increased their lead until the final score, 72-55, was reached. John Schramm had 20 points for the Dons; Bob Bachmann had 18.

AT I.C. Monday night, Notre Dame was on the short edge of the score until early in the fourth period. The Knights' outstanding forward, Dick Erlenbaugh, picked up 15 points in the first period and the Dons trailed 23-15 by the time the buzzer sounded.

Erlenbaugh was held to 13 in the second period and with the help of ten points by Schramm, the Dons outscored the Knights 18-17 but trailed at halftime 40-33.

Bachmann led the Dons' attack in the third period with eight points. Erlenbaugh had 10. Again the Dons outscored Immaculate Conception but trailed 52-49.

A FIELD GOAL by Bachmann and free shots by Bob Goldberg and Bob Hammarley gave Notre Dame a 53-52 lead. Two more baskets made the score 57-52. I.C. didn't let that score stand long, but came back to tie it at 57-57. The lead changed hands until I.C. picked up a free throw and led 64-63.

Goldberg gave Notre Dame a temporary advantage, 65-64, but two baskets by I.C., including Erlenbaugh's 45th point made the score 68-65. Schramm scored on a jump shot with about ten seconds left. The Dons took the ball away from the Knights and called time out. Goldberg's half-court shot was good as the buzzer sounded, but the referee called traveling and I.C. picked up their fourth conference victory.

THE KNIGHTS had beaten Notre Dame previously this year in the Christmas tournament on the Dons court. The had also suffered a 66-65 loss to the Dons in league game in which a last second shot didn't count.

Erlenbaugh set a new scoring record for his team and also in the conference.

Rodgers Rolls On In League

With one game remaining in Interim association play, it's pretty safe to assume that Jim Rodgers will reign as the loop scoring champ.

In fact, that's been pretty much of a foregone conclusion for several weeks now.

The East Leyden ace holds a 40-point margin over runnerup Greg Sletteland of Glenbrook and these two boys have definitely clinched the top two slots in the race.

Prospect's Fred Lussow moved into fourth place, two points out of third, thanks to his impressive 22-point effort against East Leyden.

Barrington Entry Drops Two Games In Classic Play

Martinetti's keglers in the Paddock Classic traveling league saw their lead shortened to just one game Saturday night when the Barrington five dropped two while third place Pentane Gas won twice. Second place Connies lost all three, moving Pentane and Casablanca into second.

Beverly Lanes found its own alleys to its liking. Monte Arkus of Roselle led the way in the opener with 248 and 1011, with Martinetti's garnering 928. The leaders hit 1001 the second tilt, but Beverly came through with 1012, including a 234 by Clint Hefferan of Park Ridge.

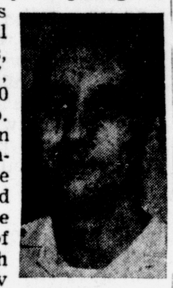
BARRINGTON FIVE refused to give in, though, and came through with 981 for a 15 stick victory the final contest, with Roy Papineau's 222 leading the way. Five men made the magic 600 bracket, including Papineau 631, Dave Catherwood of Arlington Heights 627, Casper Dewitz of Barrington 616, Tom Kouros of Barrington Woods 610 and Hefferan 609.

HAHNFELDT

James Stavros won the first game from Pentane Gas at Jeffery Lanes, 988-952, but dropped the other two as the Gunnell-men hit 1016 and 1000. Bill Harris of Wheeling led the way the opener with 225. Seven men hit 200 or better the middle tilt with Stavros' 954 being 63 pins short of victory. Four men hit 600, including Ward Siewert of Palatine 614, George Stone of Glenview 607, Al Valentino of Rolling Meadows 604 and Ed Duff of Niles 601.

* * *

TOMMY THOMAS' Casablanca came back into winning form by disposing of Connies - Des Plaines all three times, shooting 987, 1006 and 960 to do the job. The triple win put Casablanca into a tie for second spot, just one game out of first. High were Irv Hahnfeldt of Arlington Heights 225 and 625, and Dick Nethaway 224 and 603.



PERRY

This week it will be Casablanca playing host to James Stavros at Hi-Way Recreation in Palatine, Pentane Gas opposing Beverly Lanes at Beverly in Arlington Heights, and Martinetti's traveling to Des Plaines Bowling Lanes to meet Connies' Snack Shop.

Impressive

Michigan State swimming coach Charles McCaffree has directed the Spartans to a dual meet record of 106 wins and 34 losses from 1941 thru 1959.

Arlington's JV's Capture Cage Tilt

Four free throws by Frank Hermes made the difference last Saturday morning as Arlington's junior - varsity quintet edged Hinsdale in overtime, 55-53.

The Red Devils had put on a rush in the final period to overcome a 41-34 third period deficit and tie the count.

Hermes collected all of Arlington's points in the overtime and Norm Patberg's five had another victory.

Skip Witt and Bob Jacobsen paced the victors offensively with 14 and 13 points respectively. Jim Carmignani had 21 for the losers.

THAT FIRST GAME was Paddock's, all the way, with Irv Hahnfeldt's 255 tops Paddock Classic leaguers Tom Kouros of Beverly Lanes, Casper Dewitz of Martinetti's, Edward Duff of Pentane Gas, Hahnfeldt of Tommy Thomas' Casablanca, and Buck Perkins of James Stavros look over the match game scoreboard. Hilton Shirt keglers bowed twice, but then came back strong for victory in the third game and the match by 90 as only one Paddock bowler hit his average the final test. The match raised $50 for the March of Dimes.

Tri-City Golf

The Tri-city Women's Golf league met February 9 in the home of its president, Mrs. William DeHuszar, 411 Wego trail, Mt. Prospect, to discuss plans for the coming season.

The opening luncheon was set tentatively for April 19. The first day of play will be May 10 at the Mt. Prospect country club.

Other officers include Mrs. Ted Benda, vice president; Mrs. Warren VanderVoort, treasurer; Mrs. William Giuntoli and Mrs. Francis Stahr, social co-chairmen; Mrs. Joe Vavra and Mrs. Theo Byhring, handicap co-chairmen; Mrs. Fred Bruce, publicity; and Mrs. Robert E. Lee, rules chairman and weatherman.

Leyden Sophs Top Prospect Quintet

The little Knights of Prospect rested on their laurels last Friday night, and took a 42-34 drubbing from East Leyden's Eagles for their first interim association loss of the season.

The Prospect frosh-sophs, who cinched the conference title last week by whipping Willowbrook while Glenbrook was turning back East Leyden, started out slowly, apparently shaken by the size of the crowd on hand for the big varsity game.

The little Knights were down 10-8 at the end of the first quarter. A shaky second quarter and a sharp Leyden fast break put them deeper in the hole at 23-15 at halftime.

AFTER THE intermission, Coach Ted Wissen's boys came back with six straight points to close the gap to 23-31. But a basket and free throw by Keith Null started the Eagles on another rampage that helped them to a 34-26 lead at the end of the quarter.

In the last quarter the little Knights tried desperately to break up a Leyden stall, but couldn't quite get started. Led by Null at the free throw line, the Eagles moved to a 10-point, 42-32 lead with 15 seconds remaining.

Jim Arnold and Dick Skelnick led the Eagle scorers with 11 points. Null had eight.

Mike Francek was high man for Prospect with 11. Doug Spaulding and Tommy Thomas had nine.

The little Knights will try to make it a 9-1 conference record tomorrow night when they journey to Wheaton to meet the little Tigers.

Prospect's Frosh Five Wins, 62-21

Prospect's frosh basketball unit erupted with an explosive fourth quarter Monday afternoon as it rolled to a 62-21 victory over Lake Park.

The young Knights led 37-21 going into the final stanza and then proceeded to pour in 25 points while the Lancers were held scoreless.

Tim Jilek Gains Pony Class Title

Another individual class championship was added to the laurels accumulated by the Mt. Prospect speed skating club when Tim Jilek, pony class star, won his first title in the Lake Geneva, Wis., Open last weekend.

Skating with the poise of a veteran, Jilek stroked his way to a first place finish in the 220 yard sprint in his first event.

On the following day Jilek survived a first turn scramble and skated hard to finish a comfortable fourth in the 440 yard finals, gaining the necessary points for the pony championship.

JIM RYBARCZYK continued to skate in championship style, finishing a close second in both the 220 and 440 yard juvenile events. He will be competing this weekend in the once-postponed North American championships at West Allis, Wis.

Bob Grady, recent graduate to the juvenile class, skated through to the final of the 440 yard sprint and gained a fourth place medal. He also reached the semi-final in the 220 yard sprint.

The Northwest Open, originally scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 13, was again postponed due to lack of ice at Lions Park. It is now questionable whether the meet can be held in the local rink so other sites are being considered.

THE FIRST indoor Land of Lincoln meet is scheduled for Saturday at the University of Illinois skating arena in Champaign.

Thirty-five skaters and parents of the Mt. Prospect club are chartering a bus to make the trip. There are a few vacancies available, and any fan wishing to join the group for the day may arrange a reservation by calling CLearbrook 3-1534.

Sophs Top Bisons

Fenton's sophomore cagers lost to Prospect Knights Friday night in the Fenton Gym 52-35. The Bisons had trouble in cracking the Knight defense, and the Bisons also failed to rebound.

The Bisons were able to play the entire third period without committing one personal foul. However, at the same time they were also unable to rebound. Fenton had the height advantage, but Prospect kept the Bisons out of position with a zone defense and grabbed many rebounds.

Leading Bison scorer was Don Gustafson wth 14 points. Phil Floring was second in scoring with nine points. Leading Prospect scorer was Doug Spauling with 18 points. Mike Francek and Steve Fossler both netted 10 points.

Fenton had trouble with the Prospect zone defense almost from the start. Prospect pulled out to a slim 11-9 lead at the quarter, and never again was seriously threatened by the Bisons. At the half the Knights led 23-18. During the second period Fenton was unable to put its height advantage to use.

In the third period the Bisons were kept in the game by Don Gustafson's hitting from the floor, hitting three buckets. Only one personal foul was committed during the entire period.

The fourth quarter again saw the Bisons unable to grab rebounds and Prospect pulling ahead. This gives the Bisons a 3-13 season record.

Arlington's Soph Five Rolls Along

The most improved frosh-soph team in the West Suburban conference.

That's the most appropriate way to describe Arlington's Cardinals after last Thursday evening's 50-46 victory over Hinsdale.

Coach Ken Schaller's Cards have recorded three straight impressive WSC games - two of them victories - and have settled in fifth place in the loop flag chase.

WITH FROSH Chuck Close leading the way, the young Cards handled the Imps with relative ease although the hosts put on a flurry in the final minutes and moved within two points.

Hinsdale, down throughout the contest with a deficit of 10 points at halftime, rallied and pulled up to two markers, 48-46, of Arlington with 39 seconds to play.

Two free throws by Rusty Blix pushed the Cards ahead, 50-46, and the visitors held on in the final, hectic seconds.

ARLINGTON trailed by two at the end of the first period but rebounded with a 20-point second quarter and 30-20 halftime lead.

Frosh Gary Brodnan sparked the second period uprising with eight points as six Cards broke into the scoring column.

Close and Ross Retterer paved the way in the final 14 minutes and Close finished up the contest with 14 points. Retterer added 12. It was the third straight game that both boys had broken into double figures.

City and Suburb Must Depend on Each Other

In an address before members of the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry last week, John W. Evers, former association president, expressed the belief that "today no large city is independent of its suburban communities."

Evers, president of the association during 1955 and 1956, spoke to its members at the 56th annual luncheon meeting at the Palmer House hotel Wednesday, Feb. 10.

He pointed out that "just as the suburbs depend on the central community, so must the central city depend on the outlying districts. The central community and its suburbs are inextricably bound together and the real measurement of achievement must be obtained through the evaluation of the area as a whole."

NOW ASSOCIATED with the Commonwealth Edison company, Evers said he believes the significant figures on the growth and development of Chicago are those which tell the progress of the metropolitan area.

"The creation of industrial employment brings a multiple expansion of economic activity," he said. "Conversely, if industrial workers are lost to a area, its economy suffers."

Evers cited a nationwide poll conducted recently by Mill and Factory magazine. The poll queried owners, presidents, and managers of industrial firms, and asked this question: "If you had a choice of a new plant location, in which state would you put your plant?"

THE FIRST CHOICE of management people across the country was Illinois.

The Great Lakes states still dominate the nation in industrial growth, he said. The new booming centers of the south and west attract much attention because of their speed of development, but the hard-core center in manufacturing is definitely contained within Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Indiana and Ohio.

"The prosperous Chicago metropolitan area is the focal point of this midwest region," Evers said. "While the city of Chicago continues to be the heart of our area, the greatest industrial expansion is taking place outside the city limits.

"The situation is not singular to Chicago, for the same thing is happening in all parts of the country where a mature city is the hub of a commercial and industrial area... Chicago's growth is taking place in the suburbs and outlying sections."

HE EXPLAINED that the scarcity of suitable building sites in the city has caused industry to look to the suburbs. Improvement in technology has compelled industry to build spread-out single-story buildings to house most efficiently the modern manufacturing processes, he said.

"Another factor has been the movement of people to the suburbs. For the most part, industry locates in or close t the co n uityformmhmhcwio to the community from which it plans to recruit its workers. This is particularly true of moderate-size and small industrial establishments," Evers reasoned.

He mentioned the many instances of whole new communities developing where there was little or nothing before. "Only four or five years ago," he said, "the farm land adjacent and to the west of O'Hare Field could be purchased for $500 an acre. Today that same land sells for $3,500 an acre."

He cited the cases of Evergreen Park and Glenview, suburbs whose populations went up 400 per cent in a five-year period. Skokie and Franklin Park jumped 365 per cent in the same amount of time. (BB

Max Ullrich Honored by Accountants

Max G. Ullrich, 915 S. Dunton ave., Arlington Heights, was honored by the Chicago chapter of the National Association of Accountants at its meeting on Jan. 28 at the Furniture Club.

Sixteen associate directors of the chapter received special recognition for their outstanding work. Speaker of the evening was Frank M. Knox, internationally known authority in the field of office procedures and office cost control programs.

Ullrich is associate director of concurrent sessions as secretary and treasurer for the Chicago chapter, and is employed by Ohmite Mfg. Co. as assistant controller.

Bank Observes Inventory Rise

The rate of build-up of business inventories, particularly in the steel and steel-using industries, is being observed closely for indications of the course of activity in the months ahead, says the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago.

With stocks at relatively low levels in most hard goods lines at the beginning of the year, there has been an appreciable inventory rise thus far in the current quarter, and a rapid build-up perhaps will continue in the April-June period, says the Bank.

THE FASTER the rise in inventories in coming months, the more likely that the rate will not be sustained. A resulting slower rate of inventory growth will tend to dampen, though not necessarily reverse, the trend in general business activity.

Steel output through the first half of 1960 had been estimated at 70 million tons, 9 per cent higher than first-half 1959 when inventories were being accumulated rapidly. However, it now appears that some types of steel—certain heavy structurals and heavy plate and pipe for use in the oil industry — are flowing to users' hands somewhat more readily than had been anticipated earlier.

The bank also notes that while other types of steel, such as cold-rolled sheet and bars and galvanized sheet, currently are in tight supply, this situation is improving and could ease further rather quickly if demands of the auto industry were to decline somewhat.

Inventories of automobiles, the major steel-using product, also have risen faster than anticipated. Production schedules originally had called for 2,250,000 autos in the current quarter, 40 per cent above last year and 7 per cent above the previous record first quarter in 1955.

SALES IN January averaged 18,200 per selling day, 11 per cent ahead of the year-ago pace but below industry expectations. At the same time, inventories rose to 800,000. The largest inventory of unsold domestically-produced autos on record was 965,000 just before the model changeover in August of 1959.

To keep inventories below the million level and still attain the original production goal, sales of domestically-produced autos would have to average 23,000 per selling day in the first quarter. This pace would about equal the record first quarter of 1955. In addition, foreign cars, a minor factor in the earlier year, are now selling at a rate of almost 2,000 per day.

Mount Prospect Man 15,000th Graduate

Frank McDade, 400 S. Emerson, Mt. Prospect, chief, management engineering and control office, Chicago ordnance district, U.S. army, attended the Top Management Seminar at Rock Island Arsenal, and on 22 January 1960 was selected as the 15,000th graduate of the Ordnance Management Engineering Training agency.

McDade was born in Tennille, Ga., and was graduated from the University of Georgia with a B.S. in accounting. After graduating from college in 1938 he entered the government service and in 1941 was inducted into the army. He was commissioned as second lieutenant in 1942 and at the time of his discharge in December 1945, was serving as assistant finance officer at Camp McCoy, Wis.

At the present time, he serves in the army reserves, Finance Corps, with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. Upon his completion of military service, Mr. McDade re-entered government service where he is presently chief of management engineering and control office, Chicago Ordnance district.

McDade and his wife are the parents of a 9 year old daughter.

6 Northwest Men Named By Lutherans

Six northwest suburban residents have been elected to the first board of directors of the Illinois Lutheran Welfare association.

Members serving on the board include the Rev. John P. Petersen, 944 N. Kaspar, Arlington Heights; Arthur Haenggi, 415 See-Gwun, Mt. Prospect; A. O. Kompelien, 49 S. Ashland, Palatine; Dr. N. M. Nesset, 300 W. Dundee rd., Palatine; the Rev. John Cooperrider, 109 Garden lane, Prospect Heights; and Paul C. Johnson, 507 Hillcrest, Prospect Heights.

At a special meeting of The Lutheran Home Finding society of Illinois Feb. 8 members ratified a plan of consolidation with the Norwegian Lutheran Children's Home society of Edison Park.

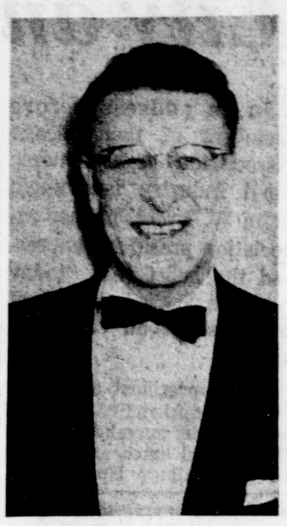
Members of the Children's home had previously approved these plans Jan. 26. These two organizations will be joined into a children's agency to be known as the Illinois Lutheran Welfare association, which these six northwest suburban residents will help govern.

Soft Water Dealer Attends Meeting

Ray Chmelik, operator of Culligan Water Conditioning, 3 W. Central rd., Mt. Prospect, recently returned from a 3-day convention of midwestern Culligan dealers. Headquartered in a large Chicago hotel, the series of meetings introduced the latest advances in water softening techniques and equipment.

Chmelik reports that the new developments are keeping pace with the space age. As an example, he cited Culligan's most recent addition to their line, the new "Mark 4" water softener. According to Chmelik, 'The name is indicative of the advanced construction and performance features of this unit. It is as rugged as a missile, with a steel outer tank and a new rust and corrosion proof separate innertank. And, like a missile, it features 4-stage operation controlled by a preset 'mechanical brain.' The user has nothing to set, nothing to forget.

"IN ADDITION to the convenience offered by this complete automation," he stated, "these new engineering advances, coupled with the newly-developed balanced water flow, provide from 28 to 38 per cent more softening capacity for each pound of salt. This means that more gallons of soft water will be produced with no increase in the amount of salt needed."



RAY CHMELIK

Chmelik went on to say that the new "Mark 4" is extremely versatile. It will remove large amounts of iron, as well as efficiently soften water containing as much as 100 grains of hardness per gallon. He pointed out that any water supply containing over three grains is sufficiently hard to require softening, and that the average hardness of water in the northwest suburban area is 20 grains. (BB

St. Paul Federal says...

"Business as usual during construction"

Building Report No. 15 to shareholders and friends

Yes, you may step into our present headquarters and hardly know there's a big addition going up next door. Unlike a modernization program, there is no dust or ladders or other obstacles to annoy you. Your visits will find no interruption to service or inconvenience for our customers.

Have you seen it?

Right now, lots of interested folks are peeking through the wire mesh viewers in our 140-ft. fence that surrounds the building site. If you're like most of us, you'll enjoy the role of sidewalk superintendent, too. Fact is, this project of ours is still another incentive for you to visit St. Paul Federal.

Weather's a big factor

"All we need is some cold, dry weather," said the contractor. "Even so, we're pouring the last of the footings and the basement walls."

With these walls up, the real size of our new addition will become apparent to you. We're adding 45,200 sq. ft. of space on three levels, bringing our total area to 76,700 sq. ft.

Plenty of free parking

Actually, the new addition is being erected on the site of an original St. Paul parking lot. But there will be just as many parking facilities as before. Some months ago the Association acquired another nearby area, so we continue to have three lots sufficient to park 175 cars. They are located on North Avenue at Nashville; Normandy and North; and Euclid Avenue at North, Oak Park side.

Please remember — there's business as usual at St. Paul all during construction. And we welcome you and your family to inspect our building site and activity at any time. We'll keep you posted, so watch for our next building report in your local newspaper.

It's your building... watch it grow!

Hints To Home Owners

by James Fizzell
Assistant Farm Advisor

Some of the most attractive flowers used for home beautification are the colorful annuals. They are valued not only for their own beauty, but for the beauty they develop in the scenes in which they are a part.

Color, form and texture are the characteristics in plants and flowers that produce pleasing effects. Garden composition is largely a matter of arranging and combining these characteristics to form attractive patterns.

To produce a harmonious effect, use flowers in which no more than two or three colors predominate at one time. In other words, strive for simplicity in color.

ANNUALS ARE generally classed in three form groups. The form of the plant dictates its use. The tall species or varieties, such as delphinium, nicotianum and giant marigolds, are called background forms. Medium-sized species are called the middleground forms. Examples are phlox, zinnias, snapdragons, marigolds and others. And short varieties, such as sweet alyssum and lobelia are called foreground forms.

The medium-sized species make up the body of the garden. Foreground and background flowers are used to set off the middleground.

Texture is used to produce unity of effect. Fine-textured plants, such as alyssum or bleeding heart, give an effect of nearness. Coarse-textured plants, such as hollyhocks, give the effect of distance.

Skillful combining of plants of different texture adds interest.

Annuals have other uses in the garden too. They can be used to decorate and cover bare areas where perennials have been killed. Or they can brighten dull areas. (BB

Local Couple Attends Meet

Local residents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Ballard, 407 E. Rockwell, Arlington Heights, returned home last week after spending 10 days attending the All American Life and Casualty company sales convention at the Palm Beach Biltmore in Palm Beach, Fla.

As president of All American, Mr. Ballard addressed the more than 300 guests at the opening session, January 31, and again at the awards dinner, held on the last evening, February 4.

The Ballards then flew to the Grand Bahamas, B.W.I., where they entertained three company leaders and their wives. The men earned the trips for outstanding sales performances during the company's sales campaign to honor Mr. Ballard during President's Month. (BB

League of Women Voters, USO Push GI Balloting

The United Service Organization of Chicago has joined the League of Women Voters in an effort to promote use of nonpartisan candidate and election information on the part of servicemen in this area.

Mrs. Harper Andrews, president of the Illinois league, and Chicago attorney Robert L. Hunter, president of Chicago's USO, announced that the joint local project had begun as a result of the cooperative agreement worked out between the Defense department and the League of Women Voters of the United States last year to assist men and women in the armed forces in casting an informed absentee vote in elections.

THE LEAGUE of Women Voters stands ready to assist service personnel in the coming Primary Elections. Prior to the election this April almost all Leagues will be asking questions of candidates either through interviews or questionnaires and compiling information in printed form. The same information is provided on all candidates of all parties for each national, state and local office.

Any serviceman or his family may obtain candidate information by writing to the local League in his community and indicating his home address and data wanted. All requests should be accompanied by a stamped self-addressed envelope.

The USO, through Chicago's USO center at 187 N. Clark st. and its affiliated agencies, the YMCA, the YWCA, the Jewish Welfare Board, the Salvation Army, the Catholic Community Service and the Travelers Aid will call attention of the servicemen to the coming elections and the materials offered by the League.

For servicemen from Illinois, they will have available the locations of Leagues in Illinois and election dates for Illinois elections. There are 71 local Leagues in this state.

FAMILIES of Chicago servicemen may get information from the League of Women Voters of Chicago at 67 E. Madison, Chicago.

Voting officers at each military installation have information on voting and registration requirements in all states, since procedures differ widely. Out-of-state servicemen will find posted on Bulletin Boards at military bases a list of State Leagues to which they may write if they are not sure whether there is a local League in their community.

There are 1080 Leagues in the United States with state League offices in all states except Alaska and Hawaii.

The provision of election information is a free service of the League of Women Voters as part of its continuing campaign to further informed citizen participation in government. (WUS

Palatine Man Graduates from Lighting School

Ralph W. Faulkner, 429 S. Benton, Palatine, sales representative for Idlewood Electric Company, Inc., graduated recently from the Academy of Lighting Arts.

He was one of 38 persons who completed the 12 week intensive study course held at the Chicago Lighting Institute.

Among the new certified residential lighting consultants graduated by the institute are architects, interior decorators, electrical contractors, and representatives of lighting equipment manufacturers, distributors and retailers.

Sponsored by the Chicago Lighting Institute, the Academy of Lighting Arts is an effort to better publicize the advantages of better lighting in the home. "Students" learned the application of lumens, foot candles and foot lamberts in estimating lighting needs, and studied the use of light as an integral part of home decorating.

Mrs. Spilman Appointed Duke Area Chairman

Mrs. T. W. Spilman, 641 S. Belmont, Arlington Heights, has been appointed an area chairman for the 13th annual Duke University Loyalty Fund campaign.

The appointments of 258 such chairmen were announced today by Charles A. Dukes, Director of Alumni Affairs at Duke. "This area campaigns," he said, "are of great importance in obtaining our annual goals. "Without the Area Chairmen and their committees, the goals simply would not be reached." The 1959-60 campaign goals are $325,000 and 11,500 donors.

Kickoffs for area campaigns in all parts of the nation are scheduled for Feb. 12. Workers selected by the chairmen will make an effort to contact personally all Duke alumni who reside in their regions, in an effort to enlist the unrestricted financial support the University needs this year.

Money raised through the Loyalty Fund from alumni, parents of students, and friends has become a substantial part of the University's annual operating budget. Last year the Fund surpassed $300,000 for the first time when more than 42 per cent of the University's former students participated as donors.

Program Announced For College Concert

CONCORDIA COLLEGE choir concert Feb. 28 is expected to once again send two high school students to Interlochen music camp, according to Rev. Ed Behrens, concert chairman for Arlington Heights Rotary club, sponsors of the event. Concert will be held at Prospect high school comfortable Little Theater Sunday evening, Feb. 28, starting at 8:15.

Arlington high school students Jerry Campbell (trumpet), and Allen Fiege (sax), shown here with high school music director Fritz Schmoyer, received Rotary scholarships to Interlochen last year. The boys are two of the outstanding music students at Arlington again this year.

Complete program for the approaching Concordia Teachers college choir concert at Prospect high school has been announced by Rev. Ed Behrens, concert chairman for the Arlington Heights Rotary club.

Local Rotarians are sponsoring this concert to raise money for Interlochen music camp scholarships, always awarded to two local high school music students. Jerry Campbell and Alan Feige, both of Arlington high school, received Rotary scholarships last year.

The concert is scheduled to start at 8:15 Sunday night, Feb. 28, in the Little Theater of Prospect high school. Tickets at $1.50 are available from members as well as at Harris Pharmacy, Svoboda's Men's Store, Wessman-Cunningham, Krause & Kehe, Paddock Publications, Heller Lumber and House of Jarvis in Arlington Heights.

FIRST SECTION of the program will be composed of selected parts from "Jesu, Meine Freude," a motet by J. S. Bach.

The selections for the second part of the concert will be "Morning Prayer," J. Staden; "He Who With Weeping Soweth," H. Schutz; "Four Choruses from Lamentations," C. Schalk; "Seven Words of Christ from the Cross," R. Wienhorst; "The Shepherd Has Arisen," O. Lasso.

The third group of selections to be sung will include "Arise, O Ye Servants," J. Sweelinck; "Jesu, the Very Thought of Thee," E. Bairstow; "Rejoice, Rejoice, Believers," A. Gumpeltzhaimer; "Sweet Little Boy Jesus," J. Niles; "Hodie Christus Natus Est," G. Palestrina. (B9

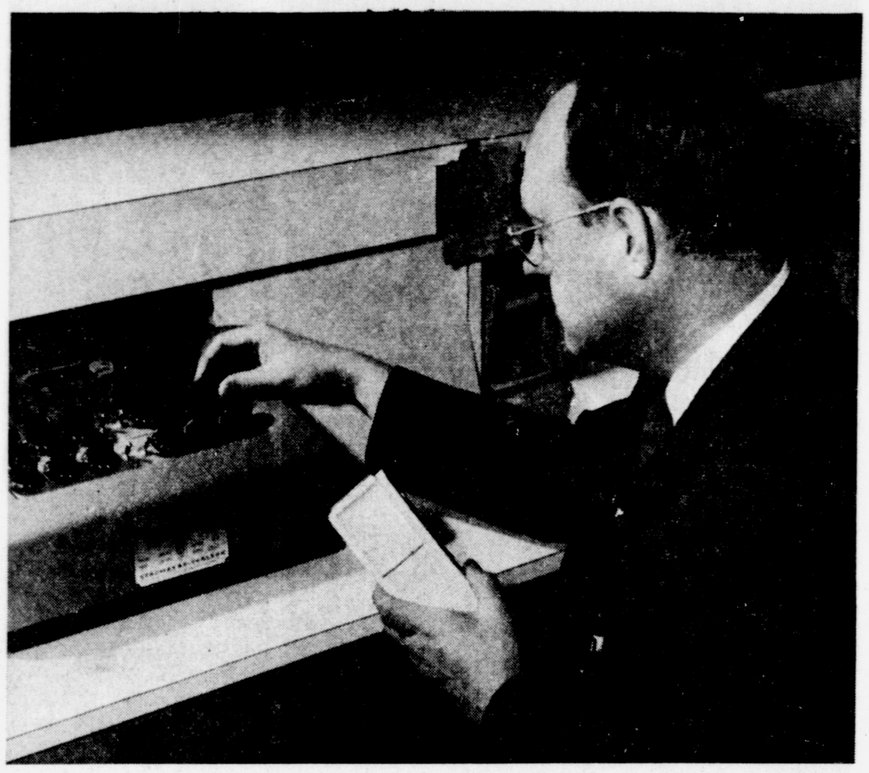
Electronic Page Boys

Loudspeaker System To Become Outdated



TUNING IN transitor radio receiver he holds in his left hand, Allan B. Campbell, Northwest Community hospital administrator, illustrates how the receivers, which fit in the pocket, will be used to page doctors to replace loudspeaker paging. The transmitter, left, signals doctors that they have a call. (B8

Electronic "page boys" will soon be pressed into service at Northwest Community hospital, replacing the annoying repetition of loudspeaker summons.

Well, perhaps not "pressed," but pocketed. The 'page boys" are pocket - sized transistor radio receivers that buzz an alarm whenever a doctor has a call to answer or his services are required in another part of the hospital.

The messages will be sent out from a transmitter located at the switchboard which can be set at four frequencies. While the transmitter and an antenna on the roof have already been installed, the 25 "Pagemasters" requested by doctors are still on order.

"WE'LL PROBABLY double this number as we go along," said Hospital Administrator Allan B. Campbel..

The page can reach electronic fingers out to tap a doctor's shoulder in any part of the 110-bed hospital and within 100 feet of the ultra-modern building.

The pocket signal has all the patience of a frantic housewife who's discovered the dinner burning; it is automatically set to throat its irritating call at intervals of 15 seconds, then 10 seconds, and finally every five seconds.

Obviously, no doctor will be able to ignore such an assault on the audio senses; in fact, one might anticipate a few pagemaster casualties in the first few months they are employed.

THIS IS DOUBTFUL, however, considering the pocket receivers cost $150 each.

The pocket pages can even be worn in operating rooms, although they would probably be considered more of a nuisance than value in such situations.

Administrator Campbell, however, ticks off these advantages of the pagemaster over the loudspeaker system:

1) Paging of doctors over a loudspeaker is disturbing to patients;

2) It has psychological ramifications. The patient, hearing his physician paged, immediately seizes on the fact that something is wrong with his X-rays or that he has flunked some lab test, forgetting the doctor has many patients in the hospital and elsewhere, Campbell points out.

THE 'VISUAL system," i.e., having boards on every floor which light up under a particular doctor's name when his services are required necessarily must depend on the doctor consulting the board periodically.

Campbell says he expects delivery of the receivers the latter part of this month. "It will take a load off the switchboard," he commented. "Each transistor has its distinct ring, and four doctors can be paged at a time from the transmitter which just has to be switched on," he added.

With 81 doctors using the hospital's facilities, only those with the larger practice there have requested the radio receivers so far.

Electronic pages of this sort are used in about 20 hospitals in the Chicago area, Campbell estimates.

THE HOSPITAL'S housekeeper, chief engineer and the nursing supervisor will also be equipped with the harassing instruments.

The nerve - fraying device is expected by Campbell to provide "better service for patients."

The doctor does have one appeal he can exercise, however, that being to acknowledge the electronic ringing by calling in to the switchboard to receive the necessary information.

The Mailman's Corner

Consideration Is Key to Happiness

LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

The habit of consideration for others is an important and blessed one; for by being considerate, we can make others happy, win their love, build courage within them, and ourselves enjoy an inward warmth that brings peace and joy to our hearts.

You and I often become overly involved with ourselves to the exclusion of the needs of others. We ignore a lonely person either because we are too busy with our own affairs, just aren't interested, or have become hardened to the hunger others have for companionship and love. We often ignore our children's bids for a feeling of importance and responsibility on the ground that they are just children, and of no importance. We give a boy, whose fingers and heart are skilled for machines, lessons in singing and piano when he wants to be building cars, telescopes, and model airplanes. We poo-poo our children's efforts at conversation, laugh at their mistakes and scold or punish them if they retaliate in a spirit of revenge. Children who love to read and dream with the great writers of all times, we often urge to play football, basketball, or be in the band.

ALL TOO MANY of us fail to recognize and respect the abilities and interests of others. The eccentric, no matter how brilliant he may be, is often an outcast, lonely and unhappy, because his genius is unrecognized and he is not accepted by his fellowmen.

Certainly it costs some effort to be kind, considerate and helpful to others; but we should be. Our eyes should not always be turned in upon ourselves, but should see the problems and heartaches of others, and respond generously and warmly and graciously to their needs in every way that is in our power.

Jesus once said: "Therefore, whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them; for this is the law and the prophets."

Consideration shown to others is almost always repaid by the love of others, of course, but even more, by the feeling of self commendation which is really God saying to us, "Well done, servant."

Still There

In the past 10 years the U. S. government has agreed to lend $131 million for the construction of grain storage facilities on farms, providing a total capacity of 478 million bushels.

Diamond Collection Flown Here From New York for Fashion Show

A special diamond collection from New York and a select group of mink stoles will be included in Beta Sigma Phi's luncheon and fashion show, "Accent on Spring," to be presented February 20 in Old Orchard country club by Lambda Delta, local chapter of the sorority. Local charities will benefit from the affair.

Lunch will be served at 12:30 p.m. and will be followed by the show, featuring fashions from Muriel Mundy shops of Arlington Heights and Downers Grove and the Lorraine-Anne shops of Arlington Heights and Meadowdale Plaza. Mrs. Lorraine Anne shops of Arlington Heights and Meadowdale Plaza. Mrs. Lorraine Sheahen of the Lorraine-Anne shops will do the commentating and discuss size ranges for various figures, miracle fabrics, casuals for women and children, sportswear, after-five fashions and nightwear and give a preview of Easter fashions as well as stress the suburban woman's fashion needs.

COACHING the models and modeling herself is Mrs. Kathy Denzinger of Arlington Heights, a professional model. Sorority members modeling in the show will include Mrs. Norman Fletcher, Mrs. Frank Wiedl, Mrs. Thomas McLaughlin, Miss Sandra Winkleman, Miss Carolyn Dupin, Miss Jackie Kohler and Miss Carol Kaiser, all of Palatine; Mrs. Joseph Lazor, Miss Sandra Davis, Miss Rosemary Saidikowsky, Miss Kathy Goman and Miss Nancy Rogers of Arlington Heights; and Miss Wendy Valiant of Prospect Heights, and her grandmother, Mrs. Reuhl.

Models will be made up by Beauty Counseler. Other local stores showing fashions in the show will be O'Bert Jewelers of Arlington Heights, who will show the jewelry collection and Cudik's of Mt. Prospect, who will show the stoles. Organ music for the show will be provided by the Maria Schaefer Music shop of Des Plaines.

HATS MODELED in the show will be for sale at the close of the show.

A preview of some of the cruise and sportswear to be featured in the show will be modeled on TV February 18 by Kathy Denzinger and another Arlington Heights professional model, Donna Quinn, on the 'Shopping with Miss Lee" show.

Quite Contrary by Mary

No Talking, Girls!

I have made it quite clear through the years that women things are not particularly my dish of tea. But, every once in a while, feeling that there must be something wrong with me, I go to one. Like a bridge party, Or a style show. Or a garden walk. Or something.

This week I ventured into a bridge whing. I like to play bridge but better than that is the good, good talk that goes on at the various tables. In fact I went down three tricks doubled and vulnerable just because I had my ears tuned in on the next table's wave length.

The conversation went like this. Partner, when I bid three clubs, I don't mean three clubs, I mean two no-trump. Everyone knows that. Well, I don't know it. Voice then comes from the opposition accompanied by a lilting laugh, no talking across the table, ha ha ha. There follows a rather fraught silence broken only by the determined slap of the pasteboards hitting the table.

So I shift my antenna around to another spot where things are livelier. It wasn't exactly bridge talk but it certainly was wild. It seems there is trouble in paradise and also in the woman's club. I couldn't exactly get it all but north kept saying, we took a vote and it isn't even legal. South said it was so legal and even if it wasn't legal, it was done and over with and what were all the norths in the club going to do about it anyway.

Who knows how it would have all come out if east and west, sensing danger, hadn't started bidding spiritedly and determinedly thereby averting bloodshed. There are days when a person can't have any fun at all.

At my own table all was pretty mild and ladylike until my partner kept trumping my good queen of diamonds. I am by nature easy going and bridge is just a game so why all the fuss when it is all good fun. I even managed to keep my lip buttoned up when, in the very next hand, she once again trumped my good queen of diamonds.

What I shouted at her when she trumped my good queen of diamonds in the third hand, is my own business.

For Women

Marianne Scott, Women's Editor

Mrs. Gschwindt Honored For Woman's Club Record

An outstanding example of a benevolent club woman is Mrs. George Gschwindt of 116 S. Plum Grove ave., Palatine, who was recently made an honorary member of the Woman's Club of Palatine. The Woman's club board recommended this action, a distinction worthy of Helen Gschwindt's years of loyal service to her local club, to the Seventh district and to the State board of the Illinois Federation of Woman's Clubs.

Mrs. Gschwindt's club activities began in Rogers Park, where she was chairman of the music and drama department of the local Woman's club. In 1940 she moved to Palatine, and immediately her enthusiasm and efficiency were put to good use as chairman of the civics and public welfare department of the local club. After a 2-year stint as head of that department, she became program chairman of the Palatine Woman's Club for two more years.

The energetic Mrs. Gschwindt took over the presidency of the club from 1945 to 1947, and from there she moved up to membership in the Seventh district of Illinois Woman's Clubs, first as vice president and then as president.

A CLUB WOMAN of this unusual ability was not to be "retired" at that position, thus she was elevated to the state board of the Illinois Federation of Woman's Clubs. Her specific duties on the board were first as chairman of motion pictures for this district, then as radio and TV chairman and finally as civil defense chairman.

It was in this position that she received "the thrill of a lifetime," as Mrs. Gschwindt recalls. She was sent to Washington D.C. as a representative of Illinois women for a civil defense meeting. The thrill came when she met and chatted with the First Lady of the land, Mamie Eisenhower. Mrs. Gschwindt was impressed with Mrs. Eisenhower's sincere interest in woman's club work and quickly replied when the First Lady inquired as to Mrs. Gschwindt's "pet" club project. Helen Gschwindt explained that her goal was to have each district spon sora have each district sponsor a community project, and this diligent club worker directed that project until it became a reality in the Illinois federation.

WITH HER new role as an honorary Woman's club member, Helen Gschwindt enjoys, as she puts it, "just sitting back and watching other women lead the Palatine club and its program." But no woman who has given so much of herself can suddenly retire from a beneficient life. Mrs. Gschwindt has been active in the organization of the Woman's auxiliary of St. Philip Episcopal church in Palatine and served as its president for three years. She still belongs to the auxiliary and is a member of the church Altar guild.

Besides her club and church affiliations she maintains a happy family life, which includes her husband and one son, George Jr.

"HEADY" HINTS OF hats to come were worn by members of the seventh district juniors of Illinois Federation of Women's clubs when they lunched recently in the Pump room of the Ambassador East. February 20, the group will sponsor a millinery show and hat sale at Rolling Green country club to benefit the Clearbrook School for Retarded Children. On the committee are Mrs. Gerald Brask of Arlington Heights, Mrs. Myron R. Hartley of Mt. Prospect, Mrs. William D. McCarthy of Elk Grove Village and Mrs. Robert Winsell of Rolling Meadows. Hats will be modeled at 11 a.m., 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. and tickets will be available at the door.

Winston Park Mardi Gras Ball Feb. 27

Villa Olivia country club will be the scene of a Mardi Gras masked ball Saturday, Feb. 27, when residents of Winston Park, Palatine, gather there at 9 p.m. to dance to the music of Benny Shore's orchestra.

A feature of the ball will be a midnight buffet, according to the dance chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Galbraith. Committee members have available a list of baby sitters for the evening of the dance and those needing this service may call Gerry Nicklas at FLanders 9-0133.

Toastmistress Mrs. E. Marslek Wins Contest

The speech contest recently held by Midtown Toastmistress club was won by Mrs. Emil Marslek of Medinah. Mrs. William F. Brown of Arlington Heights placed second and Mrs. Albert Peters of Arlington Heights placed third out of a total of six contestants.

Mrs. Marslek will compete at the area contest to be held in March, with Midtown being the hostess club.

'BLACK VS. WHITE" was the title Mrs. Marslek chose for her winning speech, while "We Too Can Change the World" was Mrs. Brown's winner at second place. Mrs. Peters' winning third place speech was "What Goes On Here?"

Among the guests were Mrs. J. L. Bentley, Mrs. F. E. Owen and Mrs. J. Henneberry, all of Mt. Prospect.

Starliters Anniversary

The first anniversary of the Starliters Dance club will be the theme for the club's forthcoming dinner dance to be held Saturday, Feb. 20, in Mohawk country club.

The club was formed for the purpose of improving the members' dancing through professional instruction and to hold planned social affairs. The Saturday dance will mark the success of the club which has a membership of 100 couples.

Just Around the Corner from Patty McArdle

Thrills on the Ice

Dear Peg:

Ray is one of those remarkable people who remains just as close and dear a friend whether a month or a year passes between the times we see each other — for some reason when you live in a suburb friends in Chicago seem so far away. Ray is also one of the most thoughtful people we know. He never fails to bring a present for each child when he comes to visit or to send gifts to all of them at Christmas, even though he now has two little Grandsons of his own to think of. And he has entertained Bob and me in so many unusual and delightful ways — lovely dinner dances, our first pro football game and last night our first hockey game.

It was no surprise to us to walk into his apartment and see the huge silver trophy given to him by his company, Endo Products, for being the detailman of the year for 1959 — his warmth and sincerity could sell you anything (he long ago convinced us that there is no "vitamin" as good as Vifort for the children and frankly we wouldn't start our babies on anything else — so there!)

Among the couples who enjoyed cocktails and supper before the game were Nancy and Rome, Ray's daughter and son-in-law who are also good friends of ours.

I knew that ice hockey was a fast game, but I had no idea how fast. It was really amazing to see those players race after the puck, all converging on it, then whirl around and race in the other direction after the spinning object. I don't see how they can keep it for such a long time and why they aren't injured by the hockeysticks more often than they are. In two very exciting plays Chicago scored two points to win the game over the Canadians. It was a thrilling experience!

We said "goodbye" to Ray at the Stadium, promising each other that it wouldn't be so long until we saw each other again — but whether it is or isn't makes no difference, he'll always be very dear to us.

My love,
Patty

LITTLE LYNNE WHEELER of Arlington Heights is delighted with the many hats that will be on sale from 1:30 to 9 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 24, when the dining room of St. Peter school in Arlington Heights will be magically changed into a one-day hat bar. Lynne tried on bonnets and headbands of every type, including florals, satins and straws, but she was especially pleased with the selection available for the young misses who will be accompanying their mothers to the hat bar. Sponsors of the affair are members of St. Peter Mother's club, who announce that "coffee and" will be served. The ladies are inviting all women in the community to browse through the display and purchase as many hats as they wish.

There's a New Twist To This Fashion Show

A fashion show with a new twist, the featuring of both men's and women's fashions, will be presented by the ways and means committee of Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic Woman's club, and the church's Holy Name society, Arlington Heights, at 8:30 p.m. in Arlington high school.

Fashions will be from Beatrice Dorsey's of Dundee and the House of Duro, Michigan ave., Chicago, and will be modeled by members of the sponsoring organizations.

Everyone in the community is being invited to this event and tickets may be obtained at the door the night of the show or by calling Mrs. Raymond Martindell at CLearbrook 3-7267.

Music will be furnished by Carter's Music shop of Mt. Prospect, featuring Larry Shell at the Conn organ. Refreshments will be served after the show and a ribbon knit dress, knitted by Mrs. John T. Jarecki, and a custom-made suit from the House of Duro will be given away. (S

DIANE DEROSA, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank DeRosa, 235 N. Yale, Arlington Heights, wishes she were old enough to help Pat McGrath, Pat Pearce, Mariann Tomei, Mary Ann Robinson and Marilynn Platt Tuesday, Feb. 23, when they will serve as usherettes at Our Lady of the Wayside's men's and women's fashion show. The show will be held in Arlington high school. (S

Elk Grove Juniors Style Show Feb. 24

A showing of the latest in Kuhspring fashions will be given by Elk Grove Juniors at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 24 in Ridge school auditorium Elk Grove Village.

"Fashion Flair" will feature fashions from the Heide shop of Skokie and Heirs and Expectations of Arlington Heights, with the spring stage decor by Hagenbrings of Arlington Heights.

ALL MODELS will be members of the Elk Grove Junior Woman's club: Mrs. William McCarthy, Mrs. Philip Nash, Mrs. Donald Haley, Mrs. John Harling, Mrs. John Heiberger, Mrs. Charles Stanfield, Mrs. Harold Greaves, Mrs. Warren Edwards, Mrs. Dan Thomson and Mrs. Harold Thompson. Mrs. Ben Kalaway, a professional model and a member of the club, will coordinate the group.

Most of the proceeds from the show will be donated to the Elk Grove Village public library. Mrs. Robert Heard, HE 7-0697, may be contacted for tickets, which are priced at $1.50. Gifts and refreshments will be an added feature of the show.

Sorority Activities

Alpha Chi Omega

Plans are now completed for Alpha Chi Omega's 12th annual cerebral palsy benefit, a semi-formal dance to be held this Saturday in the Grand ballroom of the Sheraton Towers hotel, Chicago. Highlight of the evening will be a musical variety show consisting of individual acts and group numbers presented by active charter members of the sorority at Northwestern university.

Assisting in selling tickets are Mrs. D. Glenn Ofsthun, vice president of the alumnae group and Mrs. Eugene Moscaret of Mt. Prospect; Mrs. William Lebsock and Mrs. P. Roger Girard of Arlington Heights and Mrs. John Roberts of Wheeling.

Kappa Delta

A review of "Love in the Mist" will be given this afternoon, Feb. 18, for members of Kappa Delta Mothers club when they meet in the Northwestern chapter house. Tea will be served at the conclusion of the review.

Add Sorority Kappa Delta

THE FEBRUARY meeting of the Northwest Suburban Alumnae association of Kappa Delta sorority will be held Monday, Feb. 29, at 8 p.m. in the Park Ridge home of Mrs. David Dewar.

After the business meeting, the group will spend the evening playing cards. All new Kappa Deltas in the area are invited and may call Mrs. J. E. Gessert, CL 3-5360, for transportation.

The Kappa Delta Orthopaedic award for 1959 was presented January 26 by Mrs. Roy O. Riser of Park Ridge, national hospital chairman, at the 27th annual meeting of the American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons, held at the Palmer House, Chicago. The award was presented before the assemblage of 3500 members of the academy to Dr. William S. Smith and his associates, of Ohio State university, for their research on the dislocation of hips in children.

THIS AWARD of $1,000 has been given annually since 1947, and is given for the best research in orthopaedics as judged by the American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons. It was established at the golden anniversary convention of the sorority held in Virginia Beach in 1947.

Beta Sigma Phi

Mrs. Alex Scott, 303 Lonnquist, Mt. Prospect helped in the showing of color slides of the states and British Columbia in a cultural program presented recently to members of Lambda Zeta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. The group has set March 3 as the date for a rush party to be held in the home of a Des Plaines member.

Panhellenic

Northwest Suburban Panhellenic club will hold its annual husbands' party Saturday, Feb. 20, from 7 p.m. to midnight in West Park fieldhouse, Des Plaines.

This will be a potluck and each couple is asked to bring a supper dish and their own table service. Prospective members are welcome.

March 10 is the date of the next monthly meeting and luncheon to be held in Old Orchard country club. Plans for the annual sorority information tea given for high school seniors, will be discussed at this meeting.

Delta Delta Delta

Among couples planning to attend the Crescent Carnival dinner dance Saturday, Feb. 20 at the M and M club, Merchandise Mart, are the following from Mt. Prospect: Mr. and Mrs. George R. Busse, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Busse, Mr. and Mrs. Victor P. Amling and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie G. Janett.

ARLINGTON Heights couples who will be at the Crescent Carnival, sponsored by Chicago area alumnae chapters of Delta Delta Delta to benefit the Cleft Lip and Palate institute of Northwestern university include: Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Stein, Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Lonergan, Mr. and Mrs. Morton Riess, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Okerby, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gieseke.

Tickets for the benefit may still be obtained by calling Mrs. Clifford H. Cooper, CL 3-6610.

AMONG patrons contributing to the success of the benefit are the following from the northwest suburban area: Mr. and Mrs. William I. DeHuszar, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald C. Eckhart, Mrs. Elton W. Jones, and the George L. Busse Co., all of Mt. Prospect; and Mr. and Mrs. John A. Sebald and Mr. and Mrs. John O. Dempsey Jr., of Palatine.

Alpha Delta Pi

'Crazy Bridge" with prizes will be the order of the evening when the Alpha Delta Pi Countryside alumnae meet Wednesday, Feb. 24, at 8 p.m., in the Glenview home of Mrs. Glenn Pfundheller.

A special feature of the meeting will be the welcoming of Park Ridge and Des Plaines ADPi alums, who formerly belonged to the northwest suburban alumnae, which will now merge with the Countryside group. Mrs. John Mahaffey, Park Ridge, is chairman of that group.

Any ADPi's in the Arlington area planning to attend should call Mrs. Harry Wickstrom, CL 3-3423, for information or transportation. (S

New Textile Labeling Law Requires Shoppers' Study

A new labeling law for clothing and most household goods made from textiles becomes effective March 3.

The Textile Products Fiber Identification act requires that each fiber be identified by its generic or group name on a hang-tag or label. The percentage of the fiber, by weight, in the fabric must also be listed.

If the law is to prove helpful, consumers must learn the new fiber identification terms, the generic names, says Mrs. Ruth Galbraith, textile specialist, at the University of Illinois.

TO SIMPLIFY and standardize the information, the Federal Trade commission assigned fibers with similar properties into groups. It then gave each group a generic or group name.

To illustrate, acrylic is the generic name for a group of fibers that are chemically similar. There are now four acrylics. Their trade names are Orlon, Acrilan, Zefran and Creslan. They have similar properties, one of which is bulkiness without weight. But these four acrylics differ in other ways. For example, some are easier to dye than others.

THE FTC divided synthetics into 16 generic groups, but women shoppers will buy only 10 of them. They are acetate, acrylic, metallic, modacrylic, nylon, nytril, polyester, rayon, rubber and spandex. The other six groups, azlon, olefin, vinal, vinyon, saran and glass, are used in commercial textiles, such as auto seat covers, tires, industrial filters and belts.

The natural fibers, cotton, wool, silk and linen, retain these names as generic names.

To simplify shopping, smart shoppers will learn both the generic name and the properties for each group of synthetics. They will also identify familiar trade names with the generic name. Then as new fibers come to the market they can associate them with the familiar ones. For example, Vycron is due soon and will be labeled polyester. If shoppers learn now that Dacron is a polyester, they'll have some idea of how Vycron will wear and launder.

But remember that fiber content is not the only factor affecting wear and care. Experience proves that some 100 per cent cottons are good and some are not. The size of the yarn, type of weave and weight of fabric also affect quality and performance. The new labels tell only the fiber content.

SINCE MANY fabrics contain more than one fiber, listing the percentage of each fiber present is helpful. The highest percentage must be listed first, and the others follow in the order of percentage present. If there is less than five per cent of a fiber in the fabric or garment, it cannot be listed. Obviously, then, sewing thread cannot be listed.

Some exceptions are listed in the law. One is coat linings. Unless the lining is used for warmth, it is not listed. Often the only purpose of a lining is to help the coat slip on more easily. But interlinings used for warmth must be labeled for fiber content.

The major type of household textile not included in the new law is upholstery fabric on manufactured furniture. However, upholstery fabrics sold by the yard must be labeled.

The law also requires labeling of merchandise sold in quantity packages. For example, several pairs of socks are often packaged together. Unless each pair is individually labeled the package must be sold as one labeled article.

Hairdressers Visit Home For Children

Seventy-five haircuts, 49 shampoo sets and 44 permanents were given to children of Mt. St. Joseph Home for Retarded Children by members of Northwest Suburban Hairdressers association when they visited the home February 8. The work was part of a yearly program to do charitable work for various institutions during National Beauty Salon week.

Members participating were Betty and Dale Blau, Ann Moss, Tom Robinson, Gene Prieb, Lottie and Henry Stachura, Bernice Malstrom Ruth Kindler, Frances Bryant, Doris Silver, Ruth Montgomery, Dorothy Gilmore, Mildred Traub, Gladys Holm, Ray Raines, Arnold Dunsmore, Lillian Kaiser, Adelaine Peterson. Assisting were Lois Dunsmore and Vernon Holm.

ADDING TO THE CARNIVAL atmosphere of Arlington Heights Newcomer's "Mardi Gras" charity ball February 27 will be the crowning of a king and queen of the Mardi Gras. To be held at the Villa Venice, the dance will be open to the public and will benefit the new Northwest Community hospital. Dinner will be served from 7 to 8 p.m. and will be followed by dancing to the music of Dick Sarlo and his orchestra. (S

Gardeners Hear Expert On Pruning

Arlington Heights Garden club will meet Monday, Feb. 22, at 8 p.m. in Pioneer field house, Arlington Heights, R. C. Knupper of the R. C. Knupper Nursery and Garden center as featured speaker.

Mr. Knupper will give a talk and demonstration on trimming and pruning of trees and shrubs.

A social hour will follow Mr. Knupper's talk. Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. J. J. Bruscato, Mrs. Alvin J. Vosskuler and Mrs. M. Kritsch, who will serve refreshments.

THE FLOWER arrangement class scheduled for February 18 has been postponed to March 17.

The public is invited to the February 22 meeting and non-members are asked to call the membership chairman, Mrs. E. S. Reinhard, CL 5-3226, for reservations or further information. (S

Who Will It Be?

The general public is being invited to a gala charity ball February 27 in Villa Venice, Northbrook. The affair, a Mardi Gras ball, is being sponsored by Arlington Heights Newcomer's club.

There are just a few days remaining in which to make reservations and those interested in attending are urged to contact a ticket chairman in their locale. Cancellations will not be accepted after February 20.

In charge of tickets on Arlington's south side are Mrs. Lyman Anson, CLearbrook 9-4655, or Mrs. Marshall McEuen, CLearbrook 5-4790. Mrs. LeRoy Petersen at CLearbrook 9-3238 and Mrs. Sidney Wiltshire at CLearbrook 5-8533, have tickets available to north siders. Interested persons residing in Arlington's eastern section may contact Mrs. Hal Drew, CLearbrook 5-9115, or Mrs. James Glynn, CLearbrook 3-5008. Mrs. Paul Graesser at FLanders 8-1853 has tickets in the Palatine area and Mrs. Q. R. Sharp may be called at CLearbrook 3-5399 in Mt. Prospect. (S

Low-Calorie Dress-Up For Desserts

Rich, calorie-laden sauces are often the downfall of many an otherwise conscientious dieter. This heavenly Lemon Dessert Sauce, however, is one that you can enjoy without a single twinge of conscience. Although it tastes as deliciously sweet and rich as the best you've ever eaten, each tablespoon of this weight-watcher's version contains just 11 calories!

Have you guessed the secret? Instead of sweetening the sauce with sugar, our streamlined recipe calls for Sucaryl, the completely calorie-free sweetener which adds only delicious sweetness without a trace of bitter aftertaste. As a result, four-fifths of the total calories normally found in this sauce have been eliminated.

Treat yourself often to this delightfully sweet and tangy sauce by serving it as a topping for berries, fruit, and low-calorie puddings, cakes and sherbets.

Lemon Dessert Sauce
(Low-Calorie)

2 tablespoons Sucaryl solution
2½ tablespoons cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ cups boiling water
1 tablespoon lemon rind
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon butter

Combine Sucaryl, cornstarch and salt in a small saucepan. Gradually blend in the boiling water. Stir in lemon rind and lemon juice. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Remove from heat; add butter; cool. Serve as a sauce over cake, ice cream, sherbet, puddings, or fruit.

Makes 1 cup. Each tablespoonful contains 11 Calories; no protein; 0.5 grams fat; 1.5 grams carbohydrate. If made with sugar, each tablespoonful would contain 59 Calories.

Dance, Laugh, Merrymaking To Feature Mardi Gras Frolic

Dancing, laughing and merrymaking will be in store for those attending the fifth annual "Mardi Gras Frolic" presented by the Prospect Heights Woman's club this Saturday, Feb. 20, in Itasca country club. Costumes will predominate but are not required, and one does not have to be a member of the club to attend the gala affair.

Arriving masqueraders will find Mardi Gras spirit in the air as they are greeted by huge masks suspended from the ceiling. Dancing to the music of the Melody Kings will be from 9 p.m. to 1 am. and a grand march, with the crowning of Como Rex and his queen, will add to the festivities. Trophies will be awarded for the three winning costume categories; most hilarious, most lovely and most unusual. A photographer will be available to take pictures of the merrymakers.

ENTERTAINMENT for the occasion will be composed of local talent, and while the acts are still labeled "top secret," the committee is sure that Mardi Gras revelers will be provided with a great many laughs. Lewis Smith will be master of ceremonies for the show.

Mr. William Thons Jr. chairman of "Mardi Gras," urges all to attend this festal occasion. Assisting Mrs. Thon are the following heads of committees: Mrs. Raymond Schmitt, music; Mrs. Donn McGowan and Mrs. Soderberg, decorations; Mrs. Edgar Perrott and Mrs. Richard Gray, entertainment. The rest of working committee are Mrs. Robert Hunter, Mrs. Robert Wroble, Mrs. Raymond Phillip, Mrs. Peter Van Petten, Mrs. Stanley Anderson, Mrs. George Venelek, Mrs. J. Jackson, Mrs. Robert Shawfrank, Mrs. Leroy Koelle and Mrs. Richard De Muesy.

Tickets can still be purchased from Mrs. Hans Ulander, LE 7-1163, or Mrs. Robert Swanson LE 7-1375.

INSPECTING CONTRIBUTIONS of rummage can prove to be a lot of fun as these youngsters, Donna Jean Creighton, her cousin, Linda Riefstahl, and Bradford Miller seem to be finding out. The grown ups, who are really very helpful, are Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Creighton and Mrs. Fred Miller, all members of Amity Service auxiliary of the Chicago Foundlings Home for whose benefit the annual "Trash and Treasures" rummage sale will be held on Saturday, Feb. 27 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. New location this year is Rolling Meadows Community church. Contributions of rummage will be gratefully accepted. Arrangements for pick up may be made by calling Mrs. Warren Schwartz, CL 5-4414. (Ohanesian Photo (S

Card Party To Benefit Hospital

A fun-filled evening of cards, gifts and refreshments are in store for all attending the fourth annual card party to be held at 8 p.m. Friday, Feb. 26, in the parish hall of St. Alphonsus Catholic church, Prospect Heights.

Sponsored by the women's guild of the church, a large attendance is expected as the party has always been a huge success in the past, according to committee members. Tickets may be purchased at the door or by calling Mrs. Richard O'Reilly, CLearbrook 5-8325. (S

Home Owners Plan Dance For Saturday

The largest turnout of any dance in the history of the Northwest Home Owners league is anticipated for the league's sixth annual formal dance to be held Saturday, Feb. 20, announced the chairman, Ruth Breilhan. The affair will be held in the Mt. Prospect VFW club, 601 N. Main st., Mt Prospect.

. Music will be by Jerry Betts and the Hightones from 9 p.m to 1 a.m.

Anyone interested in attending may contact Mrs. Breihan at CLearbrook 5-6778 or purchase the tickets at the door for $4 per couple.

Floral Talk For Elks Auxiliary

Floral arrangements by Miss Margaret Knupper of Brautigam florists, Chicago, and Knupper Nursery and Garden center, Palatine, will be the highlight of the Thursday, Feb. 18, meeting of the ladies auxiliary of the Arlington Heights BPO Elks 2048 at 8 p.m. in the Lauterburg and Oehler building, Arlington Heights.

All members of the auxiliary and wives of local Elk members are invited to attend this meeting and become members of the auxiliary.

Miss Knupper was graduated from Michigan State university, where she received a degree in floral culture. For the past few months, she has been doing general designing.

Refreshments will be served by the February hostesses, Mrs. Stanley Bergstrom and Mrs. Robert Hutchinson.

Holy Family Auxil. Seeks Volunteers

An invitation to area women to join the activities of the women's auxiliary of the new Holy Family hospital, Des Plaines, has been issued by the president, Mrs. John E. Berdelle.

While the hospital is under construction, the auxiliary is serving food to workmen from a canteen on the hospital grounds at Golf and River rds. Other projects will be announced later.

THE AUXILIARY is welcoming volunteers for specific projects as well as full-time members, Mrs. Berdelle said.

Women wishing to volunteer should contact the board member in her area: Arlington Heights, Mrs. George Jirgal, CL 3-5524; Mt. Prospect, Mrs. Alfred C. Ball, CL 3-7588; Prospect Heights, Mrs. John J. Brennan, CL 3-0755.

Everyone is invited to an auxiliary meeting Thursday, Feb. 25, at 1 p.m., in the convent, 353 N. River rd., Des Plaines.

Here's HAUGH to Plan a Party

by DOLORES HAUGH

Patriotic Birthday Party

Each month there will be an article for you to clip and save, and here is your February birthday party, a Patriotic birthday party. Ideas here are flexible; they can be used not only for a birthday of persons of unlimited age groups, but also for any special Patriotic holiday, such as Washington's birthday, Fourth of July or a going away party for a man entering service.

Invitations

In planning this party avail yourself with a package of red, white and blue construction paper, small American flags, medium sized flags and flag stickers.

For the invitation, measure a standard envelope and cut a double fold piece of construction paper to fit, using the red construction peper. If you are extremely handy with a scissors cut a profile of the birthday child out of blue construction and mount the silhouette on a piece of white paper cut smaller than the red, thus giving you the three colors on the invitation. Inside write the following:

RALLY 'ROUND THE FLAG BOYS!

And give a BIG salute,

For John (birthday child's name) is having his eighth birthday,

And there'll be a party to boot!

The theme is PATRIOTIC

For Washington and Lincoln too

Have February for a birthday,

So it seemed the patriotic thing to do.

So join the good Americans who'll gather, don't you fear,

To celebrate John's birthday and add another year.

State time, date and if you plan to take the "boys" to the movies, inform the parents so that they know where you have gone. This practice seems quite popular for this age group or any age group for that matter would enjoy a "theater birthday party" and it saves a lot of wear and tear on the mother of the host.

Decorations

If you do plan to take the boys out, you will not want to have a great deal of decorations. Perhaps it would be wise to limit it to the table and plan on having a lunch at noon or an American favorite, Hot Dog supper after the show.

FOR THE TABLE, make a centerpiece of styrofoam covered with dark blue velour paper. With gold headed hat pins, fasten stars all around the base. In the center place your child's blue silhouette and place a small one of Abe and George on each side. Place small American flags, 7 inch size in a row along the back of the centerpiece.

You'll be surprised at the oooohs; even the boys will notice. Wrap the money for the show in gold foil and fill nut cups with chocolate foil coins and place the real one in the cup too. Let the boys "find the real quarter." Decorate each nut cup with red, white and blue ribbon and top it with a marshmallow into which a tiny flag has been placed.

Menu

For either a lunch or supper serve them simple but abundantly. Hot dogs or hamburgers from Texas, potatoes from Idaho, red jello with bananas and orange sections from Florida, ice cream from Wisconsin and flag decorated cake from Johnny's mother; place Fourth of July sparklers in the cake just before serving. Have a paper bag filled with candy bars and or popcorn though Cracker Jack is neater and less expensive. A package of gum or life savers make the treats stretch through the main feature and the cartoons.

Entertainment

Since the movie will be the focal point of entertainment and the treats in the bags with the flag stickers on them add the final touch, you can have the remains of the party cleared away by the time the boys return. Be sure and mention on the invitations if you will bring the boys home, which is the safest way, and also give the time the treatre party is over. This gives you a definite time schedule also.

FOR AN ADDED "thrill," take the boys to Des Plaines or any nearby suburb on the train, but keep the party small as it's easier to manage.

This party will be one to remember for your February child, though we've made it "Johnny," it can be "Jane," too.

If you prefer to play games for the party and need help, call your party counselor at CLearbrook 3-3996 for help that is inexpensive and prompt.

So rally 'round the birthday flag and have a party as gay as "red and white" striped candy. It will never leave you "blue."

FASCINATED WITH masks made by their mothers to wear at the St. John Episcopal Mardi Gras Friday, Feb. 26, are 3-year-old Patricia Beggs and her 5-year-old sister, Cynthie, who shows she's not afraid of masks by donning one of the fancy creations. Mrs. A. W. Lindahl, president of the church's women's guild, sponsors of the dance, holds her 3-year-old son, Christopher, who examines one of the fancy, handmade masks. The Mardi Gras will be held in Itasca country club and proceeds will benefit St. John church, Mt. Prospect. (S

'Suburbs Have No Monopoly on Virtue'

Senator Douglas Talks Frankly on Politics, Problems

Candid Camera Captures Reactions of U.S. Senator to Questions Posed by Editors

SENATOR DOUGLAS met the "Paddock publishing clan" during his two-hour visit to Arlington Heights Thursday. Shown above in conversation are James Stavros, Wheeling township Democratic committeeman; Senator Douglas; Stuart R. Paddock, editor-in-chief of Paddock Publications; Robert Y. Paddock and Stuart R. Paddock Jr., vice-presidents.

By TOM McSHANE

U. S. Senator Paul H. Douglas lashed out last Thursday at what he termed "the morally superior attitude" of suburbanites toward the Chicago Democratic organization.

In a special press conference with the editors of Paddock Publications' 13 suburban newspapers, the senior senator from Illinois, who is seeking re-election this November to the seat he has held for 12 years, squared off on the Chicago police scandal, the Cook county Democratic machine, Mayor Richard J. Daley, Republicans in general, and many suburban problems.

Seated in a straight-backed chair in the center of 13 eager inquisitors, Douglas looked the picture of health and vigor as he outlined campaign plans and discussed local issues at length.

FOR THE MOST part, the senator was calm. But when the subject of the current scandal and his party's connection with it came up, he became quite excited, leapt to his feet, and paced a 10-foot square, countering punch with punch, and gesticulating forcefully to make his points.

His face flushed, the redness contrasted brilliantly against white, brush-cut hair, the old campaigner met attack with counter-attack, deftly avoiding a positive judgment of the Daley administration.

The ball started rolling when a reporter asked him to answer a challenge delivered the same day by Republican Senatorial Candidate William H. Rentschler of Lake Forest.

Rentschler, currently on a stumping tour of downstate communities, urged Douglas to "speak out and tell his constituents in Illinois precisely what course of action he believes must be taken to clean up his party and to bring honest government to Chicago."

"MY POSITION is clear," the senator answered. "What those policemen did is terrible. The mayor is cleaning it up as fast as he can. He is seeking a new chief—a competent chief. The men will go to prison, and I think they should."

Then he shifted adroitly from the defense to the offense.

"What about Lake county?" he continued. "Rentschler is from Lake county, and there are over 250 gambling places up there. What is he doing to clean up Lake county? Where does he stand on slot machines and pinball devices in Lake county? Would he put them down in Waukegan? In Lake Forest I suppose they use more expensive instruments. Would he go out to Fox Lake?

"Suburban Republicans frequently paint virtuous pictures of themselves.

"There is more gambling in Lake county than in any county in the state. DuPage county, the stronghold of the Republicans, used to be the same way. There are a lot of Republican politicians who have been sheriffs and state's attorneys in DuPage county.

"Rentschler should turn his reformings home. Look homeward, angel!" he admonished with a smile.

Douglas said that he had never been asked by the Democratic organization to do a "dishonorable thing."

ASKED WHETHER he thought the organization was corrupt, Douglas replied:

"There are many thousands of people in this organization, and there may be some delinquents."

Again the quick shift.

"But," he fired back, "who was the worst mayor Chicago ever had; who was the worst governor of this state; who was the worst president of the United States? The answers: Thompson for mayor, Small for governor, and a tie between U. S. Grant, a good soldier, and Harding for president. All Republicans. And who was the worst state auditor Illinois ever had? Hodge. A Republican."

Later in the questioning, the subject of suburban superiority came up again. This time it was in connection with the possible establishment of a metropolitan government which the senator said he would favor.

"There is a fear in the people of the suburbs," one reporter said. "They want nothing to do with Mayor Daley and Chicago."

LEAPING TO HIS feet, Douglas charged his audience with a pointed finger.

"I object to the feeling you have that the people in the suburbs are morally superior to the people in the cities. Your incomes may be higher, your skins lighter, but I don't think you're any better than the people in Chicago, and I think it's a great mistake for you to say this.

"If you have a small community you have a small city dump that is not too impressive. When three and a half million people dump their garbage there the problems become magnified. But none of the people are different.

"People move to the suburbs for more space, and closer personal relationships with neighbors. I am not running down the suburbs, but you should not have this superior attitude toward the city.

"You are afraid of the Democratic organization. We're afraid of the Republicans. Why, in 1956 our candidate for senator came to Des Plaines and wasn't allowed to speak. In Joliet the chief of police told me to get out because I was a Democrat.

"We Democrats perhaps don't mow our lawns the same as Republicans do. And we might drink more Coca-Cola, though I see a lot of empty whiskey bottles out behind your suburban country clubs when I visit them on Sunday mornings. But when there are children to be taken care of, or sickness next door, you'll find the Democrats are darned good neighbors."

LATER DOUGLAS defended Daley, and issued a challenge of his own.

"Our people have the strength of 10 because their hearts are pure," he said. "I think Richard Daley is the best mayor Chicago has ever had.

"We are working hard to build up the Democratic organization all over Cook County. Let the Republicans try to build up their party in Chicago, too."

Earlier in the interview Douglas spoke of two of the general problems facing the suburbs of Chicago.

ASKED ABOUT THE serious water problem, the senator said he thought communities bordering the Great Lakes had the right to use water from the lakes. He said he thought it was "terrible" for other states to take a negative position on the attempts of the suburbs to tap the lake source.

(Two suburban water commissions currently are fighting a battle to run lines from Lake Michigan, the Tree Towns commission which is awaiting a United States Supreme court judgment, and the DAMP commission, which has been stymied by an Illinois state statute.)

"I would personally favor accommodation on the diversification of water between the sanitary districts," Douglas said. "If we could get the lake states to withdraw their suits and permit water to be withdrawn from Lake Michigan for drinking purposes and specific other domestic purposes as necessary, with no ceiling on the water which they could withdraw for purposes other than the river, I would be willing to make concessions on the additional cubic feet withdrawn per year."

ON THE PROBLEM of transportation, Douglas praised the city of Chicago for constructing large super-highways leading out of the city at the expense of the lost tax dollars resulting from the migration of people to the suburbs along the roads.

He said he would favor "proper federal relief" for the railroads but noted that "a great volume of my mail, especially from the northwest suburbs" is against government subsidization.

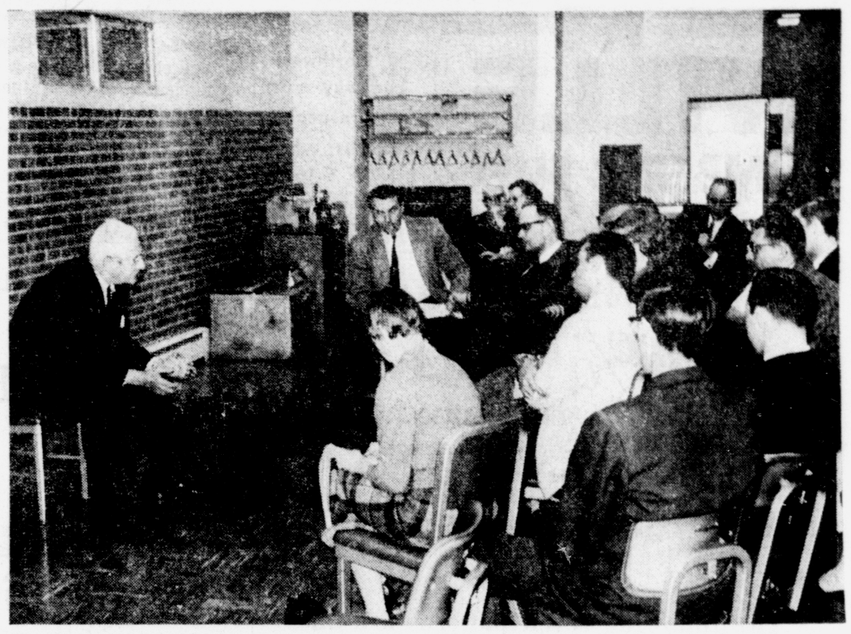
The senator said he planned to spend a great deal of time in the suburban areas during his campaign.

"I would estimate there are one and a half million people in the suburbs outside Chicago," he said. "Talking to these people is extremely important indeed.

"I won't spend most of my time in the suburbs, but I am putting in two solid weeks. Before November I hope to speak in every public square, at every major factory gate and shopping center.

"I might say that I think the soil is a bit more fertile in the suburbs for the Democratic party and properly qualified Democratic candidates than in previous years," he concluded, with another smile.

(During the interview Senator Douglas made comments on civil rights problems in the suburbs concerning the Negro and the migrant worker. These remarks can be found in another story in this edition).



STRESSING IMPORTANCE of the new suburbs as a political force, U.S. Senator Paul H. Douglas makes a point during press conference with editors of Paddock Publications newspapers.

Thursday, Feb. 18, 1960

STUART R. PADDOCK, editor-in-chief of Paddock Publications, discusses suburban problems and needs with U.S. Senator Paul H. Douglas during the Senator's visit to the newspaper plant. Paddock emphasized the need for federal aid in permitting suburbs to make use of Lake Michigan water to augment dwindling local resources.

CONCENTRATING on Senator Douglas' answer to one of his questions is Tom McShane, news editor of Paddock Publications. McShane directed press conference for Senator and editors of Paddock's 13 suburban newspapers.

Senator Douglas Speaks:

ON DEERFIELD: "I thank the Lord at times I deal with national problems and don't have to deal with local issues. My position is fairly well known. I think Negroes are human beings and have mortal souls like the rest of us. They should be treated with dignity. They should not be segregated. They are entitled to equal protection of the laws. I believe in these principles in Chicago and the suburbs as well."

ON THE NEW SUBURBS: "I am anxious that communities grow with some regard to a master plan . . . adequate areas for recreation, some variety in architecture, the water supply not overtaxed, adequate provision for schools. But these are for local concern and not for the federal government to deal with."

ON BIG GOVERNMENT: "I do not want national government to do everything for localities."

ON FEDERAL AID TO EDUCATION: "I am not for any national control of education. This should be state and local. I am for national financial assistance to schools but not control."

ON THE DALEY DEMOCRATIC MACHINE AND POLITICAL CORRUPTION: "You call it a machine, I call it an organization. There are many thousands of people in this organization. There may be some delinquents. However, no member of the Democratic party has ever asked me to do a dishonorable thing."

ON DALEY: "I think Mayor Daley is the best mayor Chicago ever had."

Dr. C. A. Starck has a 1010 Ford 4-cylinder, 20 h.p. car, christening it Sunday. It is a five passenger, which will permit Doc to give his convalescing patients out door treatment, four at a time.

Bensenville:

H. L. Geils has received his new Buick for which he paid $1,150. It's a hummer, so clear the track when Herman comes down the boulevard next summer.

Arlington Heights:

R. Bray, A. T. Kates, and Gottlieb Schneberger have each bought E. M. "30" touring cars of J. W. Burkitt. This leaves only two of his first order which will be sold as soon as they arrive.

Arlington Heights has organized a live branch of the Illinois Anti-Saloon League which has decided to give the Heights saloon keepers a scare and warning not to exert too much influence in local politics. Eight workers started out with petitions Feb. 4 and Feb. 15th they filed their petition with 110 names with the village clerk and paid his fee of $2 for same. The editor will not be surprised to see the millennium come next.

Our school has reached the summit of popularity. This is verified by the teachers not being permitted to plod home through the cold damp snow. Regularly, each day at prompt twelve the tutoring corps hop down the school steps, jump into the waiting bob, and are whirled home.

Mt. Prospect:

Elmer Busse and Walter Waide arrived home in good shape at 1:30 p.m. Monday with two 5-passenger Buicks. They left Flint, Mich., Saturday and came to Kalamazoo, 140 miles that night. Sunday they drove to Michigan City, 90 miles, and on home next day. Albert and George Busse left Sunday night for Flint to bring home two more Buicks; they had to lay over a day on account of fresh snow and then go via Detroit, Toledo and South Bend, expecting to get home Thursday.

Elk Grove:

Herman Schwake and his crew did an extra good job opening the main Elk Grove roads after the recent snow storms so the autos, teams and milk trucks could get through to the city, especially over Higgins and State roads. One day they had a 20 horse team on one road scraper, and another day they hauled two scrapers each with 14 horses, from Arlington Heights, via Schnell's to Orchard Place. All agree that if people would keep the weeds and brush cut down along the roads as far as the lands they occupy, there would not be half as many snow drifts to block the roads. Julius Precht and A. B. Scharringhausen opened Higgins rd. west. All this was charity work — so doctors, mail carriers, milk trucks, etc. could serve the people. All gave their time and labor without expense to the town or public.

A. H. Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star will be instituted Saturday, March 8, at 8 p.m. in the Presbyterian Parish Hall. Stated meetings will be held the second and fourth Thursdays of each month.

February 21, 1930:

The Redecker Co., local real estate and investment firm, will move Saturday from their office on Northwest Highway and Dunton to the Vail-Davis Bldg. occupying the corner store space. It was thru the interest of this firm that the Vail-Davis building became a reality. Everyone of its flats rented and the stores are slowly but surely filling up.

It will be a notable event for Arlington Heights and for the members of the local Lutheran church when the hosts of young people, representing practically every city and village in Northern Illinois, arrive by train, bus and auto for the annual district convention of the Walther League, beginning at 2 p.m. Saturday and closing Sunday night. This without doubt will have the distinction of being the largest convention Arlington Heights has ever had the privilege of entertaining. It is estimated that eight hundred to a thousand visitors will be present.

Mt. Prospect:

The Mt. Prospect Camp Fire girls sent a package of 26 garments, contributed to the Needle Work Guild and a check for ten dollars as their cash contribution. Our girls are to be congratulated on their work and the splendid work they are doing should gain them the gratitude of our entire community. Miss Bertha Ehard as guardian is truly doing a wonderful work with the girls and helping the members in ways that they will appreciate in later life so that they can recall with pleasure the time spent in training under her leadership in the Potawatomie Camp Fire.

A most cordial invitation is extended to all mothers who have children in the grade school and high school to attend a meeting to be held in the grade school auditorium Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 p.m. to take steps in organizing a Parent-Teacher association.

Arlington Heights:

Planks for the third track platform at the Arlington Heights station have been unloaded in the park, awaiting the building of the track. While unloading the heavy steel bars at the freight house last week, Station Agent W. C. Lange suffered all but a broken leg when one of them sprung and struck him just above the ankle.

Bensenville:

William H. Neuman, Sr., 65, died February 11. Born Nov. 6, 1864 in Konigriech, Saxony, came to America at the age of 13 years, with his parents John and Charlotte nee Krueger) settling on the old Busse farm in Elk Grove. He was confirmed in St. John's Lutheran church April 14, 1878. His early manhood was mostly spent in Elk Grove and vicinity. Nov. 15, 1888 he married Katherin Scheidel, settling in Schaumburg, then in Bloomingdale. In 1899 he moved his family to Bensenville on the farm where his son Charles resides. After many years of hard work, deciding to quit farming he moved to town in 1916, to their home on Green Street. To them were born five sons and five daughters, Emma, Charles, August, William, Jr., Herman, Tillie, Mary, Anna and Louise. One son, Fred, prededed him in death in 1924. Remaining are his wife, 9 children, 8 grandchildren, a brother, and a sister.

The Palatine Fire Dept. plans an early start on their new fire station this spring. The boys sent a delegation to the Palatine village board meeting Monday night and proposed to start building in May if the Village would have the old building out of the way by that time. Present plans of the firemen make the building of the new station, a cooperative community enterprise. The boys gave a substantial sum in their treasury and propose to add to that their salaries for the last year and a half if the Village can dig up that amount by May 1. W. R. Comfort Sons has offered to furnish material at cost, a painter has offered his services for the painting and decorating; another man has offered his cement mixer, and the whole building when completed, will be a model of what community team-work can accomplish. The firemen hope to have their building ready for the dedication exercises on the first day of this year's annual festival. The festival will provide funds for the completion of the building and the putting on of the finishing touches.

Chas. Nason, who has resided in the vicinity of Palatine all of his life, died suddenly Wednesday afternoon in the office of Dr. Schmidtke. Mr. Nason was the son of Rev. Nason, the circuit rider, who traveled over Elk Grove, Wheeling, and Palatine townships before the erection of any churches. He is survived by two nephews, A. G. Humphrey and Lee Nason.

This week's storm was more severely felt here than many other communities in the area. Electric service was crippled, many homes being without heat, light, or water. Fallen trees, limbs, and frequently telephone and high tension electric wires made streets and roads dangerous to travel, in some cases almost impassable. Power went off in Arlington Monday and two days later there was still no relief.

Wheeling:

Plans were made at the meeting of the Wheeling Eastern Star last Tuesday evening, for the birthday anniversary meeting of the chapter next month. All of the past worthy matrons and patrons will take an active part in the meeting to honor the chapter in its 29th year of existence. Special music and speakers are planned for and members of neighboring chapters will be invited to attend.

On Valentine's Day, Frank Biermann completed his 36th year with the Mt. Prospect volunteer fire department. For the past 20 years he has served as chief. The Chief celebrated his anniversary appropriately by answering a fire call, when a live electric wire fell across a garage.

Palatine:

The Palatine Parent-Teacher association held its regular meeting Tuesday evening in the grade school gymnasium. About 300 people were present at the dinner served before the meeting. Five past presidents of the association were present and were honored on Founders Day observance with camellia corsages presented by the Program chairman, Mrs. Amos Larson.

ILLINOIS BELL TELEPHONE

IT'S A WONDERFUL PLACE TO WORK!

Or so our employees tell us. And apparently they're not just flattering us. Over 14,000 employees thruout the state have been with Illinois Bell Telephone Co. over 21 years.

If you're a recent high school graduate who can add and subtract, come in and talk to us. Perhaps you'll be able to tell from looking around and talking to some of the people who work here why so many people are proud to say they're Illinois Bell Employees. And we, in turn, are proud of them. They're special people.

You'll like our modern, air-conditioned building. There's a company cafeteria and free parking lot. The salary is good, employee benefits better than average. Working hours are from 7:55 a. m. to 4:40 p. m. See Mrs. Millie Marcoux at 44 S. Vail, Arlington Heights, or call her at CLearbrook 5-6100.

Unity Class Starts Here February 25

Unity, described by its followers as practical Christianity based on the Jesus Christ teachings, comes to the northwest suburbs February 25 beginning with a class in Pioneer Park field house, Arlington Heights. This class is being started by request and present plans are for a continuing scheduled meeting at 8 p.m. every Thursday, to be based on Unity textbooks.

Classes, affiliated with the Unity school of Christianity of Lee Summit, Mo., will be conducted by Mrs. Dorothea Fowler of Chicago, a licensed Unity teacher, and will be open to the public. Compensation will be by offering. The first seven weeks' material will be "Keep a True Lent" by Charles Fillmore, cofounder of the Unity. Daily Word and other Unity literature will be available.

Florists Have 2nd Chicago World Garden Show Tickets

Northwest florists will be able to sell advance tickets to the Chicago World Flower and Garden Show at a saving of 50 cents each. Regular price at the flower gate at International Amphitheater will be $1.75, but florists have the advance sale tickets at $1.25. These will be withdrawn at a date preceding the show's opening in March.

The show will bring spring during those drab days in March when persons are tired of winter, ready for the inspiration of budding trees and shrubs and flowers nudged into bloom early in the cozy warmth of Chicagoland's greenhouses.

Modern trends in home decoration, flower arranging and current styles in floral corsages will be found in a spectacular display by members of Allied Florists' association. This will be the only spring flower show in the Chicago area. (Fm

THIS IS AN ARTIST'S conception of the great central arena at the second World Flower and Garden show to be held at the International Amphitheatre, March 19-27. As visitors enter, a breathtaking sight will greet them, with spacious gardens of living flowers, lawns, full-sized trees and shrubs. As a backdrop, a towering hillside overgrown with tall trees and flowering shrubs, and a glistening, splashing waterfall will add to the beauty of the scene.

Country Cousins Receive Hand Carved Gavel

A hand-carved gavel engraved with "Country Cousins 4-H" was displayed at the last meeting of the group held recently in the home of the president, Cinda Pippenger. The gavel was a gift to the group from the Home Bureau.

During the meeting, Mrs. Johnson, Barbara Johnson and Pat Reif reported on the Federation Officers Training meeting they recently attended. Girls also voted to donate $10 to the 4-H house at the University of Illinois and discussed a March tour to Fishmann's Fabric shop in Chicago and a skating party at Michael Kirby's in Meadowdale.

Toll house cookies was the topic of Shirley Broom's demonstration while "People to People" was the title of Cinda Pippenger's talk and demonstration. (4-H

Down On The Farm

CARL F. MEES

with Your Farm Adviser

Most people enjoy seeing snow fall, but few like the work that goes with it, that is shoveling the walks, driveways, etc. That is the way I feel. This one snowfall has been plenty for me as far as shoveling is concerned. However, a good snow occasionally is helpful.

What are some of the more pleasant things? First it brings back pleasant memories of childhood days. In southern Illinois, where I grew up, we children looked forward to snow so that we could sleigh ride and also to harness up "Old Dobbin" to the sleigh, and go for a long ride on the moonlight nights. Second, the predicted forecast is zero for February 11. A blanket of six to 10 inches of snow will certainly be helpful in protecting the winter grains and grasses. Third, when the snow melts, it will help restore surface and sub soil moisture.

MANY PEOPLE commented to me about the red color on the snow. It was the result of wind erosion from Texas. Few people realize that dust particles are carried by the wind over such a long distance. This is a serious problem and should be viewed with alarm. The top few inches of soil is the most productive. If this top soil is destroyed the soils will become less productive. It is almost unbelievable now for us to think that someday we may not be able to produce enough food for an adequate diet for the people in the United States, because we have huge surpluses of grains today.

On the other hand, should we have a few years, when the weather is not as favorable as it has been in the past; should we have severe wind and water erosion, as we had several years ago; should we develop emergencies such as war; with a growing population such as we have today, it is indeed possible that food shortages could be a problem with us in the future.

However, farm people in general are conscious about preserving their soils so they take care of it as if they are going to farm forever. As long as they do this they are doing all in their power to preserve this precious heritage—the soil.

The World Flower Show begins March 21 at the International Amphitheater (42nd St. and Halsted) in Chicago. Capacity crowds attended the show last year and many favorable comments followed from those attending. It is an interesting place to spend a day, why don't you plan to go this year. (Fm

Predict More Quality Meat

Refrigeration, scientific production and prepackaging have helped to make meat the most important food on the family table, a Chicago food executive said this week.

N. L. Chaplicki, vice-president of meat operations for the National Tea company, Chicago, stated that almost all consumers want better quality meat and would eat more of it if they could afford it.

He reported that recent consumer surveys showed that quality meat was the most important item in food shopping. Homemakers do all their shopping at stores where they can get quality meat.

Refrigeration has made possible many changes in our eating habits, he pointed out.

SCIENTIFIC methods of producing commercial frying chickens have changed many families' eating habits. Fried chicken has become an everyday menu item rather than a Sunday or picnic special. Last year Americans consumed 36 pounds of chicken per person.

Prepackaged self - service meats are the most recent change in retail meat distribution. The number of self-service meat counters jumped from 1,500 in 1950 to 11,500 in 1956.

In years to come, Chaplicki predicts the increased sale of higher quality, leaner, more tender and flavorful beef, lamb and pork. He cited the great increase in meat-type hogs in the past five years. He also expects more pre-cut and packaged frozen cuts of meat to come out of the packing plants at prices comparable with those of today's store-cut packaged meats.

Chaplicki spoke before the University of Illinois Agricultural Industries forum livestock session. (FM

Study Soybean Cyst Stopgaps

Resistant varieties should some day turn back the soybean cyst namatode, according to a University of Illinois plant pathologist at the Illinois Custom Spray Operators' Training school.

"But until then," said M. P. Britton, "stopgap measures are needed to check the disease's spread in Illinois." He mentioned state and federal quarantines of infested fields as one way and growing soybeans in rotation with nonsusceptible crops as another.

The soybean cyst nematode turned up in the southern tip of Illinois late last summer. The Illinois department of agriculture placed the field under quarantine in October.

The disease, which can cause severe losses in soybeans, has a stronghold in Tennessee, Missouri, Arkansas and other nearby states bordering the Mississippi river. It spreads easily, and indications are that it's marching northward.

BRITTON'S REMARKS to the custom spray operators were based on a report prepared by U. of I. plant pathologist M. B. Linford.

Britton said that controlling spread of the disease depends greatly on recognizing its symptoms in soybeans. Although positive identification isn't easy, he said farmers should watch for stunted plants. In soils of low fertility these plants may turn yellow.

Nematode infection shows up in patches in which all plants are affected. Stunting and yellowing from water damage look very much like nematode injury.

Farmers should report possible infections to their farm adviser or the Illinois department of agriculture, Springfield. Collecting samples of soil or roots from suspected areas should be left to experts. All precautions must be taken to keep the disease from spreading to nearby areas.

Rotating soybeans with other crops looks promising as a control measure. Britton explained that some crops are resistant to the nematode. When these crops are grown in a soybean sequence, they can actually trap nematode larvae in their roots and kill them. Work is under way in some states to determine what would be good rotations to use against the nematode.

WEED CONTROL in the rotation program will also be important. Several weeds are known nematode hosts and definitely contribute to the disease's spread.

As for developing an Illinois soybean that is resistant to the nematode, Britton explained that super-sanitary laboratory facilities are needed first. At present U. of I. pathologists and plant breeders cannot work with the disease here for fear of its spreading throughout central Illinois. A resistant variety, then, is not immediately in the offing.

The cyst nematode spreads with bewildering ease. The eggs are well protected within cysts that can be carried by farm implements, tools, shoes, boxes, crates--almost anything that touches an infected soil. Wind, runoff water and wildlife are other carriers.

Soil fumigation has proved too expensive so far but is still being studied in heavily infested areas. New chemicals or new methods of application may change the outlook. (Fm

'High-Oil' Hybrid Corn Good Feed

Several producers will have the seed of "high-oil" corn available for the 1960 growing season, it was announced at the University of Illinois Crop Performance Day.

R. W. Jugenheimer, assistant dean of the college of agriculture, told the audience that several of these new high-oil hybrids, developed at the university, yield about 30 per cent more oil and 10 per cent more protein than present commercial hybrids.

They match standard hybrids in yield, standability and other traits.

"Feeding trials here show that high-oil corn is a more efficient feed for livestock," said Jugenheimer, who is in charge of experimental corn breeding. Grain from the new hybrids also contains more high-quality germ protein.

It's expected that this nutritionally balanced protein will allow less expensive protein supplements to be used in balancing rations, he added.

HE EXPLAINED that other corn breeding work at the university centers around developing new inbred lines that commercial seed producers may use in forming new hybrids. Another group of promising new Illinois inbred lines will be released this spring.

Jugenheimer also pointed out that the high yield performance wrung from hybrids of late has given U. of I. researchers the chance to concentrate a little more on other characteristics. These include improved standability, higher oil and protein content, improved harvest-ability, less ear droppage and greater resistance to such hazards as insects, diseases, cold and drouth.

More than 750 experimental hybrids were tested in 1959. Results of these tests are outlined in the college of agriculture Bulletin 652, "Performance of Experimental Corn Hybrids in 1959." Interested persons may get a copy from the farm adviser's office.

FIVE HUNDRED twenty-three commercial hybrid varieties were included in the 1959 tests. Complete performance figures are outlined in Bulletin 651, "1959 Commercial Illinois Corn Tests," available from the college of agriculture, Urbana, or from any county farm adviser.

Yield tests were also run on increased planting rates ranging from 20,000 to 24,000 plants an acre. Average yields were slightly lower than those of hybrids planted at regular rates. The thickly planted corn also lodged more in these first-year trials. Regular planting rates were 12,000 and 16,000 plants an acre. (Fm

Trying 'Genetic Bridge' To Grow Stronger Squash

University of Illinois plant scientists are using a unique "genetic bridge" to develop more disease and insect resistance in squash.

These shirt-sleeved researchers in the department of horticulture also hope they can develop more of a bush-type growth in squash species. If they are successful, machines may some day harvest squash, pumpkins and other members of the squash family. Harvesting these crops today requires many hours of hand labor.

If the project develops more disease and insect resistance, explained A. M. Rhodes, producers can grow squash more economically. Rhodes is directing the project at the University's Downers Grove Experiment station, DuPage county.

He said that several domestic species have desirable characteristics. Some of them are resistant to squash bugs and squash vine borers and bush-type growth. But no one species has all of these advantages. To complicate things further, these domestic species will not readily cross with each other. That is, they're incompatible.

HOWEVER, A wild squash species called the Peten gourd will cross with the domestic species. So Rhodes uses this species as a "bridge" or messenger. Through the Peten gourd he's transferring favorable characteristics, such as insect resistance, from one species to another.

For example, the Moschata species resists the squash vine borer, but the Maxima species does not. Since these two will not readily cross with each other, Rhodes will first cross Moschata with the Peten gourd. If this cross is successful, it will resist the squash vine borer. Then Rhodes will cross the resistant plant with the Maxima species. (Fm

New System To Sort High Quality Eggs

Scientists, producers and marketing officials have developed a new quality control system that maintains the highest possible quality in eggs from nest to consumer.

This new quality egg program requires carefully controlled production, testing and handling under ideal conditions. And, to make sure that all requirements are met, special testing devices and standards have been developed.

R. A. Dorsett, a U. S. department of agriculture marketing official, described this intricate detailed process that qualifies a case of eggs for the "Fresh Fancy Quality" grade label at the University of Illinois Agricultural Industries forum, this week.

THE NEW PROGRAM employs a scientific method of determining interior egg quality. It replaces the old, laborious system of hand handling.

Government graders who carry out this program break a small representative sample of eggs from a flock. Then they measure the height of the egg white with a micrometer. A special "Haugh unit" indicates quality by classifying the eggs according to height of the white in relation to weight of the egg. Yolks are checked to see that they have no serious defects.

Eggs with spots, stains or defective shells are removed by flash candling, bulk candling or use of automatic electronic devices.

TO QUALIFY FOR the Fresh Fancy or AA Grade, eggs must meet these requirements:

Eggs from each flock must be packed separately and identified. Hens in any flock must not vary more than 60 days in age.

Eggs must be gathered frequently, cleaned properly and cooled promptly.

A sample of eggs must meet certain rigid "Haugh unit" standards. And weekly tests must show a continued high-quality product.

Eggs meeting the required standards are dated and must be sold within 10 days or less. After that time they cannot be sold with the "Fresh Fancy" grade label.

Eggs that do not meet the standards for "Fresh Fancy" quality can be sold under the regular Grade A label if they meet the standards for this grade. But if they do not qualify for either "Fresh Fancy" or Grade A, a farmer is dropped from the program until his egg quality improves. (Fm

Local 4-H Plans Window Display

The February 8 meeting of the Medinah Merry Maids was held in the home of Cynthia Mares. In connection with National 4-H Week, a committee was chosen to design a window display showing the achievements of 4-H members.

Displays from the entire area will be judged and winners announced March 15 at a 4-H Rally. The Medinah display will be on view at the kindergarten March 6 through 12.

Club members report the skating party held February 16 at the Roller arena was successful; the next meeting will be held in the home of Candy Meshes. Mrs. Larry Tellschow will show the girls how to model clothes.

4-H Susies Visit Art Institute

Talks on famous artists and their works were given by the Sewing Susies 4-H club members at the February 8 meeting held in Pioneer park's north room. Included were "The Squirrels," by Albrecht Durer; "Miss Bowles," by Sir Joshua Reynolds; "Chestnut Trees at Jas de Bouffan," by Cezanne; and "Infanta Margarita Theresia," by Velasquez.

The group was accompanied downtown by their mothers February 12 for a guided tour of the Art Institute, which ended at 12 noon. Part of the group remained at the Institute for lunch in the cafeteria. (4-H

Reveal New Soil Test Techniques

Plans for modernizing techniques in Illinois soil testing laboratories were announced at the University of Illinois Fertilizer conference by Jim Laverty, U. of I. agronomist.

Laverty said that a suggested change in the phosphorus test would result in measuring the immediate phosphorus needs of the soil. From the new test farmers can get recommendations for applying soluble phosphate on a specific crop. The old phosphorus test gave recommendations for applying such materials as rock phosphate over a three-or four-year period.

Lavery said that by the end of the year many soil testing laboratories in the state would be set up to run both phosphorus tests for farmers. Technicians are already being trained at the university to run the later test. This variation on the old test was developed in 1946 by U. of I. researchers L. T. Kurtz in agronomy and C. Y. Arnold in vegetable crops.

Laverty reported that many laboratories were also adopting a more precise way of testing soil acidity. (Fm

Review of 'Picnic'

Shirley Freeman Is Standout Performer

by JO PARNELL

Most of the plays we are used to seeing in the theatre develop as a story based on one or two main characters and come to a rather firm conclusion.

In "Picnic," by William Inge, this usual pattern is defied while the author dissects and develops the stories of the members of a household in the roving style one might find in a 500 page novel but is handled with great economy of words.

To the uninitiated audience this loose style, in which there is no central character and no single ending, the story, and particularly the meaning of the story, may seem obscure and blurred.

I had the feeling when I left the theatre that I didn't really know what the play was about and I believe that many in the audience left with the same uneasy sense of not having known what they had seen. "Picnic" was staged last weekend by Village Theatre, Inc., at Prospect high school Little Theater, Mount Prospect.

AT FIRST it seemed to me that the structure of the play was at fault in leaving me with such a vague impression, but after reading and studying the script, it occurred to me that the greatest weakness lay in the interpretation.

Essentially, the story is one of a group of people who in the course of a summer day come to terms with what they are fundamentally. This is no summer romance with "they lived happily ever after" at the end, but a story of people whose triumphs are shaded with defeat and whose defeats are tinged by victory.

"Picnic" is the kind of play which sets a trap in that the very unpretentiousness of the characters makes them appear "typical."

Unfortunately, the Village Theatre production of this drama was caught in this snare.

Pat O'Dea, who seemed so relaxed and convincing as Hal Carter, did not until his last scene reveal to the audience that the bravado front he assumed was despicable to himself. But by then it was too late. He had already tagged himself as the "all brawn-no brain" sensual football hero "type." Even after being viciously attacked as a bum and fourflusher by Rosemary, Hal appeared to be more irritated than crushed.

MADGE, unwillingly trapped by her beauty into being regarded as an unreal "doll," emerged in the portrayal by Linda Wilds with a surface glaze of sweetness and with only the slightest hint of despair.

Of all the characters set forth on the stage, Millie became the most distorted. While Jo Duro played the part with great appeal, it was not in my opinion the character that William Inge set forth in his play. From the sensitive and intelligent girl rebelling blindly against the conventions which she felt restricted her, she was transformed into a "typical" flighty, cute and shallow teenager who gave no hint in her manner that she was capable of winning a college scholarship unless someone had made a mistake in grading her examination.

IN THIS demanding role which called upon her to reveal the many conflicting passions which drove Rosemary, Miss Freeman never imposed on the credulity of the audience. She slowly and carefully built her characterization as a poisonous snake prepares its attack, and when she struck out venomously at Hal, it came as no shock.

But alas, the finest actress has no defense against an actor who is playing at cross purposes with her, and all Miss Freeman's excellent craftsmanship was brought to a disastrous end in the third act when Bob Randolph (Howard Bevans), by his coy handling turned a scene filled with the painful revelations of Rosemary, into an ugly burlesque.

Miss Freeman, however, managed to pull through this scene despite the snickers and outbursts of laughter from the audience at the "cleverly" turned lines of Mr. Randolph.

IT SEEMED strange to me that Bob Randolph, having played his role with such skill up to that point, should suddenly revert to a stereotype dragged out of an old vaudeville routine.

I cannot help but get the impression from all the stereotypes imposed upon the play and the lack of depth in most of the performers, that the director, perhaps fearful that the play was somewhat over the heads of the audience, sought to "improve" upon the author's script and play it for laughs. This might also account for the lack of inspiration in such talented actors as Pat Paris and Bob Hawley (Flo Owens and Alan Seymour).

ALTHOUGH there seemed to be a lack of cohesiveness to the production and an awkwardness which wore off too slowly as the play progressed, there were several moments which were charged with comedy and intense feeling.

The scene in which Rosemary attacks Hal for his slight to her; the description by Hal of his rather zany adventures on his trip to and from Hollywood; the opening scene between Millie, Bomber and Madge; and the beautiful and skillfully handled love scenes between Madge and Hal, were among outstanding features of this production.

Despite all the weaknesses of the production, the few moments of flowering were more than worth the time and price of admission of the audience.

And although the polish more easily achieved with a superficial vehicle such as "Howie," may glitter seductively, I believe the memory of "Picnic" will stay with and stimulate the minds of those who saw it for much longer.

Proposed Film Series Overjoys Our Critic

By JIM PHILLIPS

I almost choked in the middle of my spaghetti dinner last week when I saw that wonderful headline in the entertainment section of this paper. Perhaps you saw it in your particular Paddock newspaper. It read: "Art Center Sponsors Film Festival Series."

To say the least, I was overjoyed. This is not only a feather in the cap of every citizen in the Paddock area, but it shows a great step forward in bringing film appreciation into the suburban community. To begin with, the price of the series is only $5.00. A bargain to end all bargains in my book.

IMAGINE seeing such great comedy as W. C. Fields, Charlie Chaplin and Marie Dressler; such colorful acting as presented in "Julius Caesar"; and the superb art in the Japanese film "Rasho-Mon."

Before I get to sound like something that was paid to rave about something else, let me tell you that I haven't the slightest idea who the people are who make up the Arlington Art Center. I haven't even met William Wimmer, the chairman. As far as I'm concerned, the entire idea of showing art films in a suburban community speaks for itself. This is one opportunity for everyone to see classic films at a price I believe to be outstanding. It will certainly take the kink out of Spring around this area especially on Sunday evenings.

And speaking of kinks, the boys in the money-making end of the movies have decided that everybody is now ready to see the historical hystericals again. Re-issues of "Samson and Delilah" and "Ulysses" are coming your way, if they haven't already. Also, to further the cause of juvenile delinquency there is a drive- in theater in the Chicago area offering among other trash, a movie entitled "The Loves of Lady Godiva."

It is my firm opinion that whoever is responsible for bringing this pictorial junk into daylight (or is it nightlight?) should be strung up by his money-grubbing thumbs. There are many other movies like this one available at a price.

THEY ALL HAVE sex, lust, brutality, and no plot to speak of. It makes you wonder how we, as a nation can get so riled up over certain television personalities and still ignore the even greater evil that exists: the release and acceptance of completely idiotic , totally unacceptable motion pictures.

This drive-in theater is only mentioned now because it is operated during the winter as well as the summer. It will be interesting to see just what kind of movie entertainment comes out on the rest of the outdoor screens this coming season. My guess is that questionable material will be at an all time high.

But until someone slips up and somebody else complains about it to the right people, this problem will go on. You and I will wait and see.

HERE'S A reminder on some films to take in: "On the Beach" was reviewed in this column a number of weeks ago. Don't miss it. The subject of the world being snuffed out is done in a different vein this time. Fred Astaire, Gregory Peck, Ava Gardner, Anthony Perkins are all top-notch characters, although Ava is still Ava.

"Operation Petticoat" is certainly no "Don't Go Near the Water" but it's a lot of fun. Cary Grant is naval, Tony Curtis is novel.

"Diabolique" should be mentioned here even though it is part of the Art Center Film Festival Series. It's a whale of a tale of murder done in the French Fashion and I guarantee it will raise the nails off your fingers. Makes Alfred Hitchcock look like a kindergarten teacher! Simone Signoret stars along with some great directing and camera work.

Baby Girl Is Patient 1,000

A baby girl -- at this point without a first name -- was the thousandth patient admitted at Northwest Community hospital. The child of Edward and Judith Reese, 1305 W. Busse ave., Mt. Prospect, was born Tuesday, Feb. 9, at 11:07 p.m.

Another interesting angle of the Reeses' daughter's birth is that her father is an industrial engineer for the Charles Bruning corporation.

"This was our biggest single contributor," said hospital administrator Alan Campbell. The corporation gave $75,000 toward building the hospital.

CARY GRANT, Joan O'Brien, Dina Merrill and Tony Curtis provide the romantic interest as well as most of the humor in "Operation Petticoat," Granart Company comedy for Universal-International in which Grant and Curtis are the top stars opening Friday at Des Plaines theatre.

AT THE CATLOW

FRANK SINATRA AND Gina Lollobrigida enjoy a lovers' quarrel in this scene from "Never So Few," opening Friday night at the Catlow Theatre in Barrington for a five day engagement. The CinemaScope - TechniColor film version of Tom Chamales' best selling novel deals with a wartime romance set against a backdrop of guerilla jungle fighting in Burma during WW II. Co-starred are Peter Lawford, Steve McGueen, Paul Henried, Brian Donlevy, and Dean Jones.

The Way We See It

Is 'Brotherhood' A Will-o-the-Wisp?

The most regrettable thing about Brotherhood Week is not that most people disregard it, but that it needs to be observed at all.

Politicians proclaim it, journalists write about it, most people ignore it. Brotherhood doesn't pay.

It pays to keep property values up by keeping a neighborhood "white" . . .

It pays to buy tenements and chop up apartments to house several Negro families . . .

It pays to hire exploitable Mexican farm laborers and house them in pig sties and chicken coops . . .

It pays to pass exclusionary immigration laws . . .

It pays to neglect the poor, the aged, and the mentally ill . . .

But brotherhood? What's in it?

"Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free — and I'll exploit them" seems the more practical appplication of Liberty's message. And in the past?

The cry for equality and justice has been sounded down through the ages. There has been no civilization — no political, religious, no cultural stage of man — that has not embraced the principle of brotherhood. And there has been no society in which the practice of brotherhood has taken firm root.

Is it a will-o-the-wisp, never to be found?

What is brotherhood . . . that elusive longing in the breast of everyone? Pity? Love? Charity? That spark that glows briefly, fades, and glows again?

It would seem that for a quest of this magnitude much more than one week a year should be set aside for the search. The truly successful ones, those that would seem to have found it, spend a lifetime in its pursuit — Christ, Gandhi, Dr. Schweitzer.

But one does not have to go back 2,000 years or span continents to find the spirit of brotherhood. The message burns within the children of Cain, in the churches, the schools, the local service organizations.

Hard at work to strengthen the spirit of brotherhood in the northwest suburbs is a little-known group of men and women — members of the Opportunity Council.

Formed two years ago to lead the fight for better housing and working conditions for Mexican-Americans, the Council has achieved most of its preliminary objectives. Through its volunteer members, many of the ills suffered by this Latin minority have been eased, and a greater understanding exists throughout the community.

We would like to salute these men and women through whose efforts some meaning has been given to brotherhood.

Democrat Douglas Tours Suburbs, Quizzes Voters

It was a pleasure to welcome U. S. Senator Paul H. Douglas, Democrat, on his visit to northwest suburbs last week. His appearance in Arlington Heights was further evidence that the two-party political system is finally discovering suburbia.

This newspaper has long urged extension of the two-party system to the suburbs. It provides a healthy competition and compels elected officials at all levels of government to consider suburban interests. It forces into action those traditional political factions which have been loathe to stir about and pay attention to our views or to the pressing problems of government in this growing area.

Because the suburbs were regarded for years as a strictly Republican stronghold, Senator Douglas and his fellow Democrats admittedly have much to learn about us. Realizing this, he is giving himself a "crash course on suburbia" by meeting and talking with suburban voters and leaders, many of whom are stunned by this unaccustomed attention from a politician of Douglas' stature.

We suggest that the senator particularly needs to better inform himself about city-suburb relations. He speaks harshly of our suspicion of Chicago and the Daley political machine. Reminding us that suburbanites have no monopoly on virtue, Douglas suggests that our concern is motivated primarily by partisan politics and an attitude that city dwellers are socially and economically inferior to suburbanites. We do not wholly agree with this analysis.

It is our judgment that the power politics and corruption permeating Chicago stems directly from the absence of genuine two-party government. One-man rule has, in fact, been partially responsible for the flight to the suburbs, where bail bond and police scandals, shakedowns, and unenforced building codes can be contemplated from a distance.

Our interest in developing two-party government in the suburbs is stimulated by the results of one-party government in Chicago. If Senator Douglas sincerely wants to diminish suburb-city hostility, he might direct his energies toward helping the Democratic city organization clean its own house and encourage us in our efforts to extend two-party government to Chicago as well as the suburbs.

Let It Snow – Locally!

Our editors are still blushing from some of the intemperate telephone language employed by rural residents who floundered in the knee-deep drifts of last week's record snowfall. They were especially critical of county and state highway department efforts to clear away the heavy snows whipped by high winds.

Many areas were completely cut off for more than 24 hours by blocked highways. Even several days after the storm, a number of county and state highways suffered from what one official described as "the worst road conditions in many winters."

In contrast to the barrage of complaints to this office about country roads was the absolute lack of criticism of local snow-clearing efforts. No sooner had the first flakes begun to whirl than the village trucks and plows were patrolling main streets and intersections.

The outstanding job performed by our suburbs in plowing and hauling snow from village streets is responsible in large measure for the low accident and fatality rate in this area during the storm. These village officials and their workers deserve our congratulations.

The World at Large

Something Radically Wrong

By WILLIAM DULANEY

Until the poorest school district in Mississippi is able to give its students the equivalent in educational opportunities as those offered by Arlington high school; until the instruction and physical facilities of the most impoverished public school in southern Illinois approximate those of New Trier—until this time, there is something radically wrong with our nation's educational structure.

While supporters of our American educational system point with pride to the fact that our schools are for everyone, and not just an elite as is the case with many other countries, the fact remains that both our elementary and secondary schools offer widely varying educational opportunities.

These opportunities may range from a superb plant, voluminous library, an adequate and excellent staff in a wealthy community to a one-room school in a less fortunate area.

THE OBVIOUS need of the have-not school districts is money. There may be as charged other weaknesses in some of our public schools, such as adherence to outmoded teaching methods and unimaginative curriculums.

The number one need, however, is money. Money is needed for classroom construction, laboratories, more and better qualified teachers, mechanical aids, guidance counselors, and special teachers.

The entire nation has a stake in the education offered by each community. The majority of people in most American communities were educated elsewhere. And as Chicago and New York City can attest, sub-standard schools in the South and Puerto Rico are everybody's problem, not just the Southerner's or Puerto Rican's.

It would perhaps be desirable if the gap between the haves and have-nots could be closed by local financing or at the state level. The truth is, however, that many of the poorer states are already spending a greater proportion of their incomes on schools than are states with far more advanced school systems.

The time has come for a massive federal support program for education. Such support should be aimed not only at elevating standards in the poorer districts, but should assist the superior schools to become even better and maintain standards in the face of increasing enrollments.

THERE IS nothing novel, contrary to the outraged opinion of some, about the federal government entering the public education field. We have had federal aid in education in one form or another since the Northwest Ordinance of 1785 which set aside public lands for schools.

Today the federal government is spending nearly $2 billion a year in assorted educational programs administered by 18 agencies.

As for the cry that federal control must accompany federal money, it's already happened. It is the object of the National Defense Education Act, passed in 1957, to exercise some federal control over schools' curriculums to the extent of stepping up science and language teaching.

ACCORDING to estimates of independent groups and the research division of the National Education Association, educational costs are going to double over the next 10 years from the present $15.5 billion annual rate to at least $30 billion annually.

Local property taxes have soared past their equitable share of school financing. It's doubtful any variety of state taxes could raise the needed revenue. Federal aid to bolster local and state support for education is as inevitable as were the local and then state aid for schools at an earlier time in our history.

When Is One 'Over the Hill'?

Problems of Aging: 2-Story Segregation

by MARTIN E. MARTY

Not long ago I was indulging in a favorite hobby, reading some press releases about a speaking engagement of mine.

These are usually written on the basis of a mimeographed biography mailed to public relations committees by a magazine for which I write.

Consistently the write-ups refer to the "young" journalist or theologian or minister or whatever they are out to stress.

I STARTED musing on the question. When does that adjective stop appearing?

A couple of weeks ago was my 32nd birthday; will the adjective still appear at the 33rd or 38th?

John Kennedy is considered young at 42, Charlie Conerly and Early Wynn considered old before 40.

My former teacher, Jaroslav Pelikan, regarded as a "Wunderkind" for a long time, reports that at 36 the adjective was dropped in his case. Thomas Schippers of the Metropolitan Opera orchestra is young at 29; Leonard Bernstein has been upstaged by him and is less often referred to that way.

WHEN IS IT in life that suddenly everything turns? When does one suddenly become conscious of the fact that there is, chronologically, more behind him than ahead of him? When does he, like Dante, "in the middle of his earthly life" find himself in the dark wood?

The actuarial tables probably, tell me I am one half finished with the earthly course. It has seemed like only a few minutes — if the other, more conscious half sails past this way, there isn't much time. And many 64-year-old readers see this and think, what is he talking about? At 64 there are doors open and bright decades ahead?

AND THERE are. Again, time is such a relative matter.

Saint Augustine once said, "I always know what time is until someone asks me."

Time is the useful commodity, meaningful as we make it so.

And the mellowing years of life are the real tests of how we use that time. This is usually referred to as the "problem of aging," of seeing the doors close. Our vocational choice is past; our marital mate is pretty well established; our children grow and are grown. No one calls us young any more. Soon the 'old gang' begins to thin out. And we revise our understanding of the meaning of life. We live in a nation that glorifies youth but is learning to preserve the aging.

I WANT TO spend just a moment on just two problems of the aging. One is architectural, the other is ecological.

The architectural one is this: have you noticed how, as years pass, it is more difficult for younger generations to learn from older ones, partly because it has become more difficult for them to spend time with each other, to live with each other? The old two-story house with basement provided a room upstairs for "grandma," a middle story for the family, and a rumpus room for the children.

Our ranch homes don't allow for this. Hollow core doors and one-level existence make it difficult for the generations to be isolated when they need to be, so we come together hardly at all — as we need to.

A man on the train told me he saw a "mother-in-law" home advertised in the real estate sections. It turned out to be two-story. Our society is going to have to build that kind of home or work out some sort of arrangement to profit from the experience of the people who have turned the decades with more finesse and grace than we.

THE OTHER is ecological. We tend, for economic and social reasons, to be segregating ourselves in areas and suburbs along age lines. Many apartment areas have come to be congregating places for aging and retired people. Many suburban areas, for reasons of space or economics, attract largely young families.

I have heard many ministers in the newest suburbs remark on what I have felt: it is difficult to get people to think seriously about life when only young people are around. When death comes, it is never a gentle passage but a tragic end: this, too, runs counter to human experience when more generations come into close contact.

For the health and character of their areas, I think realtors ought to work to solve problems of grouping by age. We would all profit. I don't have solutions of my own now. Am getting a bit tired and my shoulder hurts from typing. I think I'm getting old.

Hot Primary Fight Looms

by CHARLES HAYES

The fur is flying in the primary election campaigns.

Illinois is presently engaged in one of its bitterest—and liveliest—primary scraps in nearly 25 years.

So far, the Democratic contest for the gubernatorial nomination has been more colorful than the Republican and is capturing the bulk of headlines.

Encouraged by political in-fighting between suburban Republicans and the GOP state organization, Democrats have intensified their efforts in the suburbs. They are playing heavily upon suburban dissatisfaction with Gov. Stratton and his administration, attempting to create local Democratic organizations with a local or hometown flavor, and offering candidates particularly suitable to independent or split-ticket voters.

SET IN AN atmosphere of sensational developments in the crime and politics scandal in Chicago, the Democratic gubernatorial contest features three resourceful, articulate, and campaign-wise candidates battling for the nomination. All three have special appeal for suburbanites. They are:

Stephen A. Mitchell, 57, a lawyer and former national Democratic chairman; Joseph D. Lohman, 50, criminologist, ex-college professor, former Cook county sheriff, and presently state treasurer; and Otto Kerner, 51, judge of Cook County court.

All three are capable, intelligent men qualified to serve as governor.

Mitchell has impressed me most in his speech-making thus far. He has been working for more than a year trying to stimulate independents into greater primary participation. In attacking the Daley machine, he is certainly in the strongest position since he has been consistent in his opposition.

SPLITTING THE "egghead" vote with Mitchell will be Lohman, who won wide support among suburbanites in his campaign for sheriff and treasurer. With considerable backing from various farm and labor groups, Lohman has been urging what he considers necessary governmental reforms, particularly in the fields of welfare and finance. His attacks on Mayor Daley and the Democratic organization are weakened by past performance—in his seeking and accepting Daley's support in previous election bids, and in soliciting Daley's backing for the gubernatorial nomination. Denied that support, Lohman then declared his "independence" and launched an attack on the organization he had wooed only days before.

Otto Kerner is the son of an Illinois attorney general and son-in-law of the late Anton Cermak, former mayor of Chicago and party boss. Well qualified in both education and experience, Kerner is recognized as a public official of character and integrity. A resident of Glenview, he has always run well in the suburbs. His biggest handicap, of course, is being tied to the scandal-badgered organization.

Much "political hay" has been harvested at the expense of the current Chicago scandals. There are, however, other problems which merit full and frank discussion from candidates for state office.

IN ADDITION to their attitudes toward corruption and reform in Chicago, our gubernatorial hopefuls should provide us with their position on such other issues as:

—the equal job opportunities bill to secure equality of employment opportunity regardless of race, color, national origin, ancestry, or age;

—efforts to establish 55 per cent (presently 100 per cent) of the full, fair cash value of all property as the value for assessment purposes;

—increase in corporation franchise tax 10 times over the present rate;

—state aid to schools, both elementary and secondary;

—adequate appropriations for proper care of mentally ill and retarded patients;

—needed revision in parole and penal practices;

—health and housing standards for Illinois' 20,000 migratory farm workers;

—state revenue reforms;

—stream pollution and waterway development; and

—further development of planning and action on suburban problems at a regional or metropolitan level.

Chicago's centuries-old record of political corruption is not the only issue in the April primary elections. The above topics are also concerns of the voters of Illinois. I hope our candidates will eventually get around to discussing them.

Railway Expansion Valuable Contribution to Suburbs

Because I feel so strongly that North Western railway's $43 million investment to completely modernize suburban train service is anything but a "mixed blessing" for northwest suburbs, I can't help but add my two cents to your editorial of January 21—as complimentary as it was to the North Western.

I believe that the creation of this truly fine suburban train service within the next 16-17 months will boost property values in C&NW suburban towns by far more than the amount of our $43 million investment! There can be no way of proving this, unfortunately, since the steadily rising value of real estate, and the constant development and improvement of suburban areas, are taking place simultaneously.

But as surely as poor, deteriorating, (or extinct) train service to and from Chicago would have a detrimental effect on suburban property values as time goes on, good train service - dependable, comfortable, efficient and in keeping with the times - cannot help but boost property values of every suburban home owner.

THIS IS TRUE whether a suburbanite uses the train service or not. As you know, we have almost 3,000 riders from Arlington Heights alone.

As you perhaps recall, towns along the now defunct Chicago, Aurora & Elgin railroad bemoaned more than just the loss of a way to get downtown and back when that line folded. They complained of the effect that discontinuance of trains on the CA&E would have on property values.

Good or bad, mass transportation facilities have a direct bearing on the property investment of every suburbanite. This gets down to family pocketbooks and the money suburban families invest in their homes.

What's it worth to have clean, modern, comfortable, dependable train service from a suburban town?

What's it worth to have a good fire department, police force, water plant, paved streets or other community needs? The answer is simple.

If these services are efficiently operated and suburbanites are satisfied that they get full value for their dollars, the answer is that they are worth whatever they cost.

I'D ANSWER your question "Can the North Western's 80,000 daily commuters afford 'the world's finest suburban service' " by posing another question:

Can they afford not to have it?

The alternative is to put up with the inevitable results of unprofitable train operations in the form of equipment and train service. Commuter passengers in New York City are now discovering that this is a blind alley.

At present fares a C&NW rider from Arlington Heights, for example, riding our trains five days a week, 50 weeks a year, gets 11,200 miles of transportation for $268.55. With our unlimited-ride "flash" tickets, trips on Saturday and Sunday can be made at no additional cost.

But based only on such average five-day use, this mileage is the equivalent of three round trips between Chicago and California!

A PERSON - to - person telephone call from Chicago to Crystal Lake, for example, is 70 cents, plus 7 cents tax. We'll take you personally all the way from Chicago to Crystal Lake on a suburban train for 77 cents if you buy one of our Unlimited Monthly tickets on the basis of only 10 round trips of usage a week. And we think the the phone call is a bargain, too.

The myth that commutation train fares are 'high" is plain nonsense. And I should add that the North Western railway takes no delight in asking $23.25 a month from Arlington Heights commuters if less would do. It would be fine for both our riders and the railway if this day-in-day-out transportation could be profitably provided for less. The fact remains that this is what it costs to provide the train service.

Stripped of all emotional nonsense, the perennial hassle about commuter fares in all major cities of the United States where such trains are now operating boils down, essentially, to this:

If the commuter, and the regulatory commissions established to protect the public's interest, are satisfied that train service is being run as efficiently as possible - without waste, without frills, with sound fare collection systems so everyone pays his way, so that every rider gets full value for his buck, and the railway company a modest profit on its investment and effort - then commuter fares at any price are a bargain.

THE KEY WORD underlined is "efficiently." The North Western has taken some giant steps toward efficiency with the closing of some 20 close-in stations where we competed with the CTA, a better ticket collection system with "flash" tickets, more efficient crew assignments, mechanized track maintenance methods, to mention a few. The new, versatile, high - capacity "push-pull" trains, we believe, will bring a new brand of efficiency to suburban operations. Easy to maintain and clean, these comforable coaches have such features as air-conditioning, foam rubber seats and electric heating because 1960 concepts of comfort demand no less. They were designed expressly for a modern commuter train service with an eye toward efficiency in maintenance, passenger capacity, and train operations.

Does this (multi-) million dollar face - lifting of suburban service mean an endless sequence of commuter fare hikes for years to come, you ask?

If somebody can tell us what a loaf of bread will cost 5, 10, or 20 years from now, the answer would be simple.

We appreciate your continued support and encouragement of what we are trying to do on the old North Western.

Show Credit To Teenagers

Those who missed the Talent Show at Arlington high school Saturday night missed a fine evening of entertainment by our young people, of whom the community can be very proud.

A great vote of thanks is due the faculty and student directors and advisors, the technical personnel, and the talented cast, who presented a performance full of color, variety and imagination.

Incidentally, these students spent two days of school vacation in long rehearsal in preparation for the show.

That was a fine reception you arranged for me and I am extremely grateful for all you did. The sharpness of the questioning only added to the interest. Many thanks.

Ask Lohman, Your Honor

When Joseph D. Lohman, internationally famous law enforcement expert from the University of Chicago, ran for sheriff of Cook county in 1954, Mayor Richard J. Daley publicly boasted of his part in persuading a man of such eminence to enter public life. This was just four years after the unfortunate candidacy of Daniel "Tubby" Gilbert for sheriff had carried the entire Democratic slate down to defeat. Lohman obviously was a "blue ribbon" candidate.

In several public statements Daley said he intended to confer continously with Lohman regarding organizational and other problems in the Chicago Police department.

UNFORTUNATELY, His Honor apparently was "just talking." He never consulted the new expert within the Democratic party ranks on anything, and for this among other reasons, the relationship between the two men has progressively cooled to near-freezing.

While Daley was allowing the Chicago Police department to deteriorate, however, Lohman was demonstrating how a law enforcement agency could be revitalized. This was recognized, as Lohman's office wall began to fill up with plaques awarded him by local and national organizations in recognition of his accomplishments. Typical comment was that of a Chicago "American" editorial comment was that of a Chion July 14, 1945. After declaring that a "new spirit" was needed in the Police department, it said:

"This transformation can me accomplished. Sheriff Lohman has demonstrated the wonderful improvement that can be made in a police force by making organizational changes and instilling a new spirit . . . Unless the Chicago Police department is similarly rehabilitated, it will not be improved by adding 1,000 new policemen."

Other newspapers and individuals in the know commented similarly.

Only a year ago, Prof. Orlando Wilson, chairman of the Daley - appointed Committee of Five to recommend a new police commissioner, was trying to persuade Lohman to join the faculty of his Department of Criminology at the University of California.

IN VIEW of this background, it is ironic that Joseph D. Lohman, now Illinois state treasurer, has not been asked to play a part in diagnosing and prescribing for the current ills of Chicago's Police Department. For fully two decades he has been explaining what is wrong, how to correct it and predicting disaster was built in. He has been proved right.

Lohman, the prophet in our midst, should be consulted on what is wrong and what needs to be done. He would himself make a phenomenal police commissioner. Since he is a candidate for governor, however, he probably would declare that he could better serve in the statehouse, expediting whatever legislative program is needed to help Chicago out of its predicament.

With a man in its midst recognizes as an authority, whom the rest of the world it is folly not to put politics aside and use his wisdom to the utmost here at home. Talk it up.

Open Letter To Trustees

It's time that we remember that the famous Martin and Coy feud belongs to the history of the hills of Kentucky. Therefore, we do not feel that is is appropriate to bring a reasonable facsimile to the people of Elk Grove Village. The February 8 board meeting was a farce and the persons involved should remember that they are representing the people of what we hope will be a model village and worthy of its title as the "fastest growing community in the northwest Chicagoland area."

This cannot be accomplished by men more interested in petty squabbles than in the good of the community. It is my personal opinion that the men involved can and should do an excellent job for Elk Grove Village whether they like each other personally or not. They must search their conscience and separate their personal prejudices from their duty to serve the people who put them in this important office. If they cannot do this they should resign, but this is something that cannot help the prestige of Elk Grove Village.

CAUGHT IN this web of intrigue is our fine young attorney, Robert Rusher who offered his resignation at this meeting. It seems that some of our board have, through necessity, conflicting interests which were brought to Rusher's attention and he ruled properly and honestly that changes should be made. Even though these interests are to the benefit of the village and actually were offered without any attempt to hide the facts, this situation could eventually prove embarrassing to both the village and the people involved and proper steps should be taken.

In the meantime, I think that each and every board member should write Rusher and assure him that his resignation will not be accepted and in the future he will receive the full support of the village board, regardless of his rulings. If not, why should we pay an attorney if the board feels it is so well equipped to handle the legal aspects of village business.

THE PEOPLE of Elk Grove Village do not want a puppet on a string for an attorney, yes men to serve as trustees, or a village president who cannot make decisions. A good healthy debate at village board meetings is something that the people want, but it should be constructive and should pertain to village business.

In closing, I believe that no one in the village can afford to sit home and be critical of the trustees. They are not experienced politicians for which we can be thankful, but they must have the courage of their convictions and must make decisions beneficial to the village as a hwole. This is not always a simple task and perhaps the job could be simplified by showing the board that the people are interested in what they are doing by attendance at board meetings. The board on the other hand must give more attention to constructive suggestions from those in attendance, plus increase its activity in public relations.

Route Bypass Plan Debated

The Blue Bell Home Owners Association respectfully urges that further careful consideration be given the proposed State Highway project known to us as the "Route 53 bypass." As members of the subdivision of Blue Bell Estates, we sincerely request that our protests be evaluated along with those of many others in the area who are opposed to disruption of established communities in the name of "progress."

Blue Bell Estates is a subdivision of 36 planned homes with 16 homes presently built and occupied; these homes, which are on one-half acre lots, range in value from $35,000 to $55,000. The majority of these homes are virtually new and have been occupied for approximately one year; our subdivision presently contains over 50 children.

WE ARE basically opposed to the erection of any elevated road structure in close proximity to our homes. However, we realize that in the interest of progress the development of this highway project is deemed necessary. We understand the construction of an underpass at Route 53 and the railroad and the widening of Hicks Road is not under study. Since there does not appear to be any firm local opposition, in fact considerable support, we wonder why this most economical appearing route should not be considered.

All routes under present serious consideration enter Blue Bell Estates and would result in the destruction of homes. We feel that, for an isolated subdivision of our size, these routes would in effect destroy Blue Bell Estates. Therefore we respectfully submit the following suggested alternate routes.

ROUTE A-1 — An underpass at Northwest Highway east of Rohlwing road and west of Salt Creek with a depressed highway as shown on the attached sketch.

ROUTE A-2 — If an underpass and depressed highway is not feasible, we suggest an overpass along the same route as Route A-1. Routes A-1 and A-2 appear to be modifications of the plan which is being seriously considered by the State Highway Department.

ROUTE B — We suggest a route through the eastern portion of the parking lot for the proposed shopping center and east to Wilke Road, providing highway design with such curvature is feasible. Route B is a modification of the plan which is apparently favored by the Village of Palatine. See the attached sketch.

We believe that the routes of Route A (1 and 2) or Route B can be achieved with a minimum of property value losses and family dislocation. The area between Rohlwing Road and Salt Creek is unimproved property, regardless of the announced intentions of certain parties to develop this area into a shopping center. We urge that you give our protest and suggested route serious consideration.

Help! Send Your Dimes

During the first week of January, there were ELEVEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY envelopes sent out to the people of Wood Dale, with a plea for a donation, for the New March of Dimes.

The National Foundation extends thanks to the EIGHTY families, who so generously responded.

IT JUST doesn't seem possible that the people of Wood Dale would so complenty ignore this plea. I would rather believe it has just been an oversight. I certainly hope so.

In the event you have misplaced your envelope, and want to make a donation, you can make checks payable to "the New March of Dimes," and send it to Mrs. Orval Becktell, 348 Walnut avenue.

Tremendous Job Hailed

Sunday, February 7 we conducted the Camp Fire Girls' Wampum Roundup. I am sorry to say that we had 20 fewer canvassers this year than last years' 83, but the fathers and mothers that did offer an hour or so of their time did a tremendous job.

In spite of the fact that we had fewer volunteer canvassers, I feel certain that this years' final figure will be greater than the one of last year. We expect to hear from more of the local merchants and other groups as yet.

I AM writing this letter in hopes that it will convey my sincere thanks to the 63 canvassers, the five area captains, and the local merchants who were so helpful. The Camp Fire Girls and Bluebirds also join me in thanking the many generous people for the gifts received from them in the house to house canvass. These funds we received are to be used right here in Arlington Heights to assure our Bluebird and Camp Fire programs.

I also wish to thank the Village for the use of the Village Hall as our headquarters, and also, many thanks to the Arlington Heights Herald for the excellent coverage of our Wampum Roundup.

Public Aid Distributed To 103,543 Cook Children

Aid to Dependent Children, one of the state's five public aid programs, was administered to 103,543 children in Cook county at a cost of $4,269,179.94 during December 1959. In the other 101 counties in Illinois 42,171 children received aid at a cost of $1,399,471.83.

The average cost per person in the Aid to Dependent Children program for December was $38.90. Novembe r cost w a s $38.90. November cost sons, an average of $38.81. December 1958 cost was $5,196,404 for 136,789 persons, an average of $38.

THE NUMBER of recipients in Illinois' five public aid programs fell again in December 1959 for the third consecutive month, dropping to 372,617 from the November load of 373,294, Peter W. Cahill, executive secretary of the Public Aid Commission, reported to Governor William G. Stratton today. Cahill said decreases were unusual during the winter months when normally many outdoor laborers are unemployed. In December 1958 the rolls contained 367,060 persons.

Costs totaled $18,352,243, of w h i c h $10.1 million were from state funds. Cook county accounted for $11,790,740 of the total outlay. November costs were $18,207,766; tho s e f o r D e c e m b e r 1958, $17,067,027.

General Assistance showed the first December decrease since 1944. A rise of 3,947 persons downstate was offset by a 4,558-person decrease in Cook county, bringing the total December 1959 load to 130,073 compared with the November total of 130,684 and the December 1958 load of 128,070 persons. December 1959 cost was $5,390,742, an average of $41.44 per person. November 1959 cost was $5,257,389, an a v e r a g e of $40.23. December 1958 cost was $4,657,001 an average of $36.36.

OLD AGE A s s i s t a n c e dropped to 75,860 recipients from the November list of 76,125 persons. In December 1958 the rolls held 80,797 persons. The cost was $5,577,330, an average of $73.72. November cost was $5,593,589, an average of $73.48 December 1958 cost was $5,433,364, an average of $67.66.

Blind Assistance cost fell to $248,565 for 3,048 persons from the November's cost of $251,692 for 3,070 persons. In December 1958 the cost came to $254,168 for 3,229 persons. December 1959's average was $81.55 per person. November 1959's average was $81.98. In December 1958 the average was $78.93 per recipient.

Disability Assistance rose in December 1959 to 17,922 persons. The cost w a s $1,466,954 and the average $81.85. N o v e m b e r 1959's 17,825 persons cost $1,454,888, an average of $81.62; December 1958's 18,350 persons cost $1,526,090, an a v e r a g e of $83.50 (A13

'You Can Count On Her'

By Ellie Anson — CLearbrook 9-4655

Palatine

The initial Girl Scout leadership course started at the Oak Street school this week. Meetings will be held from 7:30 to 10 p.m. February 18, 22, 25 and 29 and March 3, 7 and 10. Anyone interested in becoming a Girl Scout leader may call Mrs. Eldon Hall, FL 8-2623, for further information.

Mothers of troop 430 were pleased to receive fudge valentines which their daughters made at a recent meeting. The girls are busy making doll dresses representing different countries for the Girl Scout rally to be held in March.

Prospect Heights

Troops 258 and 563 made valentine candy cups and presented them to Northwest Community hospital in Arlington Heights.

Brownie troop 94, together with Girl Scout troop 367, made felt comb cases which they delivered to the R o s e Weinert convalescent home in Prospect Heights for Valentine's day.

Mrs. Edward Brezina, registered nurse, visited troop 258 and talked to the Brownies about the three points of good health: food, exercise and cleanliness.

South Arlington

Troop 639 from Our Lady of the Wayside recently visited the Lunchtime Theatre.

North Arlington

Seventeen girls were invested recently in n e w l y formed Brownie troop 380. The troop is compossed of second and third grad e r s from Wilson school and includes four girls who were previously Brownies. Mrs. G. F. Maybee Jr. is leader with Mrs. R. Zimmerman and Mrs. R. W. Marshall serving as co-leaders.

Northeast Arlington

Girls of troop 21 of St. James school toured Paddock Publications recently. They also visited the Ladies of Addolorata Villa to give them a valentine remembrance.

Rolling Meadows

Mrs. Blane of the public library thanks members of troop 37 for their help in setting up the library. The girls worked every Thursday afternoon.

South Mt. Prospect

Scout troops 99, 235 and 708 thank the women's guild of South church for its sponsorship and recent donation of $5 per troop.

Color guards from troops 477 and 511 presented their old Brownie flags to newly-organized troops 708 and 703.

Sixth grade troop 499 members were busy baking cookies last week which they presented to the troop sponsor, the VFW auxiliary, who in turn delivered them to the Elgin State hospital.

A color guard composed of Gail Nelson, Susan McVickers, Sandra McLean a n d Virginia Pomeo from troop 42 presented the flag ceremoney at the monthly PTA meeting at Lions Park school.

A TRAIN TRIP into Chicago and luncheon at Ireland restaurant highlighted t h i s month's activities for troop 369. Mr. Ireland, a t r o o p father, conducted the girls on a complete tour of the restaurant.

A neighborhood luncheon to welcome new leaders and acknowledge the fine work done by all was held last week at Rapp's restaurant. World Friendship pins were presented to leaders and Mrs. Orville Williams conducted a candlelight ceremony. Mrs. Evelyn Marchetta, the neighborhood cookie chairman, was introduced and a spe c i a l thanks was given to Mrs. Margaret Marble who served as the nut sale chairman for the entire council.

Since February is International month, each Brownie of troop 708 brought an article from a foreign country, found in her own home, to last week's meeting.

Black Gold

An estimated 52,260 oil and gas wells were drilled in the U. S. in 1959, an increase over the previous year's figure of 49,111.

Senator Speaks On School Aid

Sen. Paul H. Douglas will make another appearance in the northwest suburbs -- this time to discuss the topic "federal aid to education."

The senator, campaigning to retain his Democratic seat in Washington, will be featured speaker Sunday, Feb. 21.

and will be held at the Paddock school, Palatine.

Also appearing on the 7 p.m. program will be Dr. Rold Campell, chairman of the Midwest Administrative center, Chicago. District 15 superintendent, Marion Jordan, will moderate the meeting to which the public is invited. (B8

Two Suburbanites Create Model Garden for Show

When you attend the Chicago World Flower and Garden show at International Amphitheatre b e g i n n i n g March 19, be sure to visit the large garden c r e a t e d by Charles Klehm and Sons' nursery, Arlington Heights.

It's a full-size garden, nearly 150 ft. long and nearly 25 feet deep. Great masses of peonies, including the rarer kinds of tree peonies are in the foreground, all in full bloom. Setting them off are groups of lovely spreading yews.

JUST BEYOND them, separated by an inviting lush, grass covered path is a 100 ft. long border of gorgeous lilies, tall and stately delphiniums and still more peonies, all in full flower.

Interspersed between the tall spikes of delphinium are equally tall climbing clematis on poles, each lending its soft wine-colored, dainty pink or virgin white blossoms to the thrilling scene.

Then comes a long row of deep green juniper with a fitting back-drop of full grown French hybrid lilacs, with deep purple, soft lavender and pure white blossoms, some single and some with double clusters of flowers.

At either end of this magnificent garden is a tall grouping of columnar junipers, flowering catoneasters and the lovely viburnum carlesi and amid these a tall and lovely Bechtel's flowering crab.

ALL THE SPLENDOR of the garden leads to a stately and formal circular pool, with rushing water flowing from the upper to the lower level. Within the pool is an interestingly sculptured figure and the background is formed of a semi-circular hedge of clipped yew. On each side stands a tall clump of white birch with upright junipers filling the background and again two tall flowering crabs to add their beauty to the scene.

Here's one garden you'd give anything to have on your own property, or at least to reproduce in smaller proportions, if you hadn't the space. Designed by Harold O. Klopp, landscape architect of Palatine, the garden is created by Charles Klehm and Sons Nursery, State and Algonquin roads.

"Everyone may not have the means or space for a garden of the proportions and magnificence of this one," said Carl Klehm, "but anyone can have just as beautiful peonies, evergreens and flowering trees and shrubs and just as luscious clematis in even a small garden. They can have a pool, too. It is simple and inexpensive, but it adds tremendously to the life and interest of any garden. We are very happy to present this example of our plant material as part of the great Chicago World Flower and Garden show."

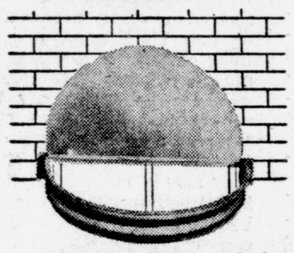
Window Well Covers
NEW!



Patented cover — Fiberglass — Snap-on — Self-adjusting — Rustproof.

The material used for manufacturing boats and fishing poles has now been put to use for homeowners who have window wells.

Fiberglass is the perfect material for this job. It will stand abuse, water, heat and cold. It lets in light the same as glass. You can stand on the cover without its breaking. Children can play around the house without danger of falling into the window wells. Covers keep heat in your basement, keep trash from accumulating in wells, protect windows from breakage. The cover opens and closes without being detached.

The patented hardware comes already attached. All you do is SNAP IT ON. The hardware is rust proof and will adjust to any width wall. The fiberglass will be cut to your specifications.

For the answer to your window well problems, call or write today.
